PREFACE.

THREE objects have been specially before me in the composition of the following pages,—the first, to provide the lovers of art in general with a complete catalogue of the exquisite works, in all their numerous departments, of two of the greatest artists of modern times, the famous Newcastle engravers, Thomas and John Bewick; the second, to furnish the daily increasing class of collectors of the same with such an inventory as may be of essential service to them in their agreeable but expensive pursuit; and the third, to describe the treasures of the finest and most complete Collection which has ever been brought together of the works of these unrivalled masters.

On the publication of the “Memoir of Thomas Bewick,” four years ago, it was affirmed by several reviewers of the book that it wanted one important thing: a list, so far as completeness is possible, of the works of the man to whom it was devoted. This acknowledged desideratum I have now endeavoured to supply.

The catalogues hitherto published have been of a very meagre character. That issued by Mr. J. G. Bell, in 1851, is the best; but, as one who contributed the greater share of that production, I am bound to confess that even in the solitary department which it pretended to exhaust,—that, namely, of the Books and Pamphlets illustrated by the Bewicks,—it was very unworthy of its subject. The Appendix to that volume, which I drew up and prevailed upon the publisher to annex to the work, merely offered a tantalizing glimpse of divisions, which in the present are given in full detail, the contents of which are by no means second either in beauty or interest to any of the illustrations of the Books and Pamphlets themselves.

The Collection of which I have the happiness to be the possessor is one which a number of circumstances that cannot occur again have contributed to make unique. It has been in course of formation for upwards of sixty years. It was originally commenced by a tradesman in Newcastle, an intimate friend and associate of Thomas Bewick, and has been successively increased by additions from the stores of all the best known collectors in the north of England. For many years the late Mr. William Garret was in the constant habit of adding to it the results of his unrivalled position and opportunities, and from him, as the following pages abundantly testify, many of the most curious articles were obtained. Some years also before his death, Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, contributed many of his special treasures; and after his decease the enormous collections which he had made in several of the departments were added to the previous acquisitions from the same source. Whilst the death and dispersion of the collections of Mr. Affleck, Mr. Brockett, Mr. Thomas Bell, Mr. W. J. Bell, Mr. John Sykes, Mr. Fenwick, and a number of others, have afforded opportunities for collecting such as no future occasions can by any possibility present. The race of the old collectors has departed, and their gatherings are dispersed.

Although, in the Division of "Books and Pamphlets," my shelves contain a goodly number of fine specimens of binding, the Collection is far more noticeable as presenting examples of the original condition of the majority of the volumes. Copies with untouched edges and in their original boards are frequent. Some of the earliest, for example, of the "Quadrupeds" and "British Birds" are in precisely the state in which they left the publisher's shop, save the partial fading of the marbled paper, which was the outside dress of a new volume seventy years ago.

It may be said that, in the instance of many of the articles in the subsequent Divisions, the mere collector may regard them as destitute of interest, from their being beyond the range of his possible acquisition. I am well aware that, exclusive of the Wood-Blocks, which of course are necessarily so, a considerable number of the impressions themselves are and ever were essentially unique, as possessed of an individual history in connection with the progress of Thomas Bewick and his art. And considering the way in which hundreds have been preserved from destruction, when the whole of their companions have in all probability met with such a fate, almost the same degree of rarity may confidently be now affixed to great numbers of the rest. But, even in such cases as these, I feel sure that the collector will be glad to possess a knowledge of the works which his favourite artists have produced in any and every particular department, even though his own collection may not contain of such department so much as a solitary example.

The notes appended to many of the articles will be found to convey a large amount of information, derived from original and unpublished sources. And here I should be doing unnecessary violence to my own feelings, if I omitted to devote a few words to the memory of the pair whose names stand first of those recorded above as the special contributors to this Collection, and whose correspondence has furnished the majority of the notes to which I refer.

Mr. William Garret was the son of a hairdresser in the Bigg Market, Newcastle-upon-Tyne. He served his apprenticeship with Emerson Charnley, the bookseller, and, for many years, before he set up for himself, was his foreman and the general manager of his extensive business. On the 3rd of November, 1814, he was admitted into the Stationers' Company of Newcastle by servitude, and continued throughout his life a most active member of that society. For forty-one years he discharged the duties of Steward in one or other of the Incorporated Companies of his native town, and for a lengthened period filled the office of Chairman of the Stewards. As a member of the Body of Freemen he took an energetic part in the affairs of the borough, and was closely mixed up with all the public transactions of the place. He was also noted for the production of a few local songs, one of which, "The Gathering of the Whigs," written in 1830, enjoyed at the time considerable fame. I possess a printed copy of it—his own gift,—with marginal notes, and his autograph signature at the end. He was the compiler of "An Account of the Great Floods in Northumberland and Durham," Nos. (345, 359) of this Collection, and edited the republication of a Black Letter pamphlet, "The Battle of Floddon Field," which was printed by Messrs. T. and J. Hodgson in 1822. No. (377.) He died very suddenly, in his sixty-third year, on the 28th of December, 1857, and his remains were interred on the 30th of the same month in Jesmond Cemetery. His wife had preceded him on the 9th of September, 1852.

Being for so many years manager to Mr. Charnley, who was Bewick's principal publisher, and intimately acquainted with all the printers of Newcastle and the neighbourhood, he possessed ample opportunities of acquiring what no one else could in the way of proofs and similar curiosities, and turned his position to admirable account. "Somehow or other," says one correspondent, "he contrived to get many queer things"—an assertion fully borne out by numerous articles described in this volume. I enjoyed for a number of years the pleasure and advantage of his correspondence, and not unfrequently that of his excellent company at Newcastle. Of all the men I ever knew he was among the first and foremost for local knowledge,—and Newcastle and Bewick were his pet subjects. A question never came amiss to him. As it may be supposed, he was not in general ready to part with his hoarded literary and artistic treasures, and, when he did so, showed that he was well acquainted with their value. But in the latter years of his life he was pleased to make my Collection the depository of his best and choicest “gems,” to use his customary word, and took a lively interest in its perfection and completeness. In his business dealings I ever found him most exact and honourable; while, as a correspondent and companion, his facility in imparting information on all local matters, and his native ability, happy enthusiasm, courtesy, and genial good-humour united to endear him to all who were brought within his influence. He long considered me one of his special friends,—a position of which I was duly, and therefore deeply, sensible.

With Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, I was not so well acquainted, except through the medium of correspondence. I used to spend an hour with him now and then during my many visits to Newcastle, and inspect his wonderful collections in all imaginable departments, and listen to his shrewd and sagacious criticisms on the various articles. He was a collector, and one of a family of collectors, and marvellous indeed were his gatherings. In early life he was a bookseller on the Quay-side at Newcastle, where he was well known as an author, compiler, and publisher, and afterwards followed for a great number of years, as his father had done before him, the occupation of a land surveyor. In these labours he was considered one of the first excellence in the North of England, and was much and widely employed. His business pursuits were made to yield constant food to his taste for collecting, and hardly a journey was taken without adding something or other,—a bar-bill, if nothing else,—to his gigantic stores. Both his father and himself were intimate friends of Thomas Bewick, from whom each of them received, as the following pages testify, interesting proofs of regard. Dr. Dibdin, who calls him the “Historian of the ‘Lower Empire’ of the North,” speaks of his visit to him during his stay at Newcastle, and describes his wonder at the accumulations which filled the second story of his house. Many of his best specimens were added to my Collection during the last few years of his life, as already stated, and, after his death, his matchless collection of shop-cards, invoice-heads, bar-bills, coal-certificates, etc. etc., became my property. He died on the 31st October, 1864.

Of the artists themselves I can furnish no details of importance—beyond those which are contained in the present volume in the Introductions to the several Divisions, and the notes appended to many of the articles, which will, I hope, give a tolerably minute portrait of their artist life,—except what may be gathered from the memoirs already published. Of these the sketch of Mr. G. C. Atkinson is valuable, as containing some memorials of Thomas Bewick, which would probably have been lost apart from his judicious care. Many of the descriptions in his pages were compiled from articles now in my Collection, which were lent to him by Mr. John Bell for that purpose. The shorter memoirs contained in various periodicals are similarly valuable—always excepting that of Mr. J. F. Dovaston, in the second and third volumes of the ‘Magazine of Natural History,’ which is a wretched compound of silly affectation and self-conceit, the work of a writer who was evidently more desirous of displaying his own imaginary perfections than those of the ostensible subject of his essay, and whose accuracy of fact is generally on a par with his other qualities.

Of Bewick’s Autobiography, published by his daughter in 1862, I would speak in terms of the deepest respect. His personal narrative and charming pictures of natural objects, as at pp. 228, 229, 256, are full of interest and beauty. But I hesitate not to say that, with regard to other parts of the volume, I should have been glad of some omissions. I fully appreciate the feeling of an affectionate and devoted daughter, which this most estimable lady ever was, regarding as sacred everything left behind him by an idolized and lamented father, and supposing that the more minute account it possessed of his sentiments the more the world would admire and love him. But I think that most readers of the "Memoir" will agree with me in regretting that the chapters on religious and political matters were not omitted. It is the artist-life of Thomas Bewick which one desires to possess, not his opinions about subjects on which he was and could be no authority.

To revert to matters immediately connected with the present volume.

I have stated in the introduction to the Division "Wood-Blocks" that it is in contemplation to issue a series of my Cuts alone. This, among other advantages, would afford a far juster notion of the wonderful versatility of Bewick's powers than any inventory of his productions apart from such illustration. It would also be likely to enable us to add to the list of Books and Pamphlets known to be illustrated by him, long as it is at present, some few, at least, the original Blocks of whose Cuts are classed under my Nos. (3738.) to (3755.), but which I have been unable to refer to any known publications. The late Mr. John Bell, in examining a portion of these, thought that he recollected, among others, the cuts of various Children's Books, one or more "Battledores," "Reading Easies," "The Little Boy found under a Haycock," "Mother Chitchat," "Mother Goose," "History of Patty Proud," "The House that Jack Built," "History of Little Jack," "Tom Thumb's Lottery," etc. etc. So many years, however, had elapsed since he had seen a copy of most of them, that he could not be quite sure. The publication of the contemplated volume would be the most likely means of showing that his critical eye was correct, by bringing to light any remaining copies of these little books, supposing such to exist; and would thus tend still further to increase our knowledge of those earlier labours, which are and ever must be of peculiar interest, not only for their own intrinsic excellence, but as exhibiting the successive steps of that wonderful career which ultimately led to such unparalleled results.

It will be observed that I have as a general rule omitted all notice of the rarity and value of the articles described. This has been done unwillingly, but designedly and indeed necessarily. In most of the Divisions the statement that the article was rare would have had to be repeated in the description of each, whilst the value is so constantly rising that what would be true at the moment of writing would be altogether deceptive in a few months to come. Even so lately as the 11th of last December, at the sale of the late Rev. Samuel Prince's library by Messrs. Sotheby and Wilkinson, prices were given for various lots which would have astonished collectors a short time before. A set of India paper impressions of the "Quadrupeds," for example, was sold for £12. 5s. The "Figures of British Land Birds," 8vo, 1800, went for £6. 10s.; "Æsop," large paper, 1818, for £7. 15s.; "Select Fables," 1820, India proofs, for £18. 7s. 6d., another copy for £14. 3s. 6d.; and a set of five volumes, in royal 8vo, the "Quadrupeds" of 1790, the "Birds" of 1797, 1804, "Æsop" of 1818, and "Select Fables" of 1820, with an indifferent impression of the Chillingham Bull, and Nicholson's copies of Bewick's large cuts of the Lion, Tiger, Elephant, and Zebra, for £50. With regard to more than one of these lots, including that last named, a gentleman, who was unintentionally absent, told me the following day that he would have been prepared to bid more. It was therefore manifestly impossible to advise the collector as to the prices to be given. I could only in a few instances inform him of what had been done, and leave the matter to his own judgment.

I have appended to many of the articles a notice of the sources from which they have been obtained. But in the instance of many, and particularly in the case of the names of private possessors, I have exercised considerable caution, and have at all times suppressed it where I had any fear that its mention would be unpleasant. It would have been an ill return for kindness to add unnecessary pain to that which the parting with such things must necessarily bring with it.

I have added an Index to the Books and Pamphlets, as, by their being placed in chronological order, they might be difficult to find without such assistance. The Table of Contents at the beginning of the volume, and the alphabetical arrangement in most of the subsequent Divisions, preclude the necessity of the lengthy index which would embrace the articles of the last three hundred and fifty pages.

Among so many references and minute matters of fact it was hardly possible to avoid a few typographical errors. The only ones, however, of the least importance of which I am aware are the following :—

- Page 12, line 6, ii should be vi.
 „ 38, „ 19, insert Pp. xv, vii, 126.

In conclusion, I have the pleasing duty of presenting my cordial thanks to the gentlemen to whom I am indebted for the gift or loan of those engravings, impressions from which form a part of the embellishments of this volume. Among them I am happy to name the Rev. John F. Bigge, of Stamfordham; the Rev. E. H. Adamson, of Gateshead ; and Mr. Blackwell, Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Dodd, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Dobson, and Mr. Rutland, of Newcastle. Kindness and courtesy, as I have ever had most agreeable cause to acknowledge, are characteristics of their right noble town, and can nowhere be found more frequently and more pleasantly than in the streets and houses of “Canny Newcassel.”

BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS

ILLUSTRATED BY

THOMAS AND JOHN BEWICK.

IN perusing the following Catalogue of Books and Pamphlets, illustrated by the Bewicks, the Collector should bear in mind, that—

1. I have generally given the title of each work at full length, but in the case of a few, of more than usual prolixity, or containing poetry and other unnecessary additions, I have thought it enough to quote so much only as suffices to identify them. The notices, however, which take this abbreviated form will be found more than adequate to their intended purpose. Where such details are needful, I have added an analysis, with the number of pages, cuts, etc.

2. I have for the most part, and designedly, omitted to state the various degrees of rarity which the articles respectively possess. All of them, save the few which end the series, and have been published since the artists' decease, are scarce, most are rare, some are all but, and some altogether, unattainable. Many of the earlier cuts were done for the cheapest publications, children's books, and similar productions, and appear alone in that form; many also for firms and divers purposes which have long since passed away. The supply of these little volumes was even at the time soon exhausted, and it is only by a happy accident that of a number of them but a copy or two is known to exist.

3. The same remark applies to the prices; indeed no certain rule can be given about them. The most extraordinary sums are asked for and paid for what would appear to the unlearned the most valueless and uninteresting articles. From the present state of the market, and the still increasing avidity of collectors, it may be fairly augured that the prices which I have appended to some will progressively and largely increase; while, as to many of the articles to which no price is annexed, it would appear, to quote the words of an eminent bookseller lately used to myself, that "anything may be asked and anything may be had." All, therefore, that I can advise the Collector is, not so much to be cautious against paying too dearly for what he gets, as to be sure that what he gets is genuine. And to this end I recommend to his careful attention my following paragraph.

4. Although the Catalogue embraces a very large number of works hitherto unnoticed, I have attempted to exclude all which do not possess some claim, intrinsic or other, to be held to contain one or more of the veritable productions of the artists. The necessity for this process of elimination is daily becoming more urgent. It has too long been the fashion to advertise hundreds of books of very multifarious character, published between the years 1767 and 1860, as “containing engravings by Bewick.” The Collector should know that not one in twenty of such volumes has a shadow of right to the honour sought for it. They may have an interest of their own as the productions of some local press, and, in rare instances, as embellished with engravings of considerable merit,—sometimes, indeed, copied from the genuine works of the artists,—but none whatever as really connected with the great masters under the shield of whose names they are erroneously—and not always innocently or honestly—placed. The practice began in the lifetime of Thomas Bewick himself, and was resented by him as a wrong, and ridiculed as an absurdity; but he little imagined the extent to which it has since been resorted to, and against which, to prevent subsequent disappointment, the Collector should be duly put upon his guard.

The first number (in brackets) is the running number of the entire Collection; the second that of the particular Division; and the third, where there is any, that of the separate Copies or Impressions.

(1.) 1. A Treatise on Mensuration, both in Theory and Practice. By Charles Hutton.

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed by T. Saint, for the Author, and for John Wilkie, in St. Paul's Church Yard, and Richard Baldwin, in Paternoster Row, London.
1770.

This work, which has now become very rare, was published by subscription, and in numbers. It was commenced in 1768, and completed in 1770, and is dedicated to Hugh Percy, Duke and Earl of Northumberland. The armorial bearings which head the dedication are understood to have been engraved by Beilby, as was the copper-plate at page 600. It contains 648 pages, besides xxvi of preface, etc. The diagrams were Thomas Bewick's first attempts at wood-engraving, and in one of them (page 42) he has introduced his favourite subject, the celebrated Steeple of St. Nicholas' Church, Newcastle.

4to. calf. A remarkably fine copy. It formerly belonged to J. Nicholson, probably Bewick's apprentice of that name, from a member of whose family it was purchased.

(2.) 2. 1. A new invented Horn Book.

[No place or date.]

18mo. With 24 cuts, illustrating the letters of the alphabet. Obtained from the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, who had no doubt of its parentage. One of the very earliest of Bewick's productions.

(3.) 2. 2. Another Copy.

(4.) 3. A New Lottery Book of Birds and Beasts, for Children to learn their Letters by As soon as they can Speak.

Newcastle: Printed by T. Saint, for W. Charnley,

Small 18mo. Pp. 60. With 48 very clever engravings. In its original Dutch paper boards, and first-rate condition. One of the rarest of these early productions, and called by a former possessor "a most interesting little gem." Priced, by Mr. E. Pearson, £3. 3s.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books, etc."]

(5.) 3. 2. Another very fine copy.

(6.) 4. The Child's Tutor; or, Entertaining Preceptor. To Render His Introduction into Learning pleasing, instructive, and agreeable. Containing Tables of Words, from one to three Syllables. With a Variety of Religious and Moral Lessons. To which is added, Rules for Behaviour; and a familiar Dialogue, explaining the Nature of Syllables, etc. The Third Edition, greatly Improved.

Newcastle: Printed by T. Saint, in Pilgrim-street.

MDCCLXXII.

Square 18mo. Pp. ii, 120, with 16 very rude cuts. "The rare copy of the 'Child's Tutor' contains the woodcuts which Bewick engraved in the first year of his apprenticeship, though he was afterwards ashamed to own them." MS. note of the late Mr. W. Garret. That at page 83 is in my possession.

Excellent copy, in its original Dutch paper boards.

(7.) 5. Songs, Comic, and Satyrical. By George Alexander Stevens.

Good copy, in old calf.

(9.) 7. The Freemason's Companion.

Newcastle : Printed by Thomas Angus, MDCCLXXIV.

This work contains a tail-piece of a beautiful wreath of flowers, cut on wood by Bewick while working in London.

(10.) 8. Youth's Instructive and Entertaining Story-Teller: Being A choice Collection of Moral Tales, Chiefly deduced from real Life, [etc.]

Newcastle upon Tyne : Printed by and for T. Saint,

12mo. Pp. vii, 225. A reprint of the edition of the previous year.

Very fine copy, in old calf. It formerly belonged to Mr. J. T.

Brockett, and has his book-plate.

(11.) 9. The Only Method to make Reading Easy, or, Child's Best Instructor; Containing Emblematic Cuts for the Alphabet, select Scripture and Moral Sentences, instructive Fables, and edifying Pieces of Poetry. [etc.] By T. Hastie, Schoolmaster, Newcastle.

Good copy, in its original boards.

(11*) 10. The Pismire Journal. No. 5.

Newcastle : 1777.

This contains an engraving on copper of the "Theban Harp," by Thomas Bewick. See Bewick's "Memoir," page 105.

It "was the first thing that Thomas Bewick, the celebrated engraver, did after he returned from his first visit to London."

Memoir of Mr. James Murray. Fordyce, Newcastle. Page 19.

(11) 10*. Whitehead's Newcastle Directory, For 1778.

Containing The Names, Trades, and Situation of the Warehouses, Offices, Shops, &c. of the People in Trade in the Town and County of Newcastle upon Tyne,—with a List of the Carriers, &c. &c., Alphabetically arranged.

Newcastle: Printed by Tho. Angus, St. Nicholas' Church-yard, and Sold by all the Booksellers. 1778. (To be continued annually.)

18mo. Pp. 60. With an engraving by T. Bewick on the title, representing the armorial bearings of the town, with St. Nicholas' Steeple, the river Tyne, etc., in the background.

A matchless copy, half-bound in calf, from the collection of John Straker, Esq. "This contains on the title the first block Tommy Bewick engraved of the Newcastle Arms with St. Nicholas' Church in the distance. There are several cuts, all very near alike, but the learned in such matters know the difference." Mr. W. Garret.

(12.) 11. A View of Northumberland with an Excursion to The Abbey of Mailross in Scotland. By W. Hutchinson. Anno 1776.

Newcastle: Printed by T. Saint, for W. Charnley, and Messrs. Vesey & Whitfield. MDCCLXXVIII.

2 vols. 4to. The woodcut of the Roman Inscription at page 213, vol. i., is, doubtless, by Thomas Bewick.

(13.) 12. Riley's Emblems, Natural, Historical, Fabulous, Moral, and Divine; For the Improvement and Pastime of Youth: Serving to display the Beauties and Morals of the Ancient Fabulists. The Whole calculated to convey the Golden Lessons of Instruction under a new and more delightful Dress. For the Use of Schools. Written for the Amusement of a Young Nobleman. The Third Edition.

London: Printed for G. Riley, Curzon-street, May Fair; And Sold by J. Walter, Charing Cross; and F. Newbery, the Corner of St. Paul's Church-yard. MDCCLXXIX.

12mo, pp. xxiv, 192. With sixty-five cuts. The advertisement calls this "a new and much improved Edition, with near Twenty new Emblems never before printed, embellished with a new set of cuts," etc. The greater part of the cuts, however, were those which were used in the previous editions of 1772 and 1775. They are very indifferent, and were most probably executed by Lee, who did most if not all the illustrations for 'The Historical Pocket Library,' in six volumes, printed at Bath, by S. Hazard, for Riley, in 1790. I am inclined to think that the cut before the Introduction, those at pp. 32, 39, 41, 47, 122, and the last twelve cuts, which were used for the first time in this edition, may possibly be the work of John Bewick. But they do not add to his fame, either as a designer or an engraver.

Good copy, in boards.

(14.) 13. Fables by the late Mr. Gay. In One Volume Complete.

Newcastle: Printed by and for T. Saint, W. Charnley, and J. Whitfield and Co. MDCCLXXIX.

In the advertisement announcing the publication of this book, Saint terms it "A new and elegant edition of Gay's Fables in 8vo, on fine writing foolscap, adorned with very curious cuts and a finely engraved frontispiece; some of these cuts have gained the premium of the Royal Society,"—alluding to the five cuts, for the execution of which the Society of Arts presented Bewick with their medal. It is a 12mo, pp. viii, 252, and contains 67 cuts of Fables and 33 vignettes.

A most beautiful copy in tooled calf. From the late Mr. John Bell. "Jno. Bell. Novo Castro." Copies usually sell for one guinea and upwards.

(15.) 14. Youth's Instructive and Entertaining Story Teller; Being a Choice Collection of Moral Tales, (Extracted from the larger Edition of that Book) Chiefly deduced from real Life, calculated to inforce the Practice of Virtue, and expand every social Idea in the human Heart. Adorned with emblematical Cuts, from the most interesting Part of each Tale. The Second Edition. [etc.]

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed by and for T. Saint, 1779. Price Six-Pence.

12mo. Pp. 68. With 12 cuts.

A most beautiful copy, in law calf. From the Collection of the late Mr. John Bell.

(16.) 15. A Pretty Book of Pictures for Little Masters and Misses; or, Tommy Trip's History of Beasts and Birds. With a familiar Description of Each in Verse and Prose. To which is prefix'd, The History of little Tom Trip himself, of his Dog Jouler, and of Woglog the great Giant.

Newcastle: Printed by T. Saint, 1779.

Square 24mo. Pp. viii, 124. With a frontispiece of Woglog the Giant attempting to seize Tommy Trip, a cut of "The Student," 25 cuts of beasts, 27 of birds, and 5 miscellaneous. Mr. Atkinson states that we are indebted to this little book for the more celebrated productions, the Histories of Quadrupeds and of British Birds.

Good copy, in its original boards.

"From the figures being correctly drawn, and altogether it being a more than extra got up book, it went through fourteen editions, of large numbers each, in a few years; but, from the usage its possessors gave it, some time before the death of John Hall, in June, 1795, the sole proprietor of the printing business carried on under the firm of Hall and Elliot, successors to Thomas Saint, scarcely a copy of Tommy Trip was extant.' MS. note of the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books, etc."]

(17.) 16. The Whole of Aristotle's Complete Master-Piece, [etc.]

London: MDCCLXXX.

12mo. Pp. vj, 148. With 9 cuts by T. Bewick.

(18.) 17. A Companion to the Altar.

Newcastle: [n. d.]

With cut of the Last Supper as a frontispiece by "J. Bwk.," the "J." and the "B" forming a monogram.

(19.) 18. A Supplement to the History of Robinson Crusoe, Being the History of Crusonia, or Robinson Crusoe's Island, Down to the Present Time. Copied from a Letter sent by Mr. Wishit, Captain of the Good-Intent, to an intelligent Friend in England, after being in a Storm in May, 1781, driven out of his Course to the said Island. Published by the said Gentleman, for the agreeable Perusal of Robinson Crusoe's Friends of all Sizes. A New Edition. [etc.]

Newcastle: Printed and Sold by T. Saint, in 1782. Price 6d.

18mo. Pp. 64. With a frontispiece of Robinson Crusoe, and three other cuts, attributed to T. Bewick.

Fine copy of this most rare book, in tooled calf, from the late Mr. John Bell, who has placed on the fly-leaf the following note:—"This Book was written by Thomas Spence, a Schoolmaster on the Quay Side, Newcastle. He was eldest son of William Spence, Boothman, by Margaret, his second wife, who were married at the Church of All Saints', Newcastle, ye 25th July, 1749. Thos. Spence published a Pronouncing Dictionary and several other curious works in Newcastle, amongst which was his famous essay entitled 'Property in Land, Every One's Right,' which he had read to a Philosophical Society then existing in Newcastle. He went to London, and died there 2nd September, 1814, aged 62 years, and was buried at St. James's Chapel, Tottenham Court Road. Left no Issue."

(20.) 19. A S'upl'im'int Too thi Histire ov Robin-sin Kruzo, being Th'i H'ist'ire 'ov Kruzona, or R'o-b'ins'in Kruzo'z Il'ind. Doun too thi prezint Tim. [etc. as in the former article.]

Nuk'as'il: Printid and Sold bi T. Sant, 1782. Pris 6d.

18mo. Pp. iii, 60. A phonetic version of part of the former article, but illustrated with the frontispiece alone.

(21.) 20. The Instruction of Youth in Christian Piety. Taken out of the Sacred Scriptures and Holy Fathers. From the French of Charles Gobinet, D.D. The Fourth Edition. [etc.]

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed for and Sold by F. Coates, Newcastle; and J. P. Coghlan, near Grosvenor Square, London. MDCCLXXXIII.

2 vols. 8vo. With a beautiful cut by Thomas Bewick on the title representing Our Lord Blessing Little Children, which was afterwards used for broadsides of a religious character, as gifts to schoolchildren, etc. (See examples among the Broad-sides.)

Fine copy, in calf.

(22.) 21. The Lilliputian Magazine: Or the Young Gentleman & Lady's Golden Library. Being An Attempt to mend the World, to render the Society of Man more Amiable, & to establish the Plainness, Simplicity, Virtue, and Wisdom of the Golden Age, so much Celebrated by the Poets and Historians.

London: Printed for T. Carnan, Successor to J. Newbery, in St. Paul's Church Yard. Price One Shilling. MDCCLXXXIII.

18mo, pp. ii, 149, with 14 cuts. Good copy, in calf.

(23.) 22. The Fables of Æsop, and others. Newly done into English. With an Application to each Fable. Illustrated with Cuts. By S. Croxall, D.D. The Seventh Edition.

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed by and for T. Saint. 1783.

12mo. With 148 cuts. This I believe to be the first edition of this popular book illustrated by John Bewick, if the cuts are really by him, of which I am far from sure.

(24.) 23. Select Fables, in Three Parts. Part I. Fables extracted from Dodsley's. Part II. Fables with Reflections, in Prose and Verse. Part III. Fables in Verse. To which are prefixed, The Life of Æsop; and an Essay upon Fable. A New Edition, improved. [etc.]

Newcastle: Printed by and for T. Saint, MDCCLXXXIV.

A book, with nearly a similar title, was printed in Newcastle at an early period, and having a miserable set of illustrations; but for this edition a new set of cuts was engraved by Thomas and John Bewick, and the work was otherwise materially improved. These cuts were then deemed superior to any of Bewick's previous productions. After Saint's death, they became the property of Hall and Elliot, his successors, who sold them to Wilson and Spence, of York, who afterwards sold them to Charnley, of Newcastle. Charnley had them retouched by Charlton Nesbit, removed part of the ornamental borders, and published them uniform with Bewick's "Quadrupeds" and "Birds" (see Select Fables, 1820).

12mo. Pp. xii, 308, ii. A most beautiful copy, in tooled calf. From the Collection of Mr. John Bell, with his book-plate. "This is the finest copy of Saint's edition of the Select Fables I ever saw. I purchased it from Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, who was one of Bewick's chums. J. G. B." MS. note on the fly-leaf.

There are considerable variations in the body of the work ; for instance, small vignettes occur at pages 122, 125, and 152, which are not in the first edition ; the letter-press varies at pages 123, 143, 144, 145, 151, 152, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, etc. The parts in verse are longer, while the Reflections are shorter.

A very fine copy, in calf. Copies of each edition have been sold for from £2. 10s. od. to £4. 4s.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books."]

(26.) 25. The Bishopric Garland : or, Durham Minstrel. Being a Choice Collection of Excellent Songs, Relating to the above County. Full of agreeable Variety, and pleasant Mirth.

Stockton : Printed by R. Christopher. MDCCLXXXIV. Licensed and entered according to Order.

18mo. Pp. 24. With two cuts of Arms by Thomas Bewick.

Good copy, uncut, in its original cover. This was one of Ritson's compilations, and was reprinted, without the illustrations, in 1792, 1809, and 1810.

(27.) 26. The History and Antiquities of the County Palatine, of Durham ; By William Hutchinson, F.A.S. [etc.]

Newcastle : Printed for Mr. S. Hodgson ; &

Messrs. Robinsons, Paternoster Row, London.
MDCCLXXXV.

2 vols. 4to. Vol. i, pp. xxxvi, 592 ; vol. ii, pp. iii, 616.

The cuts of the Roman Altars and other antiquities, and the Arms and Seals of the Bishops, are by Thomas Bewick, and are in general admirably executed. At the end of the second volume is a tailpiece, also by him, containing the "S. H." of the publisher of the work. The copper-plate engravings are principally by Ralph Beilby. In his autobiography, Bewick thus describes the labours of this period :—" Besides being kept busy with the routine business of our work-office, I was often engaged in executing woodcuts for publishers and printers, at various times from about the year 1788 to 1790. The first of any importance was the woodcuts of Roman Altars, and the Arms of the Bishops of Durham, for ' Hutchinson's History of Durham,' in which my friend, the late George Allan, Esq., of the Grange, Darlington, took a conspicuous part. A set of cuts was done for Goldsmith's ' Deserted Village,' for Mr. Walker, printer, of Hereford. Mr. Nicholson, printer, of Ludlow and Poughnill, the publisher of ' Elegant Selections from Various Authors,' employed me to embellish some of these with woodcuts. My old friend William Bulmer, of the Shakespeare Printing-office, London, also employed me to execute the cuts for Parnell's ' Hermit,' and Goldsmith's ' Deserted Village.' "

Memoir, pp. 141, 142. All will be found in this Collection.

(28.) 27. Newcastle Almanack for 1786.

This Almanack, which was published by Beilby and Bewick, on the 5th of November, 1785, is " embellished with an accurate Perspective View of the Exchange, exhibiting the Crow's Nest at the Top," engraved by Thomas Bewick.

12mo. Pp. iv, 330. With a very beautiful cut by T. Bewick, with his initials, of the Arms of the Priory of Knaresborough, the Cornwall Arms, at page 61.

In its original boards, uncut.

(39.) 38. The Princess of Zanfara; a Dramatic Poem. [etc.]

London: Printed by Mess. Wilkie, St. Paul's Church-Yard. MDCCLXXXIX.

This work has a beautiful wood-engraving on the title, of a Negro kneeling, by Thomas Bewick. It was from the pen of William Hutchinson, of Barnard Castle, Esq., the Historian of Durham, etc., and was republished, but not reprinted, in the same year by Hodgson, in Newcastle. It was again issued in 1792, when a new title was added, with the imprint of London, for B. Law and Son, and F. Jollie, Carlisle. The cut has since been used in part of the publications of the Anti-Slavery Society, and Religious Tract Society, of Newcastle.

“Bewick took a deal of pains with this cut. It was done for a Society in London and Newcastle, 1787, in which there were Sir John E. Swinburne, Mr. Thomas Bigge, and others, who were particular friends. It has since been much hacked, by being used for everything which had any allusion to Negroes or the Slave Trade. Hutchinson stuck it into the title of his Play or Poem, the Princess of Zanfara, 1789.” MS. note of the late Mr. John Bell.

[See “Proofs of Illustrations to Books.”]

(40.) 39. A Tour through Sweden, Swedish-Lapland, Finland and Denmark. In a Series of Letters, illustrated with Engravings. By Matthew Consett, Esq.

Stockton: Printed by R. Christopher, for the Author, 1789. And Sold by W. Goldsmith, Paternoster Row; and T. Lewis, Russell Street, Covent Garden, London.

4to. Pp. xvi, 157. A fine copy, in calf, gilt.

The engravings are on copper, and are of an ordinary character, but the work is valuable and curious, as being one of the very few publications that Bewick illustrated in this manner.

An interesting notice of Consett's Tour will be found in Fox's "Synopsis of the Newcastle Museum," pp. 289, 292.

(41.) 40. The Garden Vade Mecum, or Compendium of General Gardening; [etc.] By John Abercrombie, Upwards of Forty Years Practical Gardener, and Author of "Every Man his own Gardener."

Royal 8vo, of which only one hundred copies were printed.

Very fine copy, in cloth, from Mr. W. Garret, who has supplied the following note:—"This copy was formerly in the possession of Mr. William Heaton, Printer and Bookseller, Newcastle, who in 1790 was a clerk in Sol. Hodgson's office, and prized this book ever after as a valuable relic and extraordinary book."

Stevens's copy sold for £2. 5s. od., and Brockett's for £5. 7s. 6d.

"It is almost a hopeless task to endeavour to procure the royal paper of the First Edition." B. M. Pickering.

(47.) 45. 2. Another very fine copy.

Royal 8vo, calf.

(48.) 45. 3. Another copy.

Demy-8vo, very fine, in its original boards, uncut. Extremely rare in this state. Priced by Kerslake, of Bristol, in 1856, £2. 18s., and by Upham and Beet, 1860, £4. 4s.

(53.) 50. Figures of the Quadrupeds.

Newcastle: 1824.

4to. A reprint of the preceding article.

[See the Division “Proofs, etc., of the Figures and Vignettes of the Quadrupeds.”]

The following memoranda will be useful to the Collector. For the number of copies I am indebted to information received from the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead.

Of the first edition of the Quadrupeds fifteen hundred copies were printed on demy, and one hundred on royal 8vo, the former being sold for 8s., and the latter for 12s. It contains

Pp. viii, 456, and is illustrated by 200 figures and 104 tail-pieces.

The second edition appeared the following year, the same number of demy copies being printed and sold at 9s. each, and three hundred on royal, which were sold at 12s. The work was increased to 483 pages, containing 212 figures and 108 tail-pieces, many of the latter in both this and the first edition being reprinted, or given in duplicate. The principal addition to this edition was the Bats.

The third edition, in 1792, was nearly a reprint of the second the number of pages and illustrations being the same; the only alterations occurring are, the addition of a note at page 392, respecting the application of mole-skins in the manufacture of hats, and the variation of several of the tail-pieces, different ones occurring in the third edition at pages 16, 80, 87, 94, 192, 194, 207, 236, 290, 344, 351, 357, 386, 391, 398, and 419, from those in the second edition; by which means the repetition of the cuts of this nature, which occurred in the two first editions, was avoided. The impression was of like number and the price similar, and the edition was printed in demy and royal octavo.

The fourth edition, which was published in 1800, shows a considerable improvement. It contains 525 pages, and has 225 figures and 100 tail-pieces, and the Linnean names of the animals are introduced. This is the first edition of which imperial paper copies were taken; the impression was as follows:—Two hundred and thirty on imperial 8vo, which sold at 21s.; three hundred on royal 8vo, at 15s.; and one thousand on demy 8vo, at 10s. 6d. On the publication of this edition some difference arose between Messrs. Beilby, Bewick, and Hodgson, as to the disposal of the copies; and it was finally arranged that each party should have a third share of the edition, and dispose of it as he should think fit. Beilby, having then retired from business, sold his share to Mr. John Bell, bookseller, of Newcastle; in consequence of which, we find his name introduced into the title of a portion of this edition. Mr. Beilby soon after sold his interest in the copy-right and engravings of the work to Mr. Bewick.

An edition in 8vo was printed at New York in 1804, under the title of "A General History of Quadrupeds. The figures engraved on wood, chiefly copied from the original of T. Bewick. By A. Anderson. First American Edition. With an Appendix, containing some American Animals not hitherto described. New York: Printed by G. & R. Waite, No. 64, Maiden Lane, 1804." Some of the cuts in this volume are truly wonderful copies of the originals, and an inspection of them would stagger not a few who are accustomed to attribute to "Bewick" every engraving of more than ordinary ability produced at the time when these were published. The book may be seen in the British Museum.

The fifth edition was not published until 1807, and was then printed by Edward Walker, of Newcastle. In it there appears an addition of one figure and one tail-piece on the same number of pages. None of this edition was printed on royal paper. The price of the book was now advanced to 13s. for the demy, and £1. 11s. 6d. for the imperial copies.

The sixth edition is again similar to the fifth, consisting of the same number of pages and illustrations. It appeared in 1811, and was printed on demy paper only, the price being further raised to 21s. Bewick sold his share of this edition to Messrs. Longman and Co., of London. (See one of the autograph letters, dated 22 July, 1811.)

The seventh edition was issued in 1820, and the eighth in 1824, but they are both very similar to that of 1811. Of both editions, copies were printed on imperial, royal, and demy paper the prices being £1. 1s. for the demy, £1. 11s. 6d. for the royal, and £2. 2s. for the imperial paper.

The descriptions in the History of Quadrupeds were written by Mr. Beilby, at that time partner with Bewick. Mr. Beilby died 4th January, 1817, in his 74th year.

(54.) 51. Ancient Songs, From the time of King Henry the Third to the Revolution.

London: Printed for J. Johnson, in St. Paul's Church Yard. MDCCXC.

Small 8vo. Pp. ii, lxxx, 332. With four engravings; that of the Minstrel at page 47, repeated at page 191, doubtless by Thomas Bewick.

(55.) 52. Cooke's Voyages round the World.
Newcastle: 1790.

8vo, 4 vols. With copper-plates by Beilby and Bewick.

(56.) 53. The Life and Perambulations of a Mouse.
London: [n. d. cir. 1790.]

18mo, 2 vols. With forty-four cuts, said, but I very much doubt it, to be by John Bewick.

(57.) 54. The Historical Pocket Library; or, Biographical Vade-Mecum. Six Volumes. Consisting of I. The Heathen Mythology. II. Ancient History. III. The Roman History. IV. The History of England. V. Geography. VI. Natural History. The Whole forming a Moral and Comprehensive System of Historical Information, for the Amusement and Instruction of the young Nobility of both Sexes.

Bath: Printed by S. Hazard; For G. Riley, Stationer, Ludgate-Street, London. 1790.

Square 12mo. Many of the cuts bear the name of Lee, and I am doubtful whether either Thomas or John Bewick had a hand in any of them. The heads of the Kings of England are more like their work than any of the other cuts, but even in these the graver of Lee is plainly discernible. It is with considerable reluctance that I give this work a place in the present Catalogue.

(58.) 55. Pieces of Antient Popular Poetry: From Authentic Manuscripts and Old Printed Copies.

Adorned with Cuts. [etc.]

London : Printed by C. Clarke, for T. and J. Egerton, Whitehall. MDCCXCI.

12mo, pp. iii, v, 264. With marvellously clever cuts by John Bewick.

A fair copy, in calf. With the autograph of "Wm. A. Chatto," the writer on Wood engraving.

(60.) 56. 2. Another copy.

Very fine, in calf.

(61.) 57. A Curious Hieroglyphick Bible ; or, Select Passages in the Old and New Testaments, represented with Emblematical Figures, for the Amusement of Youth, designed chiefly to familiarize tender Age, in a pleasing and diverting Manner, with early Ideas of the Holy Scriptures. To which are subjoined, A Short Account of the Lives of the Evangelists, and other Pieces, illustrated with Cuts. The Ninth Edition.

London: Printed for T. Hodgson, in George's-Court, St. John's Lane, Clerkenwell. MDCCXCI. (Price One Shilling bound.) Entered at Stationers-Hall agreeable to Act of Parliament.

12mo. Pp. iv, 136. The cuts are very rude, and unworthy of John Bewick, to whom they are attributed.

(62.) 58. The Bee. [etc.] By James Anderson, LL.D. [etc.]

Edinburgh: Printed by Mundell and Son, Parliament Stairs. MDCCXCI.

12mo. Various cuts by T. Bewick illustrated this periodical.

(63.) 59. Fables by the late Mr. Gay. In one volume complete.

London: Printed for J. F. and C. Rivington, B. and B. White, T. Longman, B. Law, G. G. J. and J. Robinson, T. Cadell, S. Bladon, R. Baldwin, J. Sewell, J. Johnson, H. L. Gardner, W. Goldsmith, J. Murray, W. Lowndes, W. Bent, J. Scatcherd, and J. Whitaker, G. and T. Wilkie, and E. Newbery. MDCCXCII.

12mo, pp. viij, 232. With 68 charming cuts by John Bewick, and a Frontispiece representing a Tragic Mask.

A very fine copy, in tooled calf.

(64.) 60. Harrison's New Nursery Picture Book, containing Seventy Interesting Engravings.

Printed by J. Harrison, Devizes, and Sold by the London Booksellers and Stationers. Price Sixpence. [n. d., but about 1792.]

18mo. Pp. 36. In its original cover. A very fine clean copy.

The cuts are by John Bewick, and are very clever and characteristic. There are two cuts on a page, which is without letter-press save a short inscription to each cut. I possess some of the blocks.

[See the Division, "Wood-Blocks."]

(65.) 61. Tynemouth. A Panegyrick Poem. By Mr. Thomas Thorburn.

Newcastle. MDCCXCII.

Small 4to, pp. 10. With two cuts of Tynemouth Abbey, by Thomas Bewick.

Fine copy, uncut. Obtained from the late Mr. W. Garret.

(66.) 62. The Looking-Glass for the Mind; or, Intellectual Mirror; Being an elegant Collection of the most delightful little Stories and interesting Tales, chiefly translated from that much admired Work, L'Ami des Enfants. With Seventy-four Cuts, designed and engraved on wood by I. Bewick.

London: Printed by J. Crowder, for E. Newbery, The Corner of St. Paul's Church-yard. M,DCC,XCII.

This work, which contains some of the most beautiful examples of the skill of John Bewick, went through a great number of editions, but all were mere reprints of their predecessors. The fifteenth was published in 1821. In the early editions is a copperplate frontispiece, which does not occur in the later ones. The cuts are considerably altered in the later editions, from their being frequently retouched. All editions consist of pp. viii, 271, 12mo.

A fine copy, in calf.

(67.) 63. The English Anthology. [etc.]

London: Printed by C. Clarke, for T. and G. Egerton, Whitehall. MDCCXCIII.

3 vols. Small 8vo. . Vol. I. Pp. xvi, 350. The vignettes on wood^d are by Thomas Bewick, and were used in other publications. The compilation was Ritson's. The second volume, pp. xiii, 370, and the third, pp. viii, 334, were published in MDCXCIV.

Fine copy, in calf.

(68.) 64. The Northumberland Garland; or, Newcastle Nightingale: A matchless Collection of Famous Songs. [etc.]

Newcastle: Printed by and for Hall and Elliot. MDCXCIII. Licensed and entered according to Order.

12mo, pp. 71. With a very beautiful cut on the title, by Thomas Bewick, of the Newcastle Arms, with the river Tyne, St. Nicholas' Steeple, etc., in the background.

A very fine copy, uncut. Priced by Lilly, 1865, £1. 4s. This also was one of Ritson's compilations, and was reprinted, without the cut, in 1809, 1810, etc.

(69.) 65. The Peerage of Great Britain and Ireland, [etc.] By Robert Pollard, F.S.A. Vol. I.

Published by R. Pollard, Engraver, Spa Fields. London, Sold by C. Dilly, Bookseller, Poultry. [etc.] MDCXCIII.

4to. Pp. xii, 184. In its original boards, uncut. The engravings on wood are by John Bewick. The work ended with the first volume.

(70.) 66. The Beauties of the Creation: Or, a new Moral System of Natural History: In Five Volumes. [etc.] The Second Edition.

London: Printed for G. Riley, No. 33, Ludgate Street; And Sold by S. Hazard, Bath. 1793.

Square 18mo. Several of the cuts are by John Bewick, and bear his name.

(71.) 67. Sporting Magazine. Inscribed to the Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Jockey Club. [etc.] By a Society of Sportsmen.

London: Printed for the Proprietors, And Sold by J. Whèble, No. 18, Warwick-square, near St. Paul's; William Burrell, at Newmarket; and by every Bookseller and Stationer in Great Britain and Ireland. [n. d. 1793, etc.]

8vo. The upper woodcut on the cover, representing three horses near the winning-post; and the lower, representing a Sportsman shooting, are by John Bewick.

In the second volume, 1793, a cut of a Shepherd presenting Diana, accompanied by a nymph, a hound, and dead game, with a lyre, is introduced over "Poetry;" and heading "The Feast of Wit" is a "very spirited cut of a festive party over their punch," also by John Bewick.

(72.) 68. Tales for Youth; in Thirty Poems: To which are annexed, Historical Remarks and Moral Applications in Prose. By the Author of "Choice Emblems for the Improvement of Youth," &c. Ornamented with Cuts, neatly designed and engraved on Wood, by Bewick. [etc.]

London: Printed by J. Crowder, For E. Newbery, the Corner of St. Paul's Church-yard. 1794. [Entered at Stationers Hall.]

12mo. Pp. x, 158. With 30 beautiful cuts by John Bewick, most of them among the highest efforts of his genius: that of a prowling cat, at page 55, has been pronounced the most natural likeness of the animal ever engraved. The work was written by Mr. J. H. Wynne.

A very fine copy, in calf.

(73.) 69. A Compendious History of England, from the Invasion by the Romans to the War with France in MDCCXCIV. [etc.]

London: Printed for G. G. and J. Robinson, W. Kent, and J. Scatcherd. 1794.

12mo, calf. With heads of the kings said to be by T. Bewick.

(74.) 70. The Florist's Companion; Containing the Culture and Properties of the Auricula, Polyanthus, &c., and Carnation. [etc.] By John Hudson, Newcastle; [etc.]

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed for the Editor; and sold by the Booksellers in Newcastle, Shields, Sunderland, Durham, Alnwick, Hexham, and Carlisle. [1794.]

12mo. Pp. xii, 84. In its original boards, uncut.

"The Florist's Companion was written by Mr. William Preston, the sub-Editor of the Newcastle Chronicle newspaper, from the notes of John Hudson. This copy is on fine thick paper, on which very few copies were printed, and is now very scarce. The wood-cuts are by Thomas Bewick." MS. note on fly-leaf by Mr. W. Garret, from whom it was obtained, and who has inserted some printed particulars of the presentation of his Portrait to Mr. Preston, including some stanzas written for the occasion by Mr. W. G. Thompson.

(75.) 71. The History of the County of Cumberland, and Some Places adjacent, from the earliest Accounts to the Present Time. [etc.] By William Hutchinson, F.A.S., Author of the History of Durham, &c.

Carlisle, Printed by F. Jollie; and Sold by B. Law and Son, W. Clark, and T. Taylor, London, MDCCXCIV.

2 vols. 4to. Vol. i., pp. 58, 600; vol. ii. pp. 688, iv. 6. The numerous woodcuts of Roman Altars and other antiquities, and the views of Wetheral Priory and Church at pp. 168, 178, vol. i., are by Thomas Bewick.

Good copy, in old calf.

(76.) 72. 1. The Newcastle and Gateshead Directory, for 1795, [etc.] By William Hilton, and Assistants.

Newcastle, Printed and Sold by M. Angus, Side. (Price One Shilling.)

18mo. Pp. 76, ii. With the engraving before described, by Thomas Bewick, on the title.

A matchless copy, from the Collection of John Straker, Esq., with his book-plate. Half-bound in calf.

(77.) 72. 2. Another copy, in its original boards.

(78.) 73. Poems by Goldsmith and Parnell.

London: Printed by W. Bulmer and Co. Shakespeare Printing Office, Cleveland-Row. 1795.

4to. Pp. xx, 76. Beautiful copy in half-morocco.

Most of the cuts were drawn by Robert Johnson and John Bewick, and all were engraved by Thomas Bewick except the vignettes on the title-pages, the large cut of "The Sad Historian," and the tail-piece at the end of the volume, which were done by John Bewick.

A magnificent result of the efforts of the wood-engraver, type-founder, papermaker, and printer.

Bulmer, speaking in his Advertisement of the illustrations to the work, says that they were all engraved on wood by two of his "earliest acquaintances, Messrs. Bewicks, of Newcastle-upon-Tyne and London, after designs made from the most interesting passages of the Poems they embellish. They have been executed with great care, and I may venture to say, without being supposed to be influenced by ancient friendship, that they form the most extraordinary effort of the art of engraving upon wood, that ever was produced in any age, or any country. Indeed it seems almost impossible that such delicate effects could be obtained from blocks of wood."

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc.]

(79.) 74. The Poetical Works of Oliver Goldsmith, M.B. Complete in One Volume. With the Life of the Author. Embellished with Vignettes & Tail-Pieces, Designed, and Engraved on Wood, By T. Bewick.

Hereford: Printed by D. Walker; and Sold by J. Parsons, Bookseller, Paternoster-Row, London. 1795.

12mo. Pp. 95. With six cuts.

A fine copy, in its original boards, and uncut.

(80.) 75. An Abridgement of the History of England. [etc.] By Dr. Goldsmith.

London: Printed for Vernor, Hood, and Co. 1795.

12mo. With 33 heads of the Kings and Queens, by Thomas Bewick.

(81.) 76. History of England. [etc.] By Dr. Goldsmith.

London: Printed for E. Newbery. [etc.] 1795.

12mo. With the heads by T. Bewick.

(82.) 77. History of England. [etc.] By Dr. Goldsmith.

Bath: Printed by S. Hazard. 1795.

12mo. Apparently a reissue of the previous article.

(83.) 78. History of England, [etc.]

London: Printed for Vernor, Hood, and Co. 1795.

9 vols. 8vo. Several of the embellishments of this work, which are printed as full-page illustrations, are by Thomas Bewick, and bear his initials. The majority of them, however, are believed to be the work of Luke Clennell, one of his most able apprentices, Nesbit, and others.

(84.) 79. Cheap Repository. The Shepherd of Salisbury-Plain.

Sold by J. Marshall, (Printer to the Cheap Repository for Moral and Religious Tracts,) No. 17, Queen Street, Cheapside, and No. 4, Aldermary Church-Yard, Bow-Lane, and R. White, Piccadilly, London. By S. Hazard, (Printer to the Cheap Repository) at Bath; and by all Booksellers, Newsmen and Hawkers, in Town and Country. [etc.]

The Institution from which these 'Tracts emanated was opened in March, 1795, and put forth a number of publications during that and following years. Two or three were published every month, and the usual cost was a halfpenny or a penny. They have assumed of late years a very exaggerated value, some of them being illustrated by John Bewick, who also, I think, was the designer of some cuts engraved by Lee for the same series. I possess the following, the illustrations in which are supposed to be the productions of John Bewick. They are in 12mo, and usually have a cut on the title.

The Shepherd of Salisbury Plain.

The History of Tom White, the Postilion.

The Way to Plenty: or, The Second Part of Tom White.

The Two Shoemakers.

The Two Soldiers.

The Plague in London.

The Two Wealthy Farmers. Parts I. and II.

The Good Mother's Legacy.

Sorrowful Sam; or, the Two Blacksmiths.

Babay.

The Happy Waterman.

Wonderful Escape from Shipwreck.

Sunday Reading.—Religious Advantages of Great Britain.

„ „ The Beggarly Boy.

„ „ The Harvest Home.

„ „ The Troubles of Life. [With a number of really clever Cuts]

The Carpenter.

The Riot.

The Execution of Wild Robert.

The Sorrows of Yamba. [With five clever cuts.]

Black Giles, the Poacher.

The History of Mary Wood.

The History of Sinful Sally.

Patient Joe ; or, The Newcastle Collier.

Many other tracts of the series have cuts, but I cannot attribute them to either of the Bewicks.

(85.) 80. The Art of Preserving Health. By Dr. John Armstrong.

Manchester : [etc.] 1795.

12mo. With cut on the title by Thomas Bewick.

(86.) 81. Robin Hood : A Collection of all the Ancient Poems, Songs, and Ballads, now Extant, relative to that celebrated English Outlaw : To which are prefixed Historical Anecdotes of his Life. In Two Volumes.

London : Printed for T. Egerton, Whitehall, and J. Johnson, St. Paul's-Church-yard. MDCXCXV.

Small 8vo. Vol. i. pp. cxviii, ii, 167. Vol. ii. pp. iv, 224.

With cuts by Thomas and John Bewick. At page 92, vol. ii., the Steeple of St. Nicholas', Newcastle, is introduced.

Fine copy, in calf.

(87.) 82. The Blossoms of Morality ; Intended for the Amusement and Instruction of Young Ladies and Gentlemen. By the Editor of The Looking Glass for the Mind. With Forty-Seven Cuts, Designed and Engraved by I. Bewick.

London: Printed for E. Newbery, The Corner of St. Paul's Church-Yard. MDCCXCVI.

12mo. Pp. x, 221. This is the first edition illustrated with the cuts of John Bewick. The Publisher in his Advertisement says, "Much time has elapsed since the commencement of this edition, owing to a severe indisposition with which the Artist was long afflicted, and which, unfortunately, terminated in his death. And sorry, very sorry, are we to be compelled to state, that this is the last effort of his incomparable genius. Oct. 6, 1796."

Fine copy, in calf.

(88.) 83. The Beauties of History; or, Pictures of Virtue and Vice: Drawn from Examples of Men, Eminent for their Virtues or Infamous for their Vices. Selected for the Instruction and Entertainment of Youth. By the late W. Dodd, LL.D. The Second Edition, With considerable Additions and Improvements, and ornamented with Vignettes by Bewick.

London: Printed for Vernor and Hood, Birchin-Lane, Cornhill; E. Newbery, Corner of St. Paul's Church-Yard; and Darton and Harvey, Grace-Church-Street. 1796.

12mo. Pp. xviii, 300. With 29 cuts.

Fine copy, in calf.

(89.) 84. Youthful Portraits; or, Sketches of the Passions: Exemplifying the Dignity, and Inculcating the Advantages of Virtue. Embellished with Engravings.

London: Printed for E. Newbery, the Corner of St. Paul's Church-Yard. MDCCXCVI.

12mo. Pp. iv, 115. With 15 clever cuts by John Bewick.
"This is the only copy of this book I ever saw." Note by Mr. J. Pearson.

Fine copy, in its original boards.

(90.) 85. The Compendious Measurer; [etc.] By Charles Hutton, LL.D. and F.R.S., &c.

London: Printed for G. G. and J. Robinson, R.
Baldwin; and G. and J. Wilkie; in Paternoster Row.
M.DCC.XCVI.

12mo. Pp. xvi., 322. With some shaded geometrical figures, said to be by Thomas Bewick.

A good copy, in old calf.

(91.) 86. The Parochial History and Antiquities of Stockton upon Tees: Including an Account of the Trade of the Town, the Navigation of the River, and of such parts of the Neighbourhood as have been connected with that Place. In a Series of Letters; Embellished with Views of Public Buildings, &c. By John Brewster, M.A., Vicar of Greatham and Lecturer of Stockton.

Stockton: Printed by R. Christopher; Sold by Vernor & Hood, Birchin-Lane, T. Egerton, White-
Hall, and W. Clarke, New Bond-Street, London. 1796.

4to. Pp. x., 178. The "R. C." on the title, and the Armorial Bearings of the Town, at page 176, are by Thomas Bewick.

Good copy, in its original boards.

(92.) 87. Chronicles of the Kings of England. By R. Dodsley.

London: [n. d., but about 1796.]

8vo, calf.

(93.) 88. An Historical View of the French Revo- lution, From the Assembling of the States General in May, 1789, to the Acceptance of the Republican Constitution in September, 1795. Together with a Comprehensive Detail of the Causes which produced, and the Consequences which have teemed from that great Political Phænomenon.

Newcastle Upon Tyne: Printed by and for M. Angus. 1796.

8vo, 2 vols. With a beautiful cut on each title by Thomas Bewick, which was done expressly for the printer, and represents her initials "M. A." in an oval in the centre, nearly surrounded by flowers, with a distant view of the Tyne, the Steeple of St. Nicholas, etc.

Fine copy, in tree calf.

(94.) 89. The Chase. A Poem. By William Somerville, Esq.

London: Printed by W. Bulmer and Co., Shakspeare Printing Office, Cleveland Row. 1796.

The first edition of this beautiful book was printed in the above year, in royal 4to; three copies being done on vellum.

The second edition appeared in 1802, and was printed in super-royal 8vo. This work contains the best specimens of John Bewick's abilities as a designer; all the cuts were drawn by him, except one, but none of them were engraved by him. Shortly after he had finished the drawings on the blocks, he returned to the North, in consequence of ill-health. They were engraved by Thomas Bewick, with the exception of the tail-piece at the end of the volume, which was engraved by Nesbit. Speaking of the death of John Bewick, a writer in the 'Gentleman's Magazine' says, "The works of this young artist will be held in estimation; and the engravings to 'Somerville's Chase' will be a monument of Fame of more celebrity than marble can bestow."

Fine copy, in half morocco.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc.]

(95.) 90. Fabliaux or Tales, Abridged from French Manuscripts of the XIIth and XIIIth Centuries. By M. le Grand, Selected and Translated into English Verse. With a Preface and Notes.

London: Printed by W. Bulmer and Co., Shakspeare-Press. Sold by R. Faulder, New Bond-Street, 1796. Entered at Stationers' Hall.

This work is in two volumes, super-royal 8vo. The first contains pp. xxxvii, 280, with twenty-five, and the second pp. 340, with twenty-seven illustrations. The first volume was published in 1796, and the second in 1800. My remarkably fine copy belonged to the Hon. George Canning, and has his autograph.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc.]

(96.) 91. Les Jardins, ou L'Art d'embellir les Paysages. Poème par M. L'Abbé de Lille, de l'Académie Française. VI^e Edition.

A Londres, Chez Stace & Herbert, Libraires. 1796.

18mo. Pp. x, 134. With seven vignettes by Thomas Bewick. Beautiful copy, in purple morocco.

(97.) 92. On the Conduct of Man to Inferior Animals. [etc.]

Manchester, Printed and sold at the Office of G. Nicholson, 9, Spring Gardens. Sold also by T. Knott, 47, Lombard Street; and Champante & Whitrow, Jewry-street, London. Anno 1797.

18mo. With woodcut on title by Thomas Bewick.

(98.) 93. Junius.

London. Printed by T. Bensley, for Vernor and Hood, Birchin Lane. 1797.

2 vols. 8vo. Vol. i. pp. xxxix, 274; vol. ii. pp. 319. With numerous vignettes, engraved on wood by John Bewick, and with portraits by Hedley. Fine copy, in calf.

(99.) 94. 1. History of British Birds. The Figures engraven on Wood by T. Bewick. Vol. I. Containing the History and Description of Land Birds.

Newcastle: Printed by Sol. Hodgson, for Beilby & Bewick: Sold by them, and G. G. and J. Robinson, London. [Price One Guinea in Boards.] 1797.

History of British Birds. The Figures engraved on Wood by T. Bewick. Vol. II. Containing the History and Description of Water Birds.

Newcastle: Printed by Edward Walker, for T. Bewick: Sold by him, and Longman and Rees, London. [Price 1*l.* 4*s.* in Boards.] 1804.

Two vols., imperial 8vo, half-russia, edges untouched, and in the finest possible condition. These are two of the rarest of Bewick's volumes, as on this, the largest paper, first edition, only twenty-four copies were printed. They have been repeatedly sold for twenty guineas. The first volume only was lately priced in a bookseller's catalogue at fourteen guineas, and a similar one was sold at the Bernal sale for £12. The present copy belonged to Mr. Miles, of Bristol; and on the fly-leaf is the note:—"Picked from six copies by Mr. Miles, £10. 10*s.*" "I think the copy you now have on imperial paper cannot possibly be surpassed; and the binding is by Kalthoeber. It is quite a fancy book; and a person wishing for such a book may wait many years." Letter of Bookseller.

(100.) 94. 2. Another copy. 1797, 1804.

Both volumes. Royal 8vo, gilt vellum.

It has the rare Addenda to the first, and the Supplements to both volumes. The back of the last page of the first volume is blank. The second volume was BEWICK'S OWN COPY, and contains various additions and corrections in his handwriting. "A more interesting memento of a great man," says Mr. J. G. Bell, "could not exist."

A copy of this edition and paper is priced by Sage, 1860, at £8. 8s ; and the second volume, by Kerslake, at £7. 7s. Williams's copy sold for £5. 7s. 6d. ; Nassau's, £6. 6s. ; Earl of Kerry's, £6. 10s. ; Brockett's, £7.

(101.) 94. 3. Another copy. Vol. I. 1797.

Royal 8vo, half-calf.

On the back of the last page is an advertisement of the fourth edition of the Quadrupeds. With the book-plate of "Isaac Nicholson, Jun.," probably Bewick's apprentice of that name.

(102.) 94. 4. Another Copy. 1797, 1804.

Both volumes. Demy 8vo. In their original boards and uncut. On the cover of the first volume, on the back of the last page of which is the advertisement of the third edition of the Quadrupeds, is written "Richd. Haworth, Chancery Lane, 1797." The printed date of 1797 on the title is therefore correct, although accompanied by the advertisement, and not used to falsify subsequent impressions, as some have supposed.

(103.) 94. 5. Another copy. 1797, 1804.

Both volumes, similar to the former article. Priced by J. G. Bell, £4. 4s. Roscoe's copy sold for £5. 5s.

Both of these are remarkably fine and clean copies, exactly in the state in which they left the original publisher.

(104.) 94. 6. THE PROOF SHEETS of nearly the whole of the First Volume, including the title. 1797.

"This is a very curious article, and must be much valued by the admirer of Bewick's works, as it forms the commencement of his labours on the 'History of British Birds,' being the proof-sheets of the work, with the corrections of Bewick's own hand.

William Garret, Newcastle-upon-Tyne." MS. note on the fly-leaf by the late Mr. W. Garret, from whom the volume was obtained.

This volume, which from its nature must be unique, consists of the proof sheets of nearly the whole of the first volume of the first edition, with numberless corrections and interesting additions in Thomas Bewick's handwriting. Many lines are cancelled, and in the subsequent impression omitted accordingly. There are also orders about the insertion and removal of the engravings; as, for instance, for that of the Nest from the end of the Preface to what was previously a blank space at the head of it, a position which that beautiful vignette has continued to occupy in all the editions. Most of the leaves are printed on one side only, being merely struck off for the author's perusal and correction. When they had received these, they were happily preserved by some one in the Printing Office, and soon found their way to the hands of Mr. Garret, from whom, as already stated, this most interesting relic was obtained.

In the Preface, dated September, 1797, Mr. Beilby says:—"It may be proper to observe, that while one of the Editors of this work was engaged in preparing the engravings, the compilation of the descriptions was undertaken by the other, subject, however, to the corrections of his friend, whose habits had led him to a more intimate acquaintance with this branch of Natural History." These proof-sheets enable us to know that Bewick's "corrections" of his partner's copy were numerous, and very frequently most important.

(105.) 95. History of British Birds. [etc.] The Third Edition.

Newcastle: [etc.] 1809.

Demy 8vo, 2 vols. Fine copy. In its original boards, uncut.

8vo. Pp. 134. In its original boards. With the usually missing cut.

Of this edition 500 copies were printed, at 12s. each. Although done "in compliance with the wishes of many of their friends," it met with a very indifferent sale, and most of the copies were destroyed. Its real value has since been recognized, and Mr. Brockett's copy of this now uncommon book was sold for £3. 5s. Priced by Kerslake, £1. 16s.

(112.) 101. 2. Another complete and very beautiful copy, in calf, gilt, by Kalthoerber.

Pilgrim Street. 1827.

4to. In sheets, as issued. Taken off without the letter-press, as a companion to the Quadrupeds and Birds similarly published. Two cuts are printed on a page.

Obtained from Miss Jane Bewick, daughter of Thomas Bewick, who has written on the title-page, "For home—perfect."

Mr. Atkinson says:—"What adds not a little to the value of the 4to copies of Bewick's works is the fact that no more are likely to be printed in that manner; for from want of support, afforded by adjacent types, the blocks were unable to sustain the requisite pressure, and many of them were injured; the bill of one of the Crows, and that of the Nightingale, among others, being broken. In consequence of these accidents to the blocks, the author was determined that no more should be printed without the letter-press, and as his family seem of the same opinion, there appears little probability of their increase." Sketch of Thomas Bewick, page 12.

(120.) 108. Vignettes. By Thomas Bewick.

Newcastle upon Tyne: Printed by Edward Walker, Pilgrim-street. 1827.

Demy 8vo, half morocco, uncut. Each cut occupies a page.

For the statistical portion of the following I am indebted to the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead.

The first edition of the first volume of the 'History of British Birds' (containing 335 pages, exclusive of xxxii of introduction, etc., illustrated by 117 figures of Birds and 91 tail-pieces) appeared in 1797, and consisted of one thousand copies on demy 8vo, which were published at 10s. 6d., and eight hundred and fifty on thin, and the like number on thick royal, at 13s. and 15s. each, and twenty-four on imperial paper, at 21s. each; and the following year, 1798, a further impression, also bearing date 1797, was printed as follows:—Seven hundred and fifty on demy, six hundred and sixty-nine on royal, and two hundred and seven on imperial. The first edition of volume 2 (consisting of 400 pages, exclusive of xx of introduction, etc., illustrated by 101 figures and 139 vignettes) appeared in 1804, and a similar number were printed on demy paper at 12s. each, on thin royal paper at 15s. each, thick royal paper at 18s. each, and on imperial paper at 24s. The text of Volume I. was written by Mr. Beilby, and corrected, as we have already seen, by Bewick; that of Volume II. by Mr. Bewick, assisted by the Rev. H. Cotes, then Vicar of Bedlington, Co. Northumberland.

The back of the last page of volume i. is sometimes blank, sometimes with advertisement of the third, and sometimes with that of the fourth edition of the "Quadrupeds."

The second edition of both volumes was published in 1805: volume 1, containing 346 pages (exclusive of introduction, etc.) illustrated by 118 figures and 117 vignettes or tail-pieces; and volume 2, consisting of 400 pages (exclusive of introduction, etc.) with 103 figures and 133 tail-pieces. No copies of this edition were printed on demy paper.

The third edition, published in 1809, was printed on demy paper only. The impressions of the cuts in this edition are considered by some to be superior to those in any other, owing, it is supposed, to the peculiar quality of the paper, which is of a soft and spongy nature.

The fourth edition was also printed only on demy 8vo, in 1816; it contains 729 pages, viz. Volume I., 329 pages, and Volume II., 400 pages.

The fifth edition appeared in 1821, to which was added the Supplement.

The sixth edition, printed in 1826, was the last superintended in its passage through the press by Bewick himself. Copies were printed on imperial, royal, and demy paper; Volume I. contains pp. xlv, 394, with 157 figures, and Volume II., pp. xxii, 432, with 143 figures, besides the 14 figures of Foreign Birds. The Supplement is incorporated with this edition.

A seventh edition was printed in 1832, and an eighth in 1847; the last of which is peculiarly interesting, from the many and previously unpublished tail-pieces with which it is embellished.

The best of Bewick's cuts appeared in the first edition of his "British Birds;" for though many new cuts were inserted in the subsequent editions, yet they are not equal to the best of those which had previously appeared. When the second volume was published, Bewick had attained his fiftieth year, and though he continued to draw and engrave for many years afterwards, with a skill peculiarly his own, he produced nothing to extend that fame which he had already so deservedly acquired.

It is said that "in after years Bewick advanced an opinion that light, or rather grey, impressions were the best; but the key to the matter was, he was always afraid of too great a pressure injuring the blocks, and to a very serious extent his fears were justifiable; as may be inferred from the fact that, among a multitude of other and constant renovations, the Blackbird has had six bills!"

The Bewick Collector will be glad to possess at one view some of the criticisms which have been passed upon these matchless productions.

"Have we forgotten," says Professor Wilson in 'Blackwood's Magazine' for June, 1828, "in our hurried and imperfect enumeration of wise worthies,—have we forgotten 'The Genius that dwells on the banks of the Tyne'? the matchless, inimitable Bewick? No. His books lie on our parlour, bedroom, dining-room, drawing-room, and study table, and are never out of place or time. Happy old man! The delight of childhood, manhood, decaying age! A moral in every tail-piece—a sermon in every vignette. Not as if from one fountain flows the stream of his inspired spirit, gurgling from the Crawley Spring so many thousand gallons of the element every minute, and feeding but one city, our own Edinburgh. But it rather oozes out from unnumbered springs. Here from one scarcely perceptible, but in the vivid green of the lonesome sward, from which it trickles away into a little mountain rill—here leaping into sudden life, as from the rock—here bubbling from a silver pool, overshadowed by a birch-tree—here like a well asleep in a moss-grown cell, built by some thoughtful recluse in the old monastic day, with a few words from Scripture, or some rude engraving, religious as Scripture, Omne bonum desuper—Opera Dei mirifica.”

The writer of a long and able retrospective review of Bewick's works, in the 'British Quarterly Review' for November, 1845, says, "In addition to the figures of the birds, which are beautifully executed, the artist had adorned the work with a profusion of those exquisite tail-pieces, which, whether we contemplate their admirable design, their nature, their truth, or the humour and keen satire, or powerful morality, which are so often superadded and transfused, certainly divide our admiration with the principal objects of the work. The sheer truth of Bewick's drawing was, perhaps, hardly ever matched, certainly never exceeded. Whether his subject be animated or lifeless, in motion or at rest, he at once seizes and impresses its form and character. Verisimilitude is too weak a word for some of his most finished portraitures. They are not like the truth, they are the truth itself. In some of his Quadrupeds and Birds, we have not only the form and action of the animal, but its very air and physiognomy."

The distinguished ornithologist Audubon writes of Bewick—
 "He was purely a son of nature, to whom alone we owe all that characterized him as an artist and as a man. Look at his tail-pieces, reader, and say if you ever saw so much life represented before, from the Glutton, who precedes the Great Black-backed Gull, to the youngsters flying their kite; the disappointed sportsman, who, by killing a magpie, has lost a woodcock; the horse endeavouring to reach the water; the bull roaring near the stile; or the poor beggar attacked by the rich man's mastiff. As you turn each successive leaf from beginning to end of his admirable books, scenes calculated to excite your admiration everywhere present themselves. Assuredly you will agree with me in thinking that in his peculiar path none has equalled him."

"Of Bewick's powers," says a writer in 'Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine' for July, 1825, "the most extraordinary is the perfect and undeviating accuracy with which he seizes and transfers to paper the natural objects which it is his delight to draw. His landscapes are absolute facsimiles; his animals are whole-length portraits. It needs only to glance at his works, to convince ourselves with what wonderful felicity the very countenance and air of his animals are marked and distinguished. There is the grave owl, the silly wavering lapwing, the pert jay, the impudent over-fed sparrow, the airy lark, the sleepy-headed gourmand duck, the restless titmouse, the insignificant wren, the clean harmless gull, the keen rapacious kite—every one has character. This is far beyond the mere pencilling of fur or feathers. It is the seizure and transfusion of countenance. In this, Bewick's skill seems unapproached and unapproachable, by any other artist who has ever attempted this line. His vignettes are just as remarkable. Take his 'British Birds,' and in the tail-pieces to these two volumes, you shall find the most touching presentation of nature in all her forms, animate and inanimate. There are the poachers tracking a hare in the snow, and the urchins who have accomplished the creation of a 'snow man.' In the humorous, there are the disappointed beggar leaving the gate open for the pigs and poultry to march over the good dame's linen which she is laying out to dry—or, what a Methodist would call profane, the cat stealing the old man's dinner, whilst he is devoutly saying grace—or the thief who sees devils in every bush and stump of a tree, a sketch that Hogarth himself might envy. Then, in another strain, there is the strayed infant standing at the horse's heels and pulling its tail, the mother in an agony flying over the stile—the sportsman who has slipped into the torrent, and the blind man and boy unconscious of 'keep on this side.' In the satiric, there is that best of burlesques upon military pomp, the four urchins astride of gravestones for horses, the first blowing a glass trumpet, and the others bedizened in tatters, with rush caps and wooden swords.'

“Nor must we pass over his sea-side sketches—all inimitable. The cutter chasing the smuggler—is it not evident they are going at least ten knots an hour? The tired gulls sitting on the waves, every curled head of which seems big with mischief. What pruning of plumage, what stalkings and flappings, and scratchings of the sand, are not depicted in that collection of sea-birds on the shore? What desolation is there in that sketch of coast after a storm, with the solitary rock, the ebb tide, the crab just venturing out, and the mast of the sunken vessel standing up through the treacherous waters? What truth and minute nature is in that tide coming in, each wave rolling higher than his predecessor, like a line of conquerors, and pouring in amidst the rocks with increasing aggression? And last and best,—there are his fishing scenes. What angler's heart but beats, when he sees the pool fisher deep in the water, his rod bending almost double with the rush of some tremendous trout or heavy salmon? Who does not recognise his boyish days in the fellow with the 'set rods,' sheltering himself from the soaking rain behind an old tree? What fisher has not seen yon 'old codger' sitting by the river side, peering over his tackle, and putting on a brandling? It is needless to recapitulate. Bewick's landscapes, in short, are upon the same principle with his animals. They are, for the most part, portraits. They are the result of the keenest and most accurate observation. You perceive every stone and bunch of grass has had actual existence. His moors are north-country moors, neither Scotch nor English. They are the progeny of Cheviot, of Rumpside, of Simonside, and of the Carter. The tail-piece of the old man, pointing out to his boy an ancient monumental stone, reminds one of the Milfield Plain and Flodden Field. Having only delineated that in which he himself had taken delight, we may deduce his character from his pictures. His warm-hearted love of his native country, its scenery, its manners, its airs, its men and women; his propensity

‘by himself to wander

Adown some trolling burn's meander,

An' no think lang;'

his intense observation of nature and human life, his satirical and somewhat coarse humour, his fondness for maxims and old saws, his views of worldly prudence now and then ‘cropping out,’ as miners call it, into daylight, his passion for the seaside, and his delight in the angler’s ‘solitary trade.’ All this, and more, the admirer of Bewick may deduce from his sketches.”

“How vividly Bewick delineated,” says a writer in the ‘Spectator’ newspaper, “the ‘hedgerow elms and hillocks green’ of English scenery, and the idle bustle of a village, with boys scampering and hallooing, and geese and poultry fluttering and screaming! The very atmosphere seems breezy in which his trees wave to the wind, and the fallows of the uplands almost look moist under the spongy clouds.”

“While speaking of the English school,” says Leslie in his ‘Handbook for Young Painters,’ “I must not omit to notice a truly original genius, who, though not a painter, was an artist of the highest order in his way—Thomas Bewick, the admirable designer and engraver on wood. The woodcuts that illustrate his books of natural history may be studied with advantage by the most ambitious votary of the highest classes of art—filled as they are by the truest feeling for nature, and often representing the most ordinary objects, yet never, in a single instance, degenerating into common-place. The charming vignettes that ornament these books abound in incidents from real life, diversified by genuine humour, as well as by the truest pathos—of which the single figure of a shipwrecked sailor saying his prayers on a rock, with the waves rising round him, is an instance. There is often in these little things a deep meaning that places his art on a level with styles which the world is apt to consider as greatly above it, in proof of which I would mention the party of boys playing at soldiers among graves, and mounted on a row of upright tombstones for horses; while for quaint humour, extracted from a very simple source, may be noticed a procession of geese which have just waddled through a stream, while their line of march is continued by a row of stepping-stones. The student of landscape can never consult the works of Bewick without improvement. The backgrounds to the figures of his Quadrupeds and his Birds, and his vignettes, have a charm of nature quite his own. He gives us, in these, every season of the year; and his trees, whether in the clothing of summer, or in the nakedness of winter, are the trees of an artist bred in the country. He is equally true in his little home scenes, his farmyards and cottages, as in the wild coast scenery, with the flocks of sea-birds wheeling round the rocks. In one of these subjects there stands a ruined church, towards which the sea has encroached, the rising tide threatening to submerge a tombstone raised 'to perpetuate the memory,' etc. Bewick resembles Hogarth in this, that his illustrations of the stories of others are not to be compared with his own inventions. His feeling for the beauties of nature as they were impressed on him directly, and not at second-hand, is akin to the feeling of Burns, and his own designs remind me, therefore, much more of Burns than the few which he made from the poet."

Mr. Jackson, who was a pupil of Bewick's, and gained considerable celebrity as a wood-engraver, speaking of the illustrations, says, "Nothing of the same kind that wood-engraving has produced since the time of Bewick can for a moment bear a comparison with these cuts. They are not to be equalled till a designer and engraver shall arise possessed of Bewick's knowledge of nature, and endowed with his happy talent of expressing it. Bewick has, in this respect, effected more by himself, than has been produced by one of our best wood-engravers when working from drawings made by a professional designer, but who knows nothing of birds, of their habits, or the places which they frequent, and has not the slightest feeling for natural incident and picturesque beauty. No mere facsimile engraver of a drawing ready made to his hand should venture to speak lightly of Bewick's talents until he has both drawn and engraved a cut which may justly challenge a comparison with the Kyloe Ox, the Yellow-hammer, the Partridge, the Woodcock, or the Tame Duck."

"The following may be mentioned as the best of the Tail-pieces in the first edition of the 'Quadrupeds,' and as those which most decidedly display Bewick's talents in depicting, without exaggeration, natural and humorous incidents. In this respect he has been excelled by no other artist either of past or present times. The Elephant, foreshortened, at page 162; the Boy and Cat, 195; the Old Man crossing a ford, mounted on an old horse, which carries in addition, two heavy sacks, 244; the Bear-ward, with his Wife and Companion, leading Bruin, and accompanied by his dancing dogs—a gallows seen in the distance, 256; a Fox with magpies flying after him, indicating his course to his pursuers, 265; Two unfeeling fellows enjoying the pleasure of hanging a dog—a gibbet seen in the distance, to denote that those who could thus quietly enjoy the dying struggles of a dog, would not be unlikely to murder a man, 274; a Man eating his dinner with his dog sitting beside him, expecting his share, 285; Old blind man led by a dog, crossing a bridge of a single plank, and with the rail broken, in a storm of wind and rain, 320; a Mad Dog pursued by three men, a feeble old woman directly in the dog's way, 324; a Man with a bundle at his back, crossing a stream on stilts, 337; a Winter piece, a man travelling in the snow, 339: a grim-visaged old man, accompanied by a cur dog, driving an old sow, 371; two boys and an ass on a common, the ass remaining immoveable, in spite of the application of a branch of furze to his hind quarters, while the young graceless who is mounted evidently enjoys his seat, 375; a Man leaping, by means of a pole, a stream, across which he has previously thrown his stick and bag, 391; a Man carrying a bundle of faggots on the ice, 395; a Wolf falling into a trap, 430; and two Blind Fiddlers and a Boy, the last in the book, at 456. In this cut Bewick has represented the two blind fiddlers earnestly scraping away, although there is no one to listen to their strains: the bare-legged boy who leads them, and the half-starved melancholy-looking dog at their heels, are in admirable keeping with the principal characters.

“The principal Tail-pieces, added to these already enumerated, in the later editions of the 'Quadrupeds,' are—Greyhound coursing, at the end of the index; the Old Coachman and Young Squire, 12; Tinker's children in a pair of panniers on the back of an ass, 21; a Cow drinking, 28; Winter scene, 34; Two men digging, 37; Dog worrying a sheep, 62; Old Soldier travelling in the rain, 117; Smelling, tail-piece to the Genet, a strong bit, 269; Drunken man making his dam, 371; and Seals on a large piece of floating ice, 510. In the cut of a sour-visaged old fellow going with corn to the mill, we have an exemplification of cruelty not unworthy of Hogarth. The over-laden, half-starved old horse, broken-kneed, greasy-heeled, and evidently troubled with the string-halt, as is indicated by the action of the off hind leg, hesitates to descend the brae, at the foot of which there is a stream, and the old brute on his back urges him forward by working him, as jockeys say, with the halter, and beating him with his stick. In the distance, Bewick, as was usual with him when he gave a sketch of cruelty or knavery, has introduced a gallows. The miserable appearance of the poor animal is not a little increased by the nakedness of his hind quarters; his stump of a tail is so short that it will not even serve as a catch for the crupper. In the cut of the child, unconscious of its danger, pulling at the long tail of a young unbroken colt, the story is most admirably told. The nurse, who is seen engaged with her sweet-heart by the side of the hedge, has left the child to wander at will, and thus expose itself to destruction; while the mother, who has accidentally perceived the danger of her darling, is seen hastening over the stile, regardless of the steps, in an agony of fear. The backward glance of the horse's eye, and the heel raised ready to strike, most forcibly suggest the danger to which the unthinking infant is exposed.

“The sentiment also which another cut displays is the true offspring of genius. Near to a ruined cottage, while all around is covered with snow, a lean and hungry ewe is seen nibbling at an old broom, while her young and weakly lamb is sucking her milkless teats. Such a picture of animal want, conceived with so much feeling, and so well expressed, has perhaps never been represented by any artist, except Bewick.

“The Tail-pieces, however, in the first edition of the ‘Birds’ are, taken altogether, the best that are to be found in any of Bewick’s works. The head-piece at the commencement of the introduction presents an excellent view of a farmyard. Everything is true to nature: the birds assembled round the old woman seen winnowing corn are, though on a small scale, represented with the greatest fidelity; even among the smallest, the wagtail can be distinguished from the sparrow. The dog, feeling no interest in the business, is seen quietly resting on the dunghill; but the chuckling of the hens, announcing that something like eating is going forward, has evidently excited the attention of the old sow, and brought her and her litter into the yard in the expectation of getting a share. The season, the latter end of autumn, is indicated by the flight of fieldfares, and the comparatively naked appearance of the trees, and we perceive that it is a clear bright day, from the strong shadow of the ladder projected against the wall, and on the thatched roof of the outhouse. A heron, a crow, and a magpie are perceived nailed against the gable end of the barn; and a couple of pigeons are seen flying above the house. The cut forms at once an interesting picture of country life, and a graphic summary of the contents of the work.

“Among the Tail-pieces drawn and engraved by Bewick himself, in the first edition of the ‘Birds,’ the following appear most deserving of notice. In volume i.: A traveller drinking, supposed to represent a sketch of his own costume when making a tour of the Lakes in 1776; A man watering, in a different sense to the preceding, a very natural, though not a very delicate subject, at p. 42; at p. 62, an old miller, lying asleep behind some bushes; he has evidently been tipsy, and from the date on a stone to the left, we are led to suppose that he has been indulging too freely on the King’s birthday, the 4th of June. Two cows standing in a pool, under the shade of a dyke-back, on a warm day, page 74. In this cut Bewick has introduced a sketch of a magpie chased by a hawk, but saved from the talons of its pursuer by the timely interference of a couple of crows. Winter scene, at page 78 ; some boys have made a large snow-man, which excites the special wonderment of a horse ; and Bewick to give the subject a moral application, has added 'Esto perpetua!' at the bottom of the cut ; the great work of the little men, however they may admire it and wish for its endurance, will be dissolved on the first thaw. At page 97 the appearance of mist and rain is well expressed ; and in the cut of a poacher tracking a hare, the snow is no less naturally represented. At page 157, a man riding with a 'howdy' behind him, part of the cut appears covered with a leaf. Bewick once being asked the meaning of this, said that 'it was done to indicate that the scene which was to follow required to be concealed.' At page 194 we perceive a full-fed old churl hanging his cat ; at page 226, a hen attacking a dog ; and at page 281, two cocks fighting : all three excellent of their kind.

“ Bewick's humour occasionally verges on positive indelicacy ; and a very glaring instance of it presents itself in the Tail-piece of the first edition of the 'Birds,' vol. 1, p. 285. After the work was printed off Bewick became aware that the nakedness of a prominent part of his subject required to be covered, and one of his apprentices was employed to blacken the copies over with ink. In this state are the impressions of this vignette, in the first edition ; the colouring matter, however, is not so dense as to hinder the cut from being almost, if not altogether, as intelligible as it was before its application. In the next edition a plug was inserted in the block, and the representation of two bars of wood engraved upon it, to hide the offensive part. The cut, however, even thus amended, is still extremely indelicate.

“ The head-piece to the contents presents an excellent sketch of an old man going to market on a windy and rainy day. The old horse on which he is mounted has become restive, and the rider has both broken his stick and lost his hat. The horse seems determined not to move till it suits his own pleasure ; and it is evident the old man dare not get down to recover his hat ; for, should he do so, encumbered as he is with a heavy basket over his left arm and an egg pannier slung over his shoulder, he will not be able to remount."

The following are perhaps the principal among the multitude of exquisite tail-pieces in the first edition of the second volume of the 'Birds' (1804). Boys sailing boats, frontispiece. Recognition, page v. Crossing a stream, page 3. The Broken Branch, page 31. A Churchyard, page 166. Geese going home, page 271. Boys riding on tombstones, page 304. Boys flying a kite, page 9. Evading the toll, page 173. Ruminating, page 337. The inimitable Fishing Scenes, pp. 18, 23, 41, 46, 50, 52, 151, 370. Shooting Scenes, pp. 58, 82, 200, 319. Sea Side Sketches, pp. xx, 6, 123, 125, 136, 138, 144, 156, 161, 182, 188, 215, 217, 230, 238, 240, 245, 359, 366, 400. And not less beautiful are the following. A sportsman, with a gun at his back, crossing a stream on long stilts, page 5. An old wooden-legged beggar gnawing a bone near the entrance to a gentleman's house, and a dog beside him, eagerly watching for the reversion, page 27. A dog with a kettle tied to his tail, pursued by boys ; a great hulking fellow, evidently a blacksmith, standing with folded arms enjoying the sport, page 56. A man crossing a frozen stream, with a branch of a tree between his legs, to support him, should the ice happen to break, page 85. A monkey basting a goose that is seen roasting, page 263. An old woman with a pitcher, driving away some geese from a well, page 291. An old beggar-woman assailed by a gander, page 313. The mention of each of these inimitable vignettes will recall most pleasant remembrances to the admirer of the wonderful artist who produced them.

(162.) 150. Morning's Amusement; or, Tales of Animals. In Two Volumes. By Mrs. C. Mathews. Volume I.

York: Printed by and for T. Wilson and R. Spence, High-Ousegate. 1801. (Price One Shilling.)

I am not aware that a second volume of this work was ever published. Volume 1 consists of 108 pages 18mo, illustrated with 14 wood engravings. The cuts are Bewick's early productions, for children's books printed in Newcastle. They were done for Saint, whose successors sold them, with a great number of other cuts, to Wilson and Spence, of York. These printers used them to illustrate their publications, many of which will be found in this Collection.

In its original boards.

(163.) 151. 1. A Short Treatise on that Useful Invention called The Sportsman's Friend; or, The Farmer's Footman. By a Gentleman Farmer, of Northumberland. With Figures of the Instrument and its Use, Engraved on Wood, by Thomas Bewick, from the Paintings of Joseph Atkinson, Cattle-Painter, in Newcastle. Dedicated, with Submission, to that highly respectable Body, the Board of Agriculture of Great-Britain.

Newcastle : Printed by Edward Walker, Pilgrim-Street. Sold by R. Faulder, Bond-Street, London, and all other Booksellers. [n. d. 1801.]

12mo. Pp. xi, 24. With two very beautiful engravings on wood, and an etching on copper, by Thomas Bewick.

A very fine copy, in a paper cover, uncut.

This work was written by Henry Utrick Reay, Esq., of Killingworth, near Newcastle, and was published in June, 1801. Very few copies were printed, and fewer still were published, which are now of great rarity.

“The ‘Sportsman’s Friend,’ with three cuts by Thomas Bewick in his best and boldest style, was written in 1801, by Henry Utrick Reay, Esq., of Killingworth, near Newcastle, who was at great expense in getting it up; but, as the ‘invention’ was laughed at, he withdrew it from public sale when very few had been sold, and, I believe, destroyed nearly all the copies. Mr. Reay was a patron of the famous Stubbs, and had several of his horses painted by him. Mr. Reay was a little slender man, and rode nothing but ponies. The black pony, the bay, and the white were all painted by Stubbs, and from these paintings our ‘Newcastle Atkinson’ reduced the drawings for the engraver. In the course of my life, three or four copies of the ‘Sportsman’s Friend’ have passed through my hands, with only two cuts; which I account for by the parties taking out the Black Pony to frame, it having so much the character of Bewick’s peculiar style about it. Mr. Reay was a great landowner, and one of our largest coalowners; and had filled the office of High Sheriff for the County of Northumberland. He was a good, kind, charitable man, and did everything in his own way; the poor getting a good share of the thousands a year he ‘tossed away.’”

“The last copy I had of the ‘Sportsman’s Friend’ was in August, 1845, which had only two cuts, was much soiled and damaged, and was sold the first day after my Catalogue was published; and I am quite sure I had twenty or more orders for it afterwards.” Mr. W. Garret, 1849.

(164.) 151. 2. Another very fine copy, in a paper cover, uncut.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc., for some wonderfully fine Proofs of the Cuts, and remarks on the same.]

(165.) 152. An Impartial History of the Town and County of Newcastle upon Tyne and its Vicinity, comprehending an Account of its Origin, Population, Coal, Coasting, & Foreign Trade, together with An accurate Description of all its Public Buildings, Manufactories, Coal Works, &c.

Newcastle upon Tyne Printed by & for Vint & Anderson, in the Side. 1801.

8vo. Pp. viii, 612. The title-page, engraved on copper, with a view of a Coal Mine, and Newcastle in the distance, is so exactly similar to the acknowledged book-plates on the same material by Thomas Bewick, that I have no hesitation in attributing it to him.

Good copy, in half-calf.

(166.) 153. The Beauties of Wiltshire, Displayed in Statistical, Historical, and Descriptive Sketches: Interspersed with Anecdotes of the Arts. [By John Britton.]

In its original boards.

(189.) 175. Scenes of Youth; or Rural Recollections; with other Poems. By William Holloway.

London: Printed for Vernor and Hood, Poultry; and Longman and Rees, Paternoster Row; By James Swan, Angel Street, Newgate Street. 1803.

12mo. Pp. vi, 160. It is with great unwillingness that I give this volume, together with Nos. (122.), (155.), (173.), (176.), (182.), (183.), and (194.) a place in the present Catalogue. I insert them under protest. The engravings are by no means destitute of ability, but I apprehend that their claim to be considered the works of Thomas Bewick, although advanced for them by many, cannot be substantiated.

A fine copy, in its original boards, and uncut.

(190.) 176. The Pleasing Moralist, or Young Gentlemen and Ladies Preceptor. To which are added Advice to a Young Man on his Entrance into the World. By Solomon Winlove, Esq. With Cuts by Bewick.

V. Hall, Worcester ; W.

Curson, Exeter ; W. Felton, Ludlow ; W. Sheardown, Doncaster ; and G. Calladine, Leicester. 1805.

8vo. Pp. iv, 510. With engravings by Thomas Bewick, of stock, implements, etc.

A fine copy, in half-russia.

(199.) 185. The Literary Cabinet, or Mental Repository ; Consisting of Historical, Fugitive, and Sentimental Pieces, Moral Tales and Reflections, &c.

Sunderland : Printed by Summers and Young, High Street. 1805.

12mo. Pp. 481. With vignettes by Thomas Bewick.

Good copy, in calf.

(200.) 186. Wood Engravings from the Hive of Ancient and Modern Literature. By T. Bewick and L. Clennell.

Newcastle : Printed by S. Hodgson. 1805.

8vo. It consists of a title and twelve leaves. The Hive occupies the former, and each of the latter has two cuts.

Good copy, in paper cover. From the late Mr. William Yarrell.

(201.) 187. Beauties of Natural History ; Selected from Buffon's History of Quadrupeds ; With cuts by Bewick.

London : Published and Sold by the Booksellers ; By Wilson and Spence, York ; and J. Catnach, Printer, Alnwick. (Price 1s. 6d. sewed, or 2s. half-bound.)

[n. d. 1805 ?]

12mo. Pp. 92. With 37 engravings, early productions of Bewick, and most of them already used in similar publications, by Saint, of Newcastle. A reprint of No. (45.).

Good copy, in boards.

(202.) 188. The Man of Feeling. A New Edition. Newcastle on Tyne: Printed and Sold by J. Mitchell, Dean-Street. 1805.

12mo. Pp. vi, 158. With a woodcut frontispiece and thirteen vignettes by Thomas Bewick, which had appeared in other works.

(203.) 189. The Seasons, By J. Thomson. Embellished with Engravings on Wood By Bewick, From Thurston's Designs.

London: Printed for James Wallis, Paternoster-Row, By T. Bensley, Bolt Court, Fleet Street, 1805.

Royal 8vo. Pp. xx, 286, 6. This is very different from the following article, with a different title, and differently paged Life of the Poet. It is, also, a much finer book, printed on very thick paper, and with remarkably fine impressions of the cuts. A gentleman, in whose library is a similar volume, considered his copy unique until he saw that which is here described. Mine is in first-rate condition, in gilt and marbled calf.

(204.) 190. The Seasons, By James Thomson: with his Life by Samuel Johnson, LL.D., and a Complete Glossary and Index. Embellished with Engravings on Wood, By Bewick, From Thurston's Designs.

Good copy, in half-morocco.

(206.) 192. Robin Hood's Garland; Being a Complete History of all the Notable Exploits performed by him and his Merry Men. In which is given A Preface; containing a more full and particular Account of his Birth, &c., than any hitherto published.

York: Printed by and for T. Wilson, and R. Spence, High Ousegate. 1805.

12mo. Pp. iv, 106. With early cuts, some of which are by Thomas Bewick.
Good copy, in boards.

(207.) 193. Holy Bible. The Old and New Testaments, with the Apocrypha. With Notes, &c. By the Rev. Mr. Ostervald.

Newcastle upon Tyne: Printed by J. Thompson, at the Advertiser Office, Flesh Market. MDCCCVI.

Folio. With many full-page copper-plate engravings signed by Thomas Bewick and R. Beilby, which do not, however, increase the reputation of either of the artists.
Good copy, in calf.

(208.) 194. The Antiquities of the Anglo-Saxon Church. By the Rev. John Lingard.

Newcastle: Printed by Edward Walker. Sold by Keating, Brown, and Keating, London. 1806.

2 vols. 8vo. Vol. I. pp. xiv, 360; Vol. II. pp. viii, 382. With a cut on the title of the first volume, representing St. Augustine preaching to King Ethelbert, and another on that of the second, representing Coiffi hurling his spear at the idol. The original wood-block of the former beautiful cut is in my possession.

[See the Divisions "Wood-Blocks," and "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc.]

Good copy, in half-morocco.

(209.) 195. The Hive of Ancient and Modern Literature: A Collection of Essays, Narratives, Allegories, and Instructive Compositions. Selected by the late Sol. Hodgson. The Third Edition, Embellished with a Number of Engravings on Wood, by T. Bewick and L. Clennell, both of Newcastle.

18mo. With frontispiece by Thomas Bewick, and other cuts by various engravers.

Good copy, in its original boards.

(215.) 201. 1. The Fables of Mr. John Gay. Complete in Two Parts. With Cuts by T. Bewick, of Newcastle.

York : Printed by and for T. Wilson and R. Spence. 1806.

12mo. Pp. 252. A reprint of the edition of 1779, with the same and some additional cuts by Thomas Bewick.

[See among the "Original Drawings" for that of one of the latter, which occurs at page 69.]

Fine copy, in calf.

(216.) 201. 2. Another fine copy, in calf.

(217.) 202. The Hermit of Warkworth. A Northumberland Ballad. In three Fits. By Dr. Thos. Percy, Bishop of Dromore. With Designs by Mr. Craig : and Engraved on Wood by Mr. Bewick.

Alnwick : Printed and Sold by J. Catnach. Sold by Lackington, Allan, and Co., London : Constable, and Co. Edinburgh : and Hodgson, Newcastle. 1806.

12mo. Pp. xiv, 90. With 12 cuts. On the cover is also a very fine cut of the Arms of the Duke of Northumberland, at the head of an advertisement of "The Descriptions of Alnwick and Warkworth Castles," etc.

In its original boards, and uncut.

(218.) 203. 1. The Picture of Newcastle Upon Tyne : Containing A Guide to the Town & Neighbourhood, an Account of the Roman Wall, and a Description of The Coal Mines. Illustrated by a Map of the Coal District, and a Plan of Newcastle.

Newcastle : Printed by and for D. Akenhead and Sons ; And Sold by them and all other Booksellers. [n. d. 1807.]

Crown 8vo. Pp. vi, 186. With a cut of the Tyne and distant Newcastle by Thomas Bewick on the title.

A presentation copy, in its original boards, and uncut, from the author, the Rev. J. Hodgson, Author of the History of Northumberland. "Mr. Hodgson begs Mr. Clementson's acceptance of this book. 10 Feby., 1807."

(219.) 203. 2. Another copy, in boards and uncut.

This is identical with the former, save in the Advertisement, which, although bearing the same date, is considerably shorter.

(220.) 204. Memoirs of John Lord de Joinville, Grand Seneschal of Champagne, Written by Himself; Containing a History of Part of the Life of Louis IX., King of France, surnamed Saint Louis, [etc.] The whole translated by Thomas Johnes, Esq.

At the Hafod Press, By James Henderson. MDCCCVII.

(221.) 205. The Hermit of Warkworth. A Northumbrian Ballad In three Fits. By Dr. Thos. Percy, Bishop of Dromore. With Designs by Mr. Craig : and Engraved on Wood by Mr. Bewick. Second Edition.

Alnwick : Printed and Sold by J. Catnach. Sold by Wilson and Spence, York. 1807.

Royal 8vo. On extra thick paper, on which a few copies only were done, to match with some of Bewick's other works. Pp. xiv, 182. With 13 cuts. At the end of the Poem are a Postscript, A Description of the Hermitage of Warkworth, Warkworth Castle, Alnwick Castle, Alnwick Abbey, and A Descriptive Ride in Hulne Park.

The original wood-blocks are in my possession [See the Division "Wood-Blocks"], and I have been told by one of Davison's pressmen, then at work for Catnach, that they were used for this edition alone. The other editions were printed from stereotypes, as was Catnach and Davison's constant practice. They rarely or never printed from their blocks, but from stereotypes taken from them. I have seen the whole of this popular book, engravings and letterpress, on a set of stereotype plates which came from Davison's printing-office.

A very fine copy, in half morocco, uncut.

[See the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books," etc.]

(222.) 206. Virgil Travestie, a Mock Poem, on the First and Fourth Books of Virgil's Æneis, in English Burlesque. By Charles Cotton, Esq. The Fourteenth Edition.

London: Printed for T. Cadell and W. Davies, Strand. By J. M'Creery, Black-Horse-Court, Fleet-Street. 1810.

Small 8vo. 2 vols. At page 25 of Vol. I. is a portrait of Cunningham, the player. Of this it is said, "The Editor, on his way to Edinburgh, had an interview with the celebrated Bewick, of Newcastle, who favoured him with the annexed interesting Portrait of Cunningham, which he drew two days before the Poet's death. . . . He walked after the Poet in the streets of Newcastle, stopped, loitered behind, repassed him; and in this manner, unobserved by the poor dying Bard, obtained the sketch which the Editor now presents to the public."

Fine copy, in purple calf.

(262.) 246. A Memoir of the Rev. John Farrer, Incumbent of Witton le Wear.

London: Printed by Law and Gilbert. [etc.] 1811.

(295.) 273. 2. Another copy.

(296.) 274. 1. A Natural History of Foreign Birds.
Thirty-Four Engravings on Wood.

Alnwick : Printed and Sold Wholesale and Retail
By W. Davison. [n. d.]

18mo. Pp. 36. With 36 cuts.

(297.) 274. 2. Another copy.

I have inserted the publications of Davison in the present Catalogue from the fact that it is indisputable that many of the engravings which embellish them not only came out of Bewick's workshop, but received at least their final touches from his own hand. Many were, doubtless, not so dignified, but from a large number the honour cannot be withheld.

“As to Davison's ‘Natural History,’ I was told by Davison himself that many of the cuts were engraved by Bewick; and indeed, you will find the following father themselves,—the Lion, Tiger, Panther, Ass, Dog, etc. etc.,—although they were engraved at a very low figure. This set is extremely desirable to the Bewick Collector; as the Fishes, Reptiles, and Insects fill up a gap in Bewick's works.” The late Mr. W. Garret.

“Davison’s ‘Natural History’ was done about 1814; and valuable as containing the Fishes, etc. It is a complete and clean set, very seldom to be met with.” The same.

(298.) 275. New Specimen of Cast-Metal Ornaments and Wood Types, Sold by W. Davison, Alnwick.

4to. With impressions of 1100 Cast Ornaments, and Wood Blocks, many of the latter executed by Thomas Bewick for the Alnwick publisher, and used by him in his numerous works. The volume is of the greatest interest and utility, as it embraces a series of cuts dispersed, as the present Collection shows, among a considerable number of publications, and enables the Collector to detect the hand of the Artist in many of his less elaborated productions.

“W. Davison, of Alnwick, Publisher and Bookseller, printed a number of books which were illustrated with woodcuts by the celebrated Bewick and others. He stated to me that he had paid Thomas Bewick upwards of five hundred pounds for the various Woodcut Blocks, used in illustrating his publications. With a view of disposing of his Blocks, he struck off a very few copies of this Work, as specimens; but, changing his mind as to their disposal, he suppressed the Work, which is very scarce, in consequence of his using up the copies as waste.” MS. note on the fly-leaf.

A more correct account, I believe, is that the volume was done as an Advertisement for the sale of his stereotypes, of which he had several taken from most of the blocks, and not of the blocks themselves. Since his death many of his best blocks, which he hardly ever permitted to be used, have come into my possession (see the Division “Wood-Blocks”), and the stereotype copies are widely diffused among the printers of the North of England.

(299.) 276. Dr. Goldsmith’s Abridgment of his History of England. From the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to the Death of George II. To which is added a very extensive and faithful Continuation from that period to the Peace of June, 1814, by an eminent Historian. Ornamented with a Frontispiece, & with Heads by Bewick.

Gainsborough : Printed by and for Henry Mozley.

12mo. With heads of a much larger size and better execution than those in the editions of Dr. Goldsmith's 'History of England' previously described.

Good copy, in old calf.

I have seen another edition of the same book, differing only in the history being brought down to "March, 1816," and with the imprint "Derby : Printed by and for Henry Mozley, Brook Street. 1816."

(300.) 277. The Works of Robert Burns ; with an Account of his Life, and a Criticism on his Writings. To which are prefixed, Some Observations on the Character and Condition of the Scottish Peasantry. The Eighth Edition. To which are now added, The Reliques of Robert Burns. In Five Volumes.

London : Printed for T. Cadell and W. Davies, Strand ; and W. Creech, at Edinburgh. 1814.

12mo. With Thomas Bewick's cuts used in other editions. [See No. (230.).]

Good copy, in boards.

(301.) 278. Original Miscellaneous Poetry, on Different Incidents. By Veterinary, Doctor Marshall, South-Street, Durham.

Barnard-Castle ; Printed by John Soulby, And sold by Crosby and Co., Stationer's-Court, London ; Mun-dell and Stevenson, Edinburgh; Fauer, Dublin; and by all the Booksellers, in the United Kingdom.

12mo. Pp. 36. With early cuts by Thomas Bewick.

Good copy, in its original cover. From the late Mr. John Bell.

(302.) 279. Rhymes of Northern Bards; Being a Curious Collection of Old and New Songs and Poems, Peculiar to the Counties of Newcastle upon Tyne, Northumberland, and Durham.

Newcastle upon Tyne: Printed for John Bell, by M. Angus & Son, and sold by them, and other Booksellers in Town. [1812.]

12mo. With the beautiful cut of the Newcastle Arms, by Thomas Bewick, similar to that in No. (11), etc., on the title page.

“On the 5th of August, 1812, the ‘Rhymes of Northern Bards’ was published. There were 392 on ordinary paper, and 8 copies on writing medium paper. Of the ordinary paper there were 50 copies hot-pressed. 300 of them had an index, which the remainder had not. From the many copies which I have seen with leaves or sheets taken out, I am positive that were all the copies extant collected together, they would not amount to near one-third of the number printed.” MS. note by Mr. John Bell, from whom it was obtained.

Fine copy, in its original paper cover.

(303.) 280. A Right Merry Garland of Northumberland Heroes.

Printed for J. Bell, on the Quay, Newcastle upon Tyne. MDCCCXIV.

12mo. With a facsimile of an old woodcut, said to be by Thomas Bewick.

“This was printed on the 30th of April, 1814. There were 480 copies on common paper, 12 copies on superfine drawing paper, and 24 copies on fine laid paper. Most of these have ceased to exist." MS. note by Mr. John Bell, from whom it was obtained.

Fine copy, in its original paper cover.

(304.) 281. Figures in Rhymes; or, Metrical Computations. Addressed to Northumbrians. By H. R.

Printed for J. Bell, on the Quay, Newcastle upon Tyne. MDCCCXIV.

12mo. Pp. xvi. With three cuts, said to be by Thomas Bewick.

"On the 30th of July, 1814, there were printed of the 'Figures in Rhymes' 512 copies on writing pot paper, 8vo, and 12 copies on medium drawing paper, 8vo. These, like the former, have become invisible. It was a new work, written by Henry Robson, a journeyman printer in Newcastle." MS. note by the late Mr. John Bell, the publisher, from whom it was obtained.

Fine copy, in its original paper cover.

(305.) 282. The Poetical Works of Robert Ferguson, with his Life. Engravings on Wood by Bewick.

18mo. Pp. vi, 72. With the 16 cuts previously used.

In its original paper cover.

(309.) 285. The Youngster's Diary; or, Youth's Remembrancer of Natural Events, for Every Month in the Year.

Alnwick: Printed and Sold Wholesale and Retail By W. Davison. [n. d.]

12mo. Pp. 36. With 35 cuts, used by Davison in other books.

In its original paper cover.

(310.) 286. Davison's Halfpenny Books.

Alnwick: Printed by W. Davison, Bondgate Street. [n. d.]

The cuts in these little publications are for the most part the same which were used by Davison in the other and more important works which issued from his press. The volumes are in 32mo, and in typographical excellence are far in advance of all other children's books of the period of their publication with which I am acquainted. The following are specially worthy of mention:—

1. History of John Steady and Edward Careless.

2. History of Miss Woodville.
3. The Parent's Gift.
4. The Little Aviary.
5. History of Giles Thoughtless.
6. The Little Menagerie ; or, A History of Quadrupeds.
7. The Death of Lucy Gray.
8. The Adventures of Charles Wilson.
9. The Two Cousins ; or, The Reward of Education.
10. The Beggar and his Ass.
11. Pretty Lessons.
12. The Happy Cottager.
13. Whittington and his Cat.
14. History of Crazy Jane.
15. Poetry for Children.
16. The Child's Toy-Book.
17. My Father.
18. Youthful Games and Amusements.
19. The Shipwrecked Sailor Boy.

I possess others of the series, but cannot attribute their illustrations to either of the Bewicks.

(311.) 287. The Valentine's Gift ; or, a Plan to enable Children of all Denominations to behave with Honour, Integrity, and Humanity. To which is added, Some account of Old Zigzag, and of the Horn which he used to understand the Language of Birds, Beasts, Fishes, and Insects.

Glasgow : Published and Sold by J. Lumsden & Son. Price Sixpence. [n. d.]

18mo. Pp. 67. With 13 cuts, some of which may be by John Bewick. Several, and perhaps all, are by Austin.

In its original paper cover.

The same firm published a number of similar books about the same time. Among them I possess the following, with cuts which are believed to be by Thomas and John Bewick. I have others, in which they certainly had no hand.

(312.) 288. The History of Little King Pippin; with An Account of the melancholy death of Four Naughty Boys, who were devoured by Wild Beasts; and The Wonderful Delivery of Master Harry Harmless, by a Little White Horse.

Glasgow: Published by J. Lumsden & Son. 1814.

32mo. Pp. 47. With a frontispiece and many early cuts, some of which, as that of the Lion, at p. 29, are by Thomas Bewick.

Glasgow, Published & Sold, Wholesale, by Lumsden & Son. Price Twopence. [n. d.]

32mo. With 27 very pretty oval cuts, some of them, as that of the Weathercock above the Exchange at Newcastle with the Steeple of St. Nicholas in the distance, clearly by Thomas Bewick.

In its original paper cover.

(314.) 290. The Triumph of Goodnature, exhibited in the History of Master Harry Fairborn, and Master Truworth. Interspersed with Tales and Fables. Embellished with Elegant Cuts.

Glasgow: Published and Sold by J. Lumsden & Son. Price Sixpence. [n. d.]

Glasgow: Sold by J. Lumsden & Son. (Price Twopence.) [n. d.]

18mo. Pp. 47. With three cuts, by Thomas Bewick.

In its original paper cover.

(319.) 294. Cottage Tales for Little People; Or, the Amusing Repository for all Good Boys and Girls.

Glasgow : Published and Sold Wholesale, By Lumsden & Son, (price Twopence.) [n. d.]

24mo. Pp. 32. With nine cuts.

In its original paper cover.

(320.) 295. 1. Divine Songs, In Easy Language, for the Use of Children. By I. Watts, D.D.

Glasgow : Published by J. Lumsden & Son. 1814.

18mo. Pp. 31. With a frontispiece and nine cuts, including two on the cover. From 'Ross's Juvenile Library.'

In its original paper cover.

(321.) 295. 2. Another copy.

(322.) 296. Fairy Tales of Past Times, from Mother Goose.

Glasgow : Published by J. Lumsden & Son. 1814.

32mo. Pp. 47. With eleven clever cuts. From 'Ross's Juvenile Library.'

In its original paper cover.

(323.) 297. 1. Tommy Thumb's Song-Book, for all Little Masters and Misses. To be Sung to them by their Nurses till they can sing them themselves. By Nurse Lovechild. To which is prefixed A Letter from a Lady on Nursing.

In its original paper cover.

(324.) 297. 2. Another copy, dated 1815.

In its original paper cover.

(325.) 297. 3. Another copy.

(326.) 298. 1. The Adventures of Captain Gulliver, in a Voyage to Lilliput.

Edinburgh: Printed and Published by G. Ross. 1814.

18mo. Pp. 47. With a frontispiece and twelve cuts. From 'Ross's Juvenile Library.'

In its original paper cover.

(327.) 298. 2. Another copy.

(328.) 299. Familiar Fables in Verse: A few of those Fables of Æsop, Whose Morals are clear, and adapted to impress the Infant Mind.

Edinburgh: Published by Oliver & Boyd, Netherbow. Price Sixpence. [n. d.]

12mo. Pp. 47. With a frontispiece and nineteen cuts. The former appears to be by Thomas Bewick, but I do not think that either he or John Bewick had a hand in the other cuts.

In its original paper cover.

(329.) 300. The Painters' Budget, with Chit Chat over his Pictures, for the Use of Children.

Printed by W. Darton, Jun., 58, Holborn-Hill, London. [n. d.]

Square 32mo. Pp. 127. With 60 cuts, many of which are apparently by Thomas Bewick.

In its original paper cover.

(330.) 301. The Northumberland and Newcastle Upon Tyne Pitt Club, MDCCCXV—MDCCCXXIII.

An 8vo volume, containing the various Lists of the Officers and Members of the Club, with the Commemorations of the great Statesman's Birthday at the Assembly Rooms, Newcastle upon Tyne, between the years above mentioned, both inclusive.

Annexed to these are a number of newspaper cuttings relative to the Club, mounted on 8vo paper, together with the Commemoration of the same Anniversary at Merchant Tailors Hall and other places. The volume was obtained from the late Mr. John Bell.

8vo. With the Arms of the Club, by Thomas Bewick, on the title of each Report.

The original wood-block is in my possession.

Printed for John Bell, on the Quay, Newcastle, MDCCCXVI.

8vo. Pp. 16. With four engravings by Thomas Bewick.

“A demy 8vo of 16 pages, very closely printed. It was published on the 11th of January, 1816, by J. Bell, and was printed by S. Hodgson. The number printed were, 118 copies on a good wove printing demy, and 24 on writing demy. These last had an extra leaf, containing an account of the death of Mr. Thomas Thompson, timber merchant, who lost his life from over-exertion in saving his timber in the flood. There are four woodcuts in this work, as head or tail pieces, one of which, a view of Newcastle, at the beginning of the letter-press, is a curiosity in the annals of wood-engraving. It had been used for a number of years at the head of the Newcastle news in the 'Chronicle' Newspaper, and had struck off nearly one million and a half of impressions, and appears to be little or no worse. It was cut by Thomas Bewick." MS. note by the late Mr. John Bell, the publisher.

Very fine copy, ruled with red lines, in half-russia.

"To William Garret, from the editor, J. B. A fine Paper Copy of which only twenty-four were printed, and one hundred and eighteen copies common paper. J. Bell." MS. note on back of title.

Newcastle Reprints.

In the year 1817 an Association was formed in Newcastle, for the reprinting of scarce tracts relating to the Northern Counties ; and between that and the year 1845 a number of publications appeared, printed on cream-laid paper, crown 8vo, many of them illustrated with one or more woodcuts by Thomas Bewick, some of which are among the happiest efforts of his genius. The number of the cuts themselves is small, as most of them, being executed for the various editors, and containing their armorial bearings, were used repeatedly in the series. I have the following articles, which, I believe, contain all the cuts furnished by Thomas Bewick, and in most cases very frequently employed.

(351.) 321. Cheviot: A Poetical Fragment. By R. W.

Newcastle upon Tyne: Printed by S. Hodgson, Union-Street. MDCCCXVII.

Imperial 8vo. Pp. xl, 332.

A splendid copy, in its original boards, and uncut; with proofs of the cuts on India paper, of which only twelve copies were issued.

The publisher, on announcing this work, says, "This is a truly curious and interesting book, containing many of the earliest and most successful efforts of Mr. Bewick's great and powerful genius, even including the identical block of 'The Old Hound,' which obtained for him, in 1775, the premium from the Society of Arts, when he was only twenty-two years of age. It also contains an interesting memoir of Thomas and John Bewick, as well as a descriptive Catalogue of their various publications, and forms 'Vol. I. of Bewick's Works.' "

The Illustrations are those which were formerly published in the edition of the 'Select Fables,' printed in 1784, and other works already noticed; but much altered, and certainly not improved, by Nesbit. The Memoir is short, and the descriptive Catalogue contains only a few of the principal works. The volume was printed on imperial paper at £1. 11s. 6d., on royal at £1. 1s., and on demy at 15s. Twelve copies of the imperial size had India proofs of the cuts, and were sold at £5. 5s. A copy on demy paper is priced by Mr. E. Pearson, 35s.

(429.) 388. Memoirs of the Life and Writings of Luis de Camoens. By John Adamson, F.S.A., London, Edinburgh, and Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

London: Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown. MDCCCXX.

2 vols. Royal 8vo. Vol. I., pp. xiv, 310; Vol. II., pp. 392. The woodcuts are by Thomas Bewick, and among the most important are the view of the Grotto of Camoens, vol. i. p. 149; and the facsimiles of the portraits of Fr. de Almeida and G. de Noronha, from Manoel de Faria e Souza's edition of the 'Lusiad,' 1639, vol. ii. pp. 318, 319. The blocks were destroyed by fire at the burning of Mr. Adamson's library, 21 April, 1849.

Very fine copy, in olive morocco; a gift to "Mr. John Bell, From the Author." Mr. Bell has added a few notes in manuscript, among which is the following in illustration of Bewick's cut of the Medal of Camoens at the end of the Preface:—

"Mr. Adamson, who wished to make the Life of Camoens as worthy of his favourite Author as possible, got the celebrated Engraver on Wood, Thomas Bewick, to make a woodcut of the Poet's Medal. In cutting the word EXCVDI, Bewick put the thick stroke of one of the letters x, of which there were three in the medal, on the wrong side of the letter. Much grieved at the mistake, Mr. Adamson went to expostulate with the artist, who, coolly looking at the impression, and without being in the least put out of his way, replied 'Well, Mr. Adamson, it's still an x'.'

London : Nichols, and Baldwin & Cradock. 1834.

8vo. Pp. viii, 84. This volume, which was a compilation of Sir Cuthbert Sharp and of which only 150 copies were printed, contains several engravings by Thomas Bewick, together with some by Green and others. The latter were done for Mr. Surtees, who "took a lively and active interest in the progress" of the work, and are used in his 'History of Durham.'

The present was the author's own interleaved copy, and is filled with very interesting manuscript additions and corrections for a new edition. There are also several printed and manuscript insertions, criticisms of the work, etc. Among them is the following autograph note, which commemorates the completion of the Sunderland printers' labours, and is a specimen of the epistolary style which I humbly offer to my friends the London typos as an appeal which no author could possibly resist :—

“ Monday evening,

“ March 24th, 34.

“ The Compositors, etc., of Mr. Marwood & Co.'s establishment beg with the utmost deference and respect to intimate to Sir Cuthbert Sharp that it is a usage, sanctioned by immemorial prescription, to confer a gratuity on the poor typos on the completion of any work. The ‘Bishoprick Garland’ has just been finished; and as the object of the erudite author of that work is to perpetuate the traditions, usages, and local metrical fragments & remains of this county, ‘which are fast falling into oblivion,’ the undersigned trusts that he will, by his example on this occasion, evince a like anxiety to keep up the admirable custom, rendered venerable by antiquity, of presenting the compositors of this establishment with such a gratuity as his own liberality may suggest.

“ And the Printers’ Devil will ever pray, &c.,

“ JUGGY LAVERY, Printers’ Devil,

“ His Mark, +.”

London: Henry G. Bohn, York Street, Covent Garden. 1850.

This book finds a place in the present Collection from the fact of its showing the last use of a portion of the cuts engraved by Bewick, for Saint, of Newcastle. From his office, as I have already shown, they passed to Messrs. Wilson and Spence, of York, from them to Mr. Charnley, of Newcastle, and from him, along with the cuts of the 'Select Fables,' to Mr. Bohn. They have been retouched, and intermingled with the more modern illustrations named on the title, produce a pleasing and instructive volume.

(518.) 468. 1. A Descriptive and Critical Catalogue of Works, illustrated by Thomas and John Bewick, Wood Engravers, of Newcastle upon Tyne; with an Appendix of their Miscellaneous Engravings, Brief Sketches of their Lives, and Notices of the Pupils of Thomas Bewick.

4to. Pp. xxx, 16, xxiv, 48, 32. With Mr. Fenwick's cut on the title.

Good copy, in its original boards.

525. 472. Catalogue of an Extensive and Valuable Stock of Books, Stationery, Woodcuts, Copper Plates, Stereotype Plates, and Bookbinding and Printing Materials, which will be sold by Auction, [etc.]

Newcastle : [n. d.]

8vo. With impressions of some of the cuts offered for sale.

This was the Sale Catalogue of the late Mr. W. Davison, publisher, of Alnwick, whose various publications figure so largely in this Collection. His best blocks became my property, and his stereotype copies are to be found in many printing offices of the northern counties. See No. (298.).

(526.) 473. Wood Engravings of Land and Water Birds. By Thomas Bewick. Never Before Published. Printed and Published by J. J. Lynch, Mosley Street, Newcastle-upon-Tyne. August, 1860.

4to. The cuts are those formerly possessed by Davison, and used in his 'British Land and Water Birds.'

Good copy, in its original cloth boards,

Seven sets were taken off on India paper, one of which will be found in the Division "Proofs of Illustrations to Books, etc."

(527.) 474. Specimens of Early Wood Engraving: Being Impressions of Wood-cuts in the Possession of the Publisher.

Newcastle-upon-Tyne: William Dodd, No. 5, Bigg Market. 1862.

4to. Only 100 copies printed. A series of ancient woodcuts used in Newcastle broadsides, ballads, etc. At the end of the volume are "impressions from a few blocks which received their last touches from" Thomas Bewick's "unrivalled hand."

Crown 8vo. Pp. xv, 312. With cut of the Arms of Newcastle, by Thomas Bewick, at the head of the Dedication.

Good copy, in half-morocco.

PROOFS, ETC. OF THE CUTS
IN
THE 'HISTORY OF QUADRUPEDS.'

THE appearance of the cuts in the books and pamphlets illustrated by Thomas Bewick is oftentimes by no means favourable. Of this fact he was himself fully aware, and in the case of several of his more important works he occasionally issued, as the reader must have already noticed, the engravings alone, unaccompanied by letter-press. From the exclusive care devoted to them, these impressions are in general very much superior to those which appear with accompanying type.

In the latter part of his life, a few very beautiful sets of the Illustrations of the 'Quadrupeds' and 'British Birds' were taken off on White India Paper. These, which are now of great rarity, exhibit the cuts under an aspect of excellence unimaginal by those who are familiar only with the impressions which occur in the published volumes.

There exist also a few precious examples superior even to those which I have just described. Bewick was in the habit of collecting the inside wrappers of tea-chests, and of proving his blocks on the "Yellow China Paper" thus obtained. Most lovely were the results in this way produced. The bold foregrounds and delicate distances are represented in their exact gradations, but with equal distinctness, whilst every minute detail of hair, feather, or leaf engraved on the block is exquisitely rendered in the impression. It is, indeed, impossible to conceive more beautiful specimens of the engraver's art than those presented by these matchless examples. Most of those in my possession were obtained during the last twenty years of his life from Mr. W. Garret, whose opportunities of obtaining these and similar rarities were such as were enjoyed by no other individual, and whose excellent use of which facilities these pages most abundantly testify.

The present Division will be found to contain several complete sets of the engravings of the 'Quadrupeds' on white India paper, and a goodly number of impressions on yellow China paper, together with some very early and curious examples on drawing-paper, proof pages from various editions of the work, etc. etc.

(531.) 1. 1. Figures and Vignettes in the 'History of Quadrupeds.'

A complete series of 291 brilliant proofs on white India paper, mounted, one on a page, in an imp. 8vo volume of crayon paper, half-bound in morocco.

Obtained, many years ago, from Miss Jane Bewick, the artist's daughter, who has written on the original paper wrapper, mounted on the first page,—“1 set of Quadrupeds and Vignettes, examined by J. B. and found perfect in numbers. Feb. 1829. Price £3. 3s.”

A very few of these exquisite proofs were taken, which have since been sold for large sums. A set, erroneously thought by its owner to be unique, was lately offered to me for twenty guineas.

(532.) 1. 2. Figures and Vignettes in the 'History of Quadrupeds.'

Another complete series. Brilliant proofs on white India paper, mounted, several on a page, in an imp. 4to volume of crayon paper, half-bound in russia.

Obtained at the same time from Miss Jane Bewick, whose note, “Perfect Sett. 2. A.,” appears on the wrapper, mounted on the first page of the volume.

(533.) 1. 3. Vignettes in the 'History of Quadrupeds.'

Another complete series of proofs on white India paper, mounted on a small 4to volume of crayon paper, half-bound in morocco.

(534.) 2. 1. A series of ninety-nine engravings of the Quadrupeds, as in the first edition, 1790, taken off as proofs on thick paper.

On this most rare series, Mr. Garret, from whom it was obtained, has supplied the following note :—

“When Bewick first commenced his Quadrupeds, he had determined to take off a few impressions for colouring, on a strong laid paper, not exceeding ten or twelve impressions of each cut; but the labour and expense deterred him from doing all the animals in this manner. They were never sold; and what were done, or at least a few of them, were coloured by the apprentices in his shop for the use of his own children. — once showed me two of the volumes, each containing about twenty cuts, but they were all in tatters from constant use. I tried to get them from her by offering a handsome price, but she said nothing would induce her to part with them. The present is a complete set of these cuts, printed on thick laid paper, as far as they were done. The set I believe to be unique, and of the greatest value, and in fine condition, either for illustrating a first edition of the large paper or mounting in a separate volume. They are just as they came into my possession, without the abstraction of a single leaf. The rarity, and particular circumstance that induced Tommy Bewick to take off a few impressions on thick and sized paper for colouring, for the use of his own children and youngsters of his friends, make them of very great value to the Bewick Collector. . . . All the cuts were not taken off in this manner, and of these not more than twelve copies or so were printed."

The series comprises the following:—

(535.) 2. 2. Another set, in fine condition, uncoloured.

It wants Nos. 30, 85, and 89.

(536.) 2. 3. Another set, in first-rate condition, coloured.

It wants Nos. 87, 88, and 89. Obtained from Mr. W. Garret. "You must indeed treasure this fine clean set of the Quadrupeds; of the existence of which, when I sent you the former, I had not the least suspicion." Mr. W. Garret.

There are two imperfect sets in the British Museum, obtained for Sir Joseph Banks by Mr. Bulmer, who says in a note inserted in the volume, "Many of the impressions are very indifferently printed and much soiled, but they are the best Mr. Bewick, after much search, has been able to obtain."

A series of only seven cuts has been lately sold for a guinea.

(537.) 3. A Series of the Quadrupeds.

These are 203 in number, and are in the state in which they appear in the first edition. The giraffe alone is taken off as a single cut. The rest are printed sometimes two, sometimes three, and in five instances four on a page. They were obtained, some short time before his death, from the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, who stated, in a letter of the 20th November, 1855, that he had possessed the volume which contains them for some years previous to 1809, and considered them and the other contents of the same tome the most precious treasures of his fine collection.

I have it on the authority of the same gentleman, that it is to this identical series that the following note of Mr. G. C. Atkinson was intended to apply :—

“ I extract the following record of one or two rare copies of his Works from John Bell's Catalogue, printed in 1795 :—

“ ‘ A copy of Bewick's Quadrupeds, the cuts only, proof impressions, on wove demy paper ; two, three, and four of the animals on a leaf, and interleaved with writing-paper ; new, half-bound, a unique book, £1. 10s. 6d.’ Atkinson's Sketch of the late T. Bewick, pp. 12, 13.

(538.) 4. 1. Vignette on title. “ Omne bonum de-super.” On a proof title, on paper, of the 4th edition of the Quadrupeds. Newcastle upon Tyne. 1800.

(539.) 4. 2. Another impression. Proof on paper.

(540.) 5. Vignette. Coursing. (p. x, ed. 1820.)
Proof on paper.

(541.) 6. The Race Horse. (p. 4, ed. 1790 ; p. 6,

(588.) 37. 2. Another impression. On white India paper.

(589.) 37. 3. Another. On yellow China paper.

(595.) 42. 2. Another impression. On yellow China paper.

The Dromedary was the first Quadruped engraved by Thomas Bewick for his famous work. It was commenced on the 15th of November, 1785. See Bewick's Memoir, p. 145.

(597.) 44. Vignette. Head of the Hippopotamus. (p. 185, ed. 1820.) On a leaf of that edition.

(598.) 45. 1. The Elephant. (p. 151, ed. 1790; p. 186, ed. 1820.) On the reverse of the former.

This impression has been squared with pencil by Thomas Bewick, "which was done by him in 1825, with intent to recut the block, as it was much injured and so cracked as hardly to hold together." Mr. W. Garret, from whom it was obtained.

These were issued at the time of the publication of the first edition, as specimens of the illustrations. For subsequent editions several of the cuts were altered, especially those of the Striped Hyena and the Giraffe. Obtained from Mr. W. Garret.

PROOFS, ETC. OF THE FIGURES AND VIGNETTES

IN

THE 'HISTORY OF BRITISH BIRDS.'

THE remarks prefixed to the former Division are equally applicable to the present, which will be found to contain a large number of precious examples in each of the states there described. The series commences with some most interesting volumes which appear to be unique, after which follow several complete sets of the cuts on white India paper, succeeded by a long list of separate engravings in various states, proof pages, etc. etc. Most of the impressions on yellow China paper were obtained at various times from that indefatigable collector, the late Mr. W. Garret, some from the late Mr. J. Sykes, and a considerable number were removed from the pages of the note-book of a shorthand writer employed in Mr. Walker's office at Newcastle, where most of the editions of the 'Birds' were printed, wherein the owner seems to have inserted them as opportunity served.

The order in which the articles are placed is that of the edition of 1826, the last which was published in Bewick's lifetime.

(663.) I. I. A Series of Proofs of the Land and Water Birds, and the illustrative Vignettes.

Bound in two volumes. Edges uncut.

These two and the seven following volumes are among the earliest examples of what Bewick did again and again in subsequent years—the printing of his cuts apart from the letterpress. Of the nine volumes, the first and second were Bewick's own; the third is a duplicate of the second, and was given by Bewick to his partner, Mr. Beilby; the fourth and fifth are duplicates of the first and second, and were the property of Mr. John Hall Affleck, the foreman in Mr. Edward Walker's printing-office; the sixth and seventh are also duplicates of the second, and the eighth and ninth of the first and second. In wonderful beauty and matchless brilliancy these exquisite impressions are superior to those on white India paper, and are equalled by those alone, and in some instances hardly even by them, on yellow China paper. The volumes were, in fact, the result of a number of favourable adjuncts, and do not admit of comparison with any subsequent attempts. They are of 8vo size, without titles or paging, were never published or intended for sale, nor are any other copies known to exist.

Each series is furnished with a manuscript note on the flyleaf, which will explain the circumstances under which they were produced.

“This was Thomas Bewick's own set of the Proofs of the British Birds. They were taken off in the best manner, on the best paper, and best ink. The impressions are finer, brighter, and darker than any that are to be found in the 'History of the British Birds,' first edition or any subsequent one. Vol. 1 was printed at Solomon Hodgson's office, by John Simpson; and Vol. 2 at the office of Edward Walker, by George Barlow, who was brought from London for the purpose of printing Bewick's works. Barlow never could equal Simpson in printing woodcuts. William Garret, Newcastle." MS. note on the flyleaf of Vol. 1.

To the same two volumes Mr. Garret thus further referred in a letter to myself in 1845:—

"As to the Proofs of the Birds, they are in your possession now, and if wise on this matter, and with good forethought, never trust them out of your sight again. They are the genuine set of my old friend Bewick. As to the marks, occurring in many, of the letterpress without ink, it can be easily explained. It is very difficult to prove woodcuts well without placing them in a form with letterpress, or learers, as a printer calls it. I would rather have the sign of the letters round the impression, for it gives a warranty that the block was properly made up in the form for printing. There were no title-pages for the proofs printed, and I put the two titles in myself to make the volume more complete. Take my advice and treasure them as one of your gems of the greatest value and beauty. . . . Compare the impressions with your large paper of the first edition, and then you will see the difference. Now this seems almost like saying something in disparagement of the large-paper first edition, which I am most unwilling to do, as the book is one of my greatest favourites. The proofs were printed for Bewick's self, and by his first and favourite pressman, my old friend Jack Simpson, who, as Bewick often said, was the only one who could take off impressions of his blocks to his satisfaction. Many of the gems which you have had of me were obtained from Simpson, whom I have stood alongside of many an hour when he was at work. As to the early state of the impressions there can be no doubt. . . . The more I think of these proofs the higher I prize them. There is no edition of the Birds printed with the same dark and brilliant ink that these proofs are printed with, and that will be seen with half an eye by comparing them with any. They were taken off for Bewick's self and never intended for sale. The paper is also a better kind, and fitter for taking off fine and delicate impressions. And even here Bewick did not stop, for the ink was purchased for the purpose of the blackest and best description. The Land Birds were printed at the office of Solomon Hodgson, by my old friend John Simpson, Bewick's favourite pressman; the Water Birds at the office of Edward Walker, by George Barlow, who was brought down from London to print Bewick's works, and outshine Simpson, which he never could or did, but was much beholden to Simpson for his knowledge of overlaying the tympan, so as to reach the lowered parts of the blocks, etc. etc."

(664.) 2. Proofs of the Water Birds, with the Vignettes.

Bound in one volume. Edges uncut.

"This volume of the Proofs of Bewick's Water Birds was presented by Thomas Bewick to Ralph Beilby, his old master and partner in business. The cuts of this volume were printed at the office of Edward Walker, by George Barlow, who was brought down from London to print Bewick's works. William Garret, Newcastle." MS. note on the flyleaf.

(665.) 3. Proofs of Land and Water Birds, with the Vignettes.

Mounted in two imp. 8vo volumes of drab crayon paper.

"This is one of the best of the few copies taken off by Thomas Bewick of the Land and Water Birds, as an experiment, and printed on a soft and peculiar paper, in order to secure brilliant impressions. The ink was procured from London, of the very best description, and George Barlow was brought down from thence to print the Water Birds and Bewick's other works, in a superior manner to old John Simpson, the pressman to Mr. Solomon Hodgson. In this, however, he failed, for Simpson's work is admitted up to the present day to be superior to Barlow's. This set belonged to John Hall Affleck, the foreman in Mr. Edward Walker's printing-office. William Garret, Newcastle." MS. note on the flyleaf.

"I have got a sight at last of the Birds that I thought had been Mr. Beilby's Land Birds, and which would have completed your second set; but they turn out to be both the Land and Water Birds, in single leaves and not bound up, and have never been bound, but remain in a sheet of paper just as printed. They seem to have been hardly ever opened since they were taken off. They are in every respect the same as your whole set of the proofs, on the same paper, and equally brilliant as to impressions. The owner seems to have the highest opinion of their value, and I durst not make an offer.'

"You will receive the proofs with this. They seem to me to be on the same kind of paper as your former set, but its colour appears, to my recollection, to be a little fairer, which may arise from their having been tied up for forty years. The impressions are of the same dark and brilliant lustre as those in your set. You seem to be rather surprised at the appearance of this set, and I have no doubt that Thomas Bewick would have been more so, had he been alive to see it. The fact is, it was taken off for John Hall Affleck, the foreman in Edward Walker's printing-office, unknown, I believe, either to Bewick or Walker, which is a common practice in most printing-offices, more especially if the book is good and worth preserving. J. H. Affleck died a few years ago, after serving Edward Walker and his successors for fifty years. He was a person of considerable taste in the art of printing, and from time to time gave me many a gem, as an old friend and early companion. At his death I bought his books and a portfolio containing prints and woodcuts. Affleck's set of the proofs was given away by him, in his lifetime, to a gentleman to whom he considered himself under great obligations, and from whom I had it. He had the management of the getting up of Bewick's books in Walker's office, which secured for him Bewick's good graces. As a compliment, the latter engraved for him a book-plate and gave it to him. I send you an impression of it. [See the Division "Book-plates."] If mounted one on a page of drab paper, these proofs will form a most magnificent set,—indeed, perfectly matchless and unique." Mr. W. Garret.

(666.) 4. Proofs of Water Birds, with the Vignettes.

Bound in one volume. Edges uncut.

"This copy of Bewick's Water Birds is one of the few that Thomas Bewick had printed off by George Barlow, at Edward Walker's, to match the few copies of the Land Birds that were printed off by John Simpson, at Solomon Hodgson's. The impressions of the blocks are very bright, the ink of the best manufacture, and the paper very soft and with a delicate surface. The copies that were thus taken off by Simpson and Barlow, so soon after the cuts were engraved, are perfect gems, and may be considered the best ever printed from the blocks, not even excepting the impressions taken off in later years on India paper. William Garret, Newcastle." MS. note on the flyleaf.

"The beauty of the proofs of the Water Birds will speak for itself. Only look at the Bittern in the volume! Life itself, and most brilliant." Mr. W. Garret.

(667.) 5. Proofs of the Water Birds, with the Vignettes.

Bound in one volume. Edges uncut.

"This volume of Bewick's Water Birds is one of the few copies that Thomas Bewick got printed off for himself and friends. The number printed was very few, as it was merely an experiment. He procured a sample of very fine soft demy, which was used, and never since have such beautiful impressions been taken from the blocks. The ink, also, that was used was the best and blackest that could be procured at the time; and I have some reason to believe that the ink was the same as his friend William Bulmer used in London for Goldsmith and Parnell's Poems, and Somerville's Chase. This copy was found in the book-room of the Bewicks some years ago and sold to me. William Garret, Newcastle on Tyne.' MS. note on the flyleaf.

(668.) 6. Proofs of the Land and Water Birds, with the Vignettes.

Bound, with other cuts, in one volume, vellum, richly gilt, tooled, and painted.

This set belonged to the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, from whom I obtained it. It was a present from Bewick to his father, with whom he was on terms of special intimacy, and has been bound up in the volume already referred to as containing some of the most valued treasures of Mr. Bell's collection. An attestation of the early date at which the impressions were taken is incidentally furnished by the volume itself, which bears on the flyleaf, in the handwriting of its then owner, "Jno. Bell : Novo Castro. 1809."

(669.) 2. Figures and Vignettes of the Land Birds.

A complete series of 283 most beautiful proofs on white India paper, mounted, one on a page, in an imp. 8vo crayon paper volume, half-bound in morocco.

Obtained, many years ago, from Miss Jane Bewick, the artist's daughter, accompanied by the note in her handwriting, "1 Sett Birds & Vignettes. India paper. Land Birds."

(670.) 3. Figures and Vignettes of the Water Birds.

A complete series of 255 most beautiful proofs on white India paper, mounted, one on a page, in an imp. 8vo crayon paper volume, half-bound in morocco.

Obtained, long since, like the former article, from Miss Jane Bewick, who has written on the wrapper, mounted on the first page of the volume, "1 Sett Birds & Vignettes. India paper. Water Birds. Land & Water Birds & Vignettes, £5. 5s. the Sett."

Since the time that these exquisite proofs were taken, a very few copies of which were done, they have, in common with all the rarer works of the artist, increased largely in value. I have known them sell for £15. The only copy that I remember to have been sold by public auction was that of Mr. J. H. Phillips, which was secured for £11. 5s.

“Bewick’s altered cuts will in after years be much sought after by the curious, to see how very dexterously he managed to alter the various blocks for the better. No case more strongly proves this than the cut of the Magpie—striking out the rotten sticks, and making all the foreground light, delicate, and beautiful herbage. It is to be remembered that the first state of the block shows the state of Bewick's mind and views at the time, and also his capabilities; and how quickly and splendidly he progressed in the art in his bold and peculiar style." Mr. W. Garret.

"As a background to the cut of the Magpie," says Mr. Atkinson, "he has introduced the carcass of an old horse; and to this a tale is attached. A neighbour wanted a horse to go to Newburn with, and borrowed an old favourite of Bewick's father, under strict promise of good usage. He neglected the conditions and over-worked the horse, which died soon after, and my kind-hearted old friend used to step aside in going to school, to see and shed a tear over the old horse." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 24.

"His power of giving each characteristic of animals, even at a distance, was extraordinary. It is exemplified in his distant flights of birds, which can always be recognized; and when he gives to them any cause of excitement, they are highly entertaining. As an illustration of this, I would call the attention of the reader to a very beautiful vignette at p. 109, vol. i. [p. 74, ed. 1797], of two cows drinking, above which we have most intelligibly depicted the futile attempts of a hawk to make his escape from the buffetings of two tyrannical crows; the magpies, like schoolboys, only being there to see the fun." “ Bewick drew this bird from a living specimen at Elswick Hall, near Newcastle. Accompanied by his daughter Jane, then a child, he made the sketch whilst out walking, between five and six o'clock on a fine summer morning. The gate of the yard being fast, he had to climb over the wall to obtain an entrance, and has represented this incident in the background to the cut.
Though very minute, the resemblance to himself of the figure on the wall is quite perfect.” Mr. R. Robinson.

“ In drawing the Birds, his sketches of the Woodcock and Corn-crake were from living specimens. The former of these is quite the perfection of his complication of talent, displaying his usual intricate knowledge of the habits of the bird, in the character of the background, unrivalled facility of pencil in his design, and a skill that cannot easily be equalled in engraving it.” Atkinson’s Sketch of T. “Nothing can surpass the wintry desolate appearance of the hills in the vignette, where a poor man, in a fit of false economy, is fording the river with his cow to save the toll: he appears sensible of the indiscretion of his proceeding, and would fain withdraw her and himself, particularly as his hat seems averse to the measure, and the shouts of some men on the other side, together with the coldly encroaching element, suggest to him the probability of deeper water in advance. The cow, poor thing, as Bewick would say, seems to be gifted with all the pleasing perseverance of her sex, and determines to go on, which is the cause of the variety of opinion so apparent in the vignette.” Atkinson’s Sketch of T. “This was first done as a book-plate for the Rev. Henry Cotes, Vicar of Bedlington, corrector, and perhaps more, of the second volume of the Birds. After a few impressions had been taken with Mr. Cotes’s name on the rock in the foreground [for several of which see the Division ‘Book-plates’], Bewick, who was very fond of the cut, altered it and made it a tail-piece in the ‘History of the Water Birds,’ the volume which Mr. Cotes had so much assisted to perfect.” Mr. W. Given to me many years since by Miss Bewick.

This cut first appears on the title of the edition of the Quadrupeds printed without letterpress, 4to, Newcastle, 1824. In the two instances of its use, however, it presents a very conspicuous difference, the rain being represented black in the "Quadrupeds," and white in the "Birds."

The explanation of this circumstance is full of significance for the admirer of Bewick and his art, and I think myself fortunate in being enabled, by the kindness of a gentleman of Newcastle, who had it from one of the principal actors, to furnish the reader with a detailed account of this singularly interesting occurrence. I hardly need add that it contains the key to the meaning of the last hopes and labours of the artist's life.

"The way in which the rain was represented black was by the employment of two blocks, one above the other. In the last edition of the 'Birds' the rain is white, being printed from one block only."

"Mr. Walker," continues my informant, "in whose office the printing was done, was staying at Croft at the time. The first impressions or printing were taken off on a Saturday afternoon, and as the modus operandi was intended to be kept a profound secret, Bewick agreed with his pressman, Thomas Kay, that the second printing should take place on the following morning. On Sunday morning they went together to Mr. Walker's house, and, after much persuasion, succeeded in obtaining the key from the servant girl. It being Sunday, they entered through the rear of the premises in the Manors. Two blocks were cut for the second printing. The first of them did not answer the purpose intended, the second was a complete success. Three points were used by Kay to ensure accuracy, that the second printing might fall immediately over the first. When these points were noticed by the workmen on the following morning they were much puzzled, and laughed at Kay for using points in printing such a simple job as a title. Bewick and his pressman were equally delighted with the success of the experiment, the former exclaiming, 'Would that I had been but twenty years younger!'

"On the work being finished, every scrap of paper on the floor used in proving the cut was destroyed by Bewick. The titles were all packed up and taken by Kay to Bewick's shop.

"When Mr. Walker returned home, he soon learned the unauthorized use that had been made of his office in his absence, and great was his displeasure at such a liberty. He was still further irritated both against Bewick and his own workman, for refusing to tell him the nature of the job or even to show him one of the titles. He could not understand how one block could be printed above another. Kay said that Bewick called it 'cross-hatching,' and that was all that he knew about it. This Sunday job, however, together with Kay's refusal to inform his employer how he manufactured a composition which he had invented for making printers' balls, at last cost him his situation." PROOFS, ETC. OF THE CUTS

'ÆSOP'S FABLES.'

IN the year 1812, when he was upwards of sixty years old, Bewick, as he informs us in his autobiography, was afflicted with a long and dangerous illness. During its continuance he often and greatly regretted that he had not illustrated a book similar to Croxall's 'Æsop's Fables,' a volume of which he was extremely fond, and to the influence of which he attributed very much of the wisdom and good conduct of the rising generation. When so far recovered as to be able to sit at his window at home, he set to work to supply the deficiency, and began to draw designs upon the wood of the Fables and Vignettes, in the engraving of which he was assisted by his son and two of his pupils—William Harvey and William Temple. After more difficulties than he had experienced with either the "Quadrupeds" or the "Birds," attributable, no doubt, to his failing strength, the work was finished at press on the 1st of October, 1818. It was not so well printed, he adds, as he expected and wished.

The contrast between the cuts as they appear in the book and the following proofs is hardly to be imagined. In many cases, while the former are very indifferent, the latter are most beautiful specimens of delicacy and artistic excellence.

(1509.) 1. 1. Vignette. Names of the Fabulists. On a Prospectus of 'Æsop's Fables,' 1817. "Subscriptions received by all the Booksellers, and by T. Bewick and Son, Newcastle."

(1510.) 1. 2. Another impression. On a similar Prospectus. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

(1511.) 1. 3. Another. On a similar Prospectus.

(1512.) 1. 4. Another.

In this impression Bewick has drawn a pen through the notice of the "Subscriptions," and has written "Newcastle: Printed by E. Walker for," above "T. Bewick and Son." Obtained from Mr. W. Garret.

"My time now became greatly taken up with designing and cutting a set of wood blocks for the 'Story-teller,' 'Gay's Fables,' and 'Select Fables,' together with cuts of a similar kind, for printers. Some of the Fable cuts were thought so well of by my master, that he, in my name, sent impressions of a few of them to be laid before the Society for the Encouragement of Arts, etc., and I obtained a premium. This I received shortly after I was out of my apprenticeship, and it was left to my choice whether I would have it in a gold medal or money—seven guineas. I preferred the latter; and I never in my life felt greater pleasure than in presenting it to my mother. On this occasion, amongst the several congratulations of kind neighbours, those of Mr. Gregson, my old master, stood pre-eminent. He flew from Ovingham, where the news first arrived, over to Eltringham, to congratulate my father and mother; and the feelings and overflowings of his heart can be better imagined than described." REAY'S SPORTSMAN'S FRIEND. Nos. (163.), (164.).

With reference to a portion of my proofs from this rare book, Mr. W. Garret wrote as follows:—

“A few weeks ago [February, 1849] one of our old-book men in the town purchased a parcel of books, in which there was a small bundle of some book in sheets. He came to me with the bundle, as he saw that on the title there was the name of Bewick, which would induce me to buy, or, if not, to advise him as to their value. At the first interview we did not agree about price, but when I went to him a little time after, I found he had sent them to the binder to get done up. Being rather impatient to get my hands over them, or at least a few of them, I got the book-man's order upon the binder to deliver to me six copies of the ‘Sportsman's Friend,’ which I would select from the lot. This I did, and you may warrant I was most careful in the selection and took the best. In addition to this, I purchased, before any one had the opportunity of looking at them, all the waste and THE SPARE CUTS, which the binder did not understand, and which had not been turned over since they came out of the printer's hands in 1801. Now what anybody else got were actually my refuse. The copy I sent you [No. (163.) of this Catalogue] was one of the six I selected at the binder's, and also the first and very best of the number. With regard to the proof cuts, all others may be known by having the binder's three stab-holes through them, as they were all so done that others obtained. Parties may attempt to impose and cut the holes off, but then the cuts will be reduced. The greatest interest, therefore, attaches to the untouched proofs, which are in the finest possible condition.” Mr. W. Garret.

PROSPECTUSES, PROOFS OF THE CUTS,
ETC.,

FOR THE INTENDED

‘HISTORY OF BRITISH FISHES.’

ONE of the subjects which mainly engaged the attention of Bewick in the later years of his life was a History of British Fishes. He went so far as to issue Prospectuses in 1824, announcing that the work would be put to press in 1826. Very little, however, had been done towards the fulfilment of the promise. “In the History of Fishes,” says Mr. Atkinson, “he had only advanced as far as fourteen or fifteen illustrative cuts at his death.” A greater progress had been made in the vignettes. “A completely new set of appropriate tail-pieces,” says the same writer, “were almost finished for the embellishment of this undertaking.” (Atkinson’s Sketch of Bewick, p. 2.) Substantially the same account is given by Dr. Dibdin, as received by himself from Miss Bewick:—Her father left behind him “fourteen entire fishes, upon wood: seventy vignettes, chiefly of fishing scenes: about forty drawings of fish—with a few descriptions and memoranda: thirty-five sketches of vignettes: with a few slighter.” (Northern Tour, vol. i. p. 336, note.)

Mr. Dovaston tells us that when he was in Northumberland, after Bewick's death, they showed him “thirty fishes he had cut by way of trial,” “together with more than a hundred tail-pieces.” (Magazine of Natural History, vol. iii. p. 103.)

Neither of the two earlier statements, however, with which alone we need concern ourselves,—for the third, like the whole essay of which it forms a part, is an impudent exaggeration,—is, judging from the account in Bewick's ‘Memoir,’ strictly and absolutely correct. The “finished specimens” of Fishes, given for the first time in the appendix to that volume, published by his daughter in 1862 (pp. 289–323), are sixteen in number. Together with these are thirty-one of the “appropriate vignettes,” which, with “about twenty” others of the series, previously used in the last edition of the ‘British Birds,’ 1847, fifty-one in all, would appear to be the exact number completed for the intended work at the time of the artist's decease.

My collection contains an unique series, with many duplicates, of the whole of the rare Prospectuses already mentioned, a number of brilliant proofs of Fishes and Vignettes, obtained from Miss Bewick and others many years before the publication of the ‘Memoir,’ including one which down to the present time does not appear to have been used in any published work, together with a complete set of excellent impressions cut from one of the earliest published copies of the 'Memoir' itself.

The reader should be warned against certain forgeries of the Prospectuses, prepared, long since Bewick's death, to meet the frequent inquiries of collectors. On those, however, who have seen any of the originals, the deception cannot be successfully practised.

(1826.) 1. 1. Prospectus of the Fishes. "A History of British Fishes. The Figures engraved on Wood, By T. Bewick [& Son added in MS.]. This Work is intended to be put to Press in 1826, And to be Printed on Imperial, Royal, and Demy Papers, To match the Histories of Quadrupeds, and British Birds, and the Fables of Æsop. Subscriptions Received by all Booksellers, and by T. Bewick and Son, Newcastle." Illustrated with the cut of the Lump Sucker, and vignette of Herons Fishing.

Pasted on a large piece of paper, with the names of subscribers in MS.

Obtained from the late Mr. W. Garret, who has supplied the following note:—

"In the latter part of the year 1824, Bewick issued his Prospectus for the History of British Fishes, in which he stated that the work would be put to press in 1826; but at that time his health began to decline, and his friends despaired of his living to finish the intended work. Some parties thought proper to say that he was not competent to undertake such a publication, as the materials were so very scanty that he had gathered together, and that if he devoted eight or ten years to the labour, it would be barely sufficient to complete so important a work. I at this time had the management of Mr. Charnley's business, and Bewick made us his sole publishers in the country, but at the same time engaging to supply his personal friends who might want his works. This Prospectus of the Fishes was hung up in our shop for about two years, and was the only one so exhibited. When Bewick died, I took it down and removed it from the board on which it was pasted, and have kept it ever since as an unique and most interesting record of Bewick's 'History of British Fishes.' The fewness of the names affixed to the Prospectus arose from the great uncertainty of the work ever being published. His son Robert and, I believe, his daughter Jane were employed on the drawings at the time of his death."

The names attached to this curious relic are fifty in number, and are principally in the handwriting of Mr. Garret and Mr. Charnley. Among them are the following, in the order of their entry:—John Trotter Brockett, Esq., Dr. Headlam, John Bacon, Esq., Mr. Hewison, Robert Pearson, Esq., John Adamson, Esq., Dixon Brown, Esq., Rev. H. D. Griffith, Benjamin Thompson, Esq., Mr. Joseph Crawhall, Chas. Wm. Bigge, Esq., Willm. Turner, Nat. Winch, Rev. H. G. Liddell, Messrs. Beilby, Knott and Beilby, Anthony Gregson, Esq., Honble. H. CUTS DONE FOR PRIVATE GENTLEMEN,
FOR BOOK-PLATES AND OTHER PURPOSES.

WE have hitherto noticed the skill of Thomas Bewick when employed in the adornment of works designed for the instruction and gratification of the public at large. Another department of his labours is now to be examined. It was only natural that advantage should be taken of his exquisite powers by the professional and commercial men of his great town and neighbourhood—by the former for book-plates, memorial cuts, and similar objects; by the latter for notices of exhibitions, bill-heads, shop-cards, bar-bills, coal certificates, etc.; and by both for various societies and companies, the members of which they jointly composed. The following pages will show that they did so to an extent of which few, even among collectors and others well acquainted with many of his book illustrations, were previously aware.

In this and a number of the subsequent Divisions I have been specially benefited by the two great Newcastle collectors, the late Mr. W. Garret and Mr. John Bell. From the former I was for many years in the habit of obtaining all that I did not at the various times possess; while the entire collections of the latter,—of which Dr. Dibdin speaks in such enthusiastic terms as containing everything that can be brought together “attending the congregation and legislation of human beings,” “of notoriety sufficient to furnish a printed record” (Northern Tour, vol. i. p. 337),—in these departments, embracing some thousands of book-plates, invoice-heads, inn bills, most of them still retaining the items of expenditure, business cards, coal certificates, etc. etc., executed by the majority of the engravers in the north of England, have since his decease become my property. The accumulation of these collections occupied his life, and simply to say that they were unsurpassed would be to insinuate that other gatherings approached or competed with them, whereas they stood from all else apart and confessedly alone.

The present Division embraces the Cuts engraved for private gentlemen, both with and without armorial bearings, for the embellishment of their Book-plates, and other special purposes, and a very wonderful assemblage they will be found to be. Among them are some curious variations, and many proofs on yellow China paper, vellum, satin, etc. The least uncommon of the series are those belonging to several members of the Typographical Society of Newcastle, who were accustomed to prefix their cuts to the works which they respectively edited, and of which accordingly numerous impressions were taken. Of many of the others, entirely confined to private hands, very seldom used, and then in small numbers, I am not aware of the very existence of impressions outside my own collection.

It will be seen that some of them are engraved on copper,—which, when such is the case, are always stated so to be,—and are then properly denominated Book-Plates. The fact that those on wood are less correctly so called does not require more than this passing remark.

(1928.) I. 1. Mr. Adamson's cut. Ruins. On paper.

(1929.) I. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(1930.) I. 3. Another. On white India paper.

(1991.) 29. 3. Another. From Mr. W. Garret.

Mr. Cotes's name was subsequently removed, and the cut was used as a tail-piece in the 'British Birds' (ed. 1804, p. 370; ed. 1826, vol. ii. p. 259). For proofs in this state see Nos. (1377.) and (1378.). The cut will be found on inspection to bear evidence of the former presence and subsequent removal of the name.

"My old friend the Rev. Henry Cotes edited the second volume of the Birds, and Bewick, in compliment to him, cut for him a book-plate with his name upon it and the Parson fishing. He sent him a few impressions, but, on some trifling misunderstanding, cut out the name of poor 'Q in the corner,' and made it a tail-piece for his Birds. Of these impressions, at first very few, hardly any are now in existence." Mr. W. Garret.

(1992.) 30. "John Coulthard." River scene. Copperplate. From Mr. John Bell.

(2101.) 76. 4. Another. On white satin. From the same.

"The book-plate which he did for William Taylor, Esq., of Bishop Middleham, afterwards of Hendon Grange, Sunderland, is, to my mind, the best. A copy was made somewhat different for Mr. John Stobart, attorney, Gateshead. I have copies [those here described], but I do not know if there is another to be got anywhere, as both gentlemen have been long dead. Mr. Armstrong, the present mayor, had one done when he was a young man, Mr. A. Doeg, shipbuilder, and a number of others." Mr. John Bell.

(2149.) 1. 2. Another impression. Cutting from a policy.

(2150.) 1. 3. Another. Cutting from a policy. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

“The woodcut by Bewick for the Newcastle Fire Office was first used by that Company on the 24th June, 1817, at the head of their sheet intitled ‘Proposals from the Newcastle upon Tyne Fire Office,’ which sheet they used to wrap up or enclose the ‘Policy of Insurance’ when it was sent to the insured. It was not used at the head of the policies until ten years afterwards. I have policies of all dates with copperplates of Neptune as a head-piece down to that time. These wrapping-papers had afterwards the date of the establishment put under the woodcut—‘Established 1783.’ It was after the cutting of the above that Mr. William Lloyd, the Fire Office Secretary, and Bewick became so thick, that Lloyd subscribed for his ‘Birds,’ and returned the volume as an improper book, where it shows nature rather too plainly.” Mr. John Bell.

This fine cut was disused on the union of the Office with the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, and was then given to a friend of mine in Newcastle, from whom it passed into my possession. I am happy to present the collector with an impression from the original block.

(2151.) 2. 1. Figure of a Fire Engine, with a shield lying against it, charged with the arms of Newcastle. On a receipt, dated Aug. 1, 1804.

(2152.) 2. 2. Another. On a receipt, dated 25 March, 1818.

(2153.) 2. 3. Another. On a receipt dated 25 March, 1818.

(2154.) 3. 1. Very similar, but a different cut. Newspaper cut, dated 16 June, 1797.

(2155.) 3. 2. Another, dated Sep. 25, 1801.

(2156.) 3. 3. Another, dated Dec. 18, 1801.

(2157.) 4. 1. Very similar, but a smaller and different cut. Newspaper cut, dated Sep. 20, 1810.

(2158.) 4. 2. Another.

(2159.) 4. 3. Another.

(2160.) 4. 4. Another.

(2161.) 5. 1. Very similar. Newspaper cut, dated Dec. 19, 1814.

(2162.) 5. 2. Another, dated March 15, 1815.

(2163.) 5. 3. Another. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

(2164.) 5. 4. Another.

I have the block, from which the following is an impression.

(2165.) 6. The arms of Newcastle in an oval. Newspaper cut, dated 1790.

(2166.) 7. 1. Very similar. Newspaper cut, dated 28 Sept. 1792.

(2167.) 7. 2. Another, dated Dec. 18, 1795.

(2168.) 7. 3. Another.

(2169.) 7. 4. Another.

I have this block also, of which an impression is here given.

(2170.) 8. Three circles, placed perpendicularly, each containing the arms of Newcastle, with a border inscribed "Fire Office. Newcastle."

This block also is in my possession, and an impression is annexed.

10. CHEAP FLOUR SOCIETY.

(2171.) River scene, with Wheatsheaf and Anchor.
Proof on paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

“In 1795, when corn and flour were so dear in Newcastle, a very respectable Society was founded by the gentry here to supply the poor with cheap bread. They got Bewick to engrave this beautiful cut for their manifestoes, but it was hardly ever used, and I do not know of another impression.” Mr. W. Garret.

The original block is fortunately in my possession, and I give an impression of it.

11. GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY.

(2172.) Figure of a Globe. Newspaper cut, dated 20 Sept. 1819.

12. GUARDIAN FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

INS^d 23rd AUG^t 1820.”

(2175.) An oak-tree, with two figures supporting a scroll, on which the foregoing words are inscribed.
Copperplate. From Mr. John Bell.

14. NEWCASTLE BANK.

(2176.) 1. Their cheque. With “R B G & C^o” in floriated capitals. Copperplate.

It must have been executed between 1800 and 1806, when the firm consisted of Sir M. W. Ridley, Bart., and Messrs. Bell and Gibson.

(2177.) 2. Another.

(2178.) 3. Another.

15. "NEWCASTLE SOCIETY FOR LITERARY DISCUSSION."

(2179.) Figure of Time pointing out to three youths the foregoing words inscribed on a rock. On yellow China paper.

16. NORTHUMBERLAND PROVINCIAL LODGE.

(2180.) 1. A folio copperplate engraving, representing masonically various mysteries, "Engraved by T Bewick & Son." The centre was filled up with letter-press, as the occasion required. In the present instance it contains a summons to attend a Provincial Grand Lodge, to be held in Newcastle early in the ensuing month, to receive H. R. H. the Duke of Sussex, at the laying the Foundation Stone of the New Library of the Literary and Philosophical Society. Dated Newcastle on Tyne, 21st August, 1822.

(2181.) 2. Another impression. Similar in all respects to the former.

(2182.) 3. Another impression. With letter-press insertion of Thanks to the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the several Lodges who honoured the especial Grand Lodge, held at Newcastle on the 2nd instant, with their attendance. Dated Newcastle, 12th Sept. 1822.

17. "NEWCASTLE HOUSE OF LORDS."

With song annexed, "Ye Lords now assembled attend to my song," etc. See Sykes's 'Local Records,' vol. i. p. 338.

18. "STATE LOTTERY OFFICE, NEWCASTLE, 1781."

(2184.) 1. With the beautiful cut of the Arms of Newcastle, which we have already noticed in the Newcastle Directory of 1778, No. (11), etc. Tickets sold by E. Humble, Jun. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

Figures of Truth and Justice, standing on a label inscribed "Grand Social Unity," support a shield bearing four hands clasped in the form of a cross, surmounted by another shield as a crest, bearing the arms of Newcastle. The background is composed of flowers and fine foliage. Proof on paper.

(2233.) 2. Another impression. On yellow China paper.

(2234.) 3. Another. On yellow China paper.

The original block is in my possession. It has been engraved at the back and subjected to much ill-usage, but still bears the traces of a fine work of art.

30. UNION MUSICAL SOCIETY.

(2235.) Figures of two musicians standing with clasped hands before a pedestal, on which is inscribed "Handel," "Mozart," etc., surmounted by an urn. With a background of foliage, and in the distance the steeple of St. Nicholas. Some ornamental adjuncts at the foot are of very inferior execution, which is explained by the annexed note of Mr. W. Garret, from whom it was obtained. "The block, as I have heard, was commenced by Thomas Bewick for some Society, but as the order for it was countermanded, it lay tossing about the shop for some years, and was then finished by John Armstrong, an apprentice."

RACING CUTS.

FOR many years the Lists of Running Horses at the Newcastle and other Northern Races were embellished with spirited engravings by Thomas Bewick. Whilst so similar in general as to admit of little distinctive description, they have each individual merit of the highest order. Considering the literally ephemeral nature of these productions, it is a matter of no little satisfaction that so long a list of different cuts can still be presented for the collector's study.

"The racing cuts which you have," wrote Mr. W. Garret, referring to about half of the collection in its present state, "form by far the finest and largest collection ever brought together. The old rude cut appears, by the figures of the horses, to be before Bewick's time, or it may be his first production in this line; but the others are nearly all his. Some of them bear his name, but he afterwards became too great a man to acknowledge such trifles. He ceased putting his name to such things when his fame was established."

I possess several of the original blocks also, of which, although worn by hard usage for a great number of years, the impressions, as the student cannot fail to remark, bear indubitable marks of their original excellence.

(2267.) 1. "Newcastle upon Tyne Races. 23rd June 1766." Two Horses, to the right. Newspaper cut.

(2268.) 2. 1. "Newcastle Races, 1825." Three Horses, to the right.

(2269.) 2. 2. Another impression. "Newcastle Races, 1825."

(2270.) 2. 3. Another. On yellow paper.

Very rude, and without a background.

The two previous articles, if not older than the time of Bewick were his first attempts in this department.

(2271.) 3. 1. "Newcastle upon Tyne Races, 1777." Three Horses to the right. "Bewick," the "T" and "B" joined in a monogram, appears in the right-hand corner of the foreground of this remarkably spirited cut.

(2272.) 3. 2. Another impression. "Newcastle Races, 1819."

(2273.) 3. 3. Another. "Newcastle Races, 1821."

(2274.) 3. 4. Another. Place and date cut off.

(2275.) 3. 5. Another. Place and date cut off.

(2276.) 4. 1. "Newcastle Races, 1789." Two Horses, to the left. "T. B.," in monogram, in the left foreground. Newspaper cut.

Much smaller than all the rest, except the other advertisement cuts, Nos. 1 and 5 of this Division.

(2277.) 4. 2. Another impression. "Durham Race 1801."

(2278.) 4. 3. Another. On Durham Races Scaffold Ticket.

(2279.) 4. 4. Another. "Durham Races, 1817."

(2280.) 4. 5. Another. Similar.

(2281.) 4. 6. Another. Similar.

(2282.) 5. 1. Two Horses, to the left. Very similar to the last. Place and date cut off.

(2283.) 5. 2. Another impression.

This block is in my possession, and I add an impression.

(2284.) 6. 1. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, June, 1810.

(2285.) 6. 2. Bill's Moor, near Elsdon, 23rd May, 1814. "George Angus, Printer, Side, Newcastle."

(2286.) 6. 3. "Newcastle Races, June, 1814."

I have the original block, of which the following is an impression. It has been cracked at least since the year 1810, as my earliest impression shows it distinctly.

(2287.) 7. 1. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, June, 1810.

(2288.) 7. 2. Another impression. "Newcastle Races, 1821."

- (2289.) 7. 3. Another. "Newcastle Races, 1823."
 (2290.) 7. 4. Another. Place and date cut off.
 (2291.) 7. 5. Another. Place and date cut off.
 (2292.) 7. 6. Another. Place and date cut off.

This block also is in my possession. An impression follows.

(2293.) 8. Four horses, to the right. No place or date. "T. B. N. Castle" in the right-hand foreground. The "T. B." in a monogram.

(2294.) 9. Two Horses, to the left. A beautiful fragment. On white India paper. From the original block in my possession, of which the following is an impression.

(2295.) 10. 1. "Newcastle Races, 1815." Three Horses, to the right.

(2296.) 10. 2. Another impression. "Elsdon Races, 1819."

(2297.) 10. 3. Another. "Elsdon Races, 1821."

(2298.) 10. 4. Another. "Elsdon Races, 1822."

(2299.) 10. 5. Another. "Newcastle Races, 1825."

(2300.) 10. 6. Another. At the head of "Newcastle Races. A New Song."

(2301.) 10. 7. Another. Place and date cut off. On yellow paper.

(2302.) 10. 8. Another. Place and date cut off.

(2303.) 10. 9. Another. Place and date cut off.

(2304.) 11. "Elsdon Races, 1817." "Davison, Printer, Alnwick." Three Horses, to the left.

(2308.) 14. 2. Another impression. "Blyth Races, 1824."

(2309.) 14. 3. Another. Place and date cut off.

(2310.) 15. 1. Three Horses, to the left. Place and date cut off.

(2311.) 15. 2. Another impression.

(2312.) 15. 3. Another.

(2313.) 16. 1. "Newcastle Races, 1825." Four Horses, to the left.

(2314.) 16. 2. Another impression. On yellow paper
Place and date cut off.

(2315.) 17. 1. "Morpeth Races, 1825." Three Horses, to the right.

(2316.) 17. 2. Another impression. "Morpeth Races, 1827."

(2317.) 18. 1. Newcastle Races and Regatta, 1830

(2318.) 18. 2. Another impression. Place and date cut off.

(2319.) 19. "South Shields Races." Two Horses to the right. Date cut off.

(2320.) 20. 1. "Correct List—Newcastle Meeting."
Three Horses, to the left. Date cut off.

(2321.) 20. 2. Another impression.

(2322.) 20. 3. Another.

I have doubts of the genuineness of this. It appears to me to be later than any work of Thomas Bewick.

SHOP CARDS.

THE Tradesmen's Cuts of Thomas Bewick form a most curious and interesting assemblage. As genius imparts a portion of its grace to everything that it touches, it cannot be a matter of much surprise that many a common shop-card and insignificant bill-head has been elevated by his means to the rank of a precious work of exquisite art.

The majority are engraved on copper, as stated in the description of each. Many of these have great merit, but are not, to my mind, so beautiful as several of those on wood. In the instance of some of the latter class, I am happy to enable the reader to judge for himself of their right to the place and estimation which I claim for them.

I do not vouch for the perfect accuracy of the attribution of every article in the five following Divisions to the hand of Bewick. Many, it will be observed, are signed by him, and more bear the impress of his marvellous powers, while some are conjectured to be his from their general resemblance to his work and from the period at which they were produced.

The enormous collections of the late Mr. John Bell have furnished more than half of the entire number, and it is doubtless to the wise care and forethought of that gentleman that of a very large proportion a single impression is now extant.

- (2323.) 1. 1. "J. Anderson, Jun^r Carver & Gilder, Collingwood Street, Newcastle." A square border, with ornaments. Signed "Bewick." Copperplate. Proof.
 (2324.) 1. 2. Another impression. Proof.
 (2325.) 1. 3. Another. Proof.
 (2326.) 2. 1. "Joseph Barber and Son, Book-sellers and Stationers, in Amen-Corner, Newcastle." Two ancient oaks, with a branch springing from one of the stumps, twisting round it, and then extending along the top of the cut. Signed "T. Bewick." From Mr. W. Garret.

(2327.) 2. 2. Another impression. From Mr. John Bell.

This was one of Thomas Bewick's earliest productions in this line, having been done about the year 1779 or 1780. In execution it strikingly resembles many of the cuts in the Gay's Fables of 1779 and the Select Fables of 1784. It displays considerable taste, and was highly prized by its successive possessors for a long series of years. The centre of the cut is pierced, to admit of letter-press.

The late Mr. John Bell, so often referred to in these pages, who was possessed of a wonderful amount of knowledge connected with Bewick and Newcastle in general, thus describes the varied fortunes of this interesting work of art, in a letter to myself in 1850, to which I am happily able to make a most valuable addition.

"Joseph Barber, who got Bewick to engrave this beautiful cut as a border to a shop-card, died in June or July, 1781. The cut was then used for printing shop-cards by his son, Martin Barber. He shortly after disposed of his stock to Edward Humble, who took down the old sign (for then all shop-keepers had signs) of the Duke of Cumberland's Head, and put up Pope, the Poet's, Head. Thus he continued some time, and then took Roddam, of North Shields, into partnership and removed thither, when this woodcut was the border of the shop-card of 'Humble and Roddam's Circulating Library, Near the Post Office, North Shields;' which removing, the cut had the word 'Old' printed in, and read 'Near the Old Post Office, North Shields.' Roddam died and Humble returned to Newcastle, and, on the formation of Mosley Street, opened out the corner shop of Mosley and Dean Streets, with the sign of 'The Shakespere's Head.' The cut was then out of sight for some time, when I found it in the possession of Mr. Rewcastle, a printer, in Dean Street, who used it for printing tea-papers for petty tea-dealers to wrap their tea in. Rewcastle had also another border of Bewick's doing, which he used in the same way. I send you all I possess of each. J. B."

A fortunate circumstance put me in possession, some time since, of a clue to the original block, after it had been lost sight of for a number of years. I pursued it from place to place, until, in a small printing-office in an obscure and remote town in Northumberland, broken into several pieces, and under a mass of fragments of common wood-blocks, I discovered it in company with the next article, and have the satisfaction—and no small one it is—of presenting the collector with an impression of this most interesting rarity. After its many vicissitudes, and the constant dangers to which for the last sixty years at least it has been exposed, its re-introduction to the world will be duly welcomed by all to whom these pages are possessed of value.

(2328.) 3. A Border of Flowers.

Done, I believe, for the same firm. See Mr. John Bell's note to the former article. I was not so fortunate with this as with the last, inasmuch as of the four fragments into which the block had been cracked, I was able, after a most minute search, to find but three.

(2329.) 4. "James Bell, Goldsmith, Jeweller & Watchmaker, No. 19, Dean Street, Newcastle." An oval, with cups, urns, etc. In the centre "The Silver Lion." Copperplate.

(2330.) 5. John Bell, Low Friar Street, Newcastle. Estates Surveyed & Planned. An oval. Copperplate.

(2331.) 6. John Bell, Borough Barr Houses, Windmill Hills, Gateshead. The same card altered.

(2332.) 7. "John Bell, House Painter, &c., Bell's Court, Pilgrim-Street, Newcastle." Male and female figures, with oak in the background.

(2333.) 8. John Bell, Painter. An architectural design, with urns, palette, brushes, etc. Proof. From Mr. W. Garret.

(2334.) "W^m Blakey, Taylor & Habit Maker, near the Shakespeare Tavern, Mosley Street, Newcastle." An oval, with ornaments. Copperplate.

[See under the same name in the Division "Invoice-Heads."]

(2335.) 10. "W^m Blakey, Taylor and Habit-Maker, 5th Door above the Pudding Chair, West Gate Street, Newcastle." The same plate altered. The alteration was made in November, 1793.

(2336.) 11. "Don. Cameron, Tea-Warehouse, Middle-Street, Newcastle." A chest of "Congou Tea," in an oval border. A shop paper.

(2337.) 12. "Coulson, Painter." Tyne-side scene, with rock and foliage, and the steeple of St. Nicholas in the distance.

(2338.) 13. "David Darling, Goldsmith, Jeweller, & Dealer in Watches. No. 19, Dean Street, Newcastle." Copperplate. The same as that of James Bell, No. 4 of this Division, who succeeded Darling.

[See under the same name in the Division "Invoice-Heads."]

(2339.) 14. "Davies' Marble Works, Pilgrim-Street, Newcastle upon Tyne." A view of his show-room. A shop paper.

Query if by Bewick.

[See the Division "Tradesmen's Newspaper Cuts."]

(2340.) 15. "Geo. Davison, Gun Maker, Alnwick & Pilgrim Street, Newcastle." Royal Arms. Copperplate. Proof.

Query if by Bewick.

(2341.) 16. "Fawcett & Doubleday, Head of the Side, Newcastle." A border, with tea-chest, canister, etc., on the top. A shop paper.

(2342.) 17. "R. Fisher's Circulating Library, Newcastle." An oval, with palms, flowers, etc. Copperplate.

(2343.) 18. "G. Garbutt, Printer, Bookseller, and Stationer, Market-Place, Sunderland." View of Sunderland Bridge.

(2344.) 19. 1. "Gardner, Gun Manufacturer, Newcastle." Figure of a sportsman shooting partridges among the stubbles, accompanied by two dogs. Copperplate. Proof.

(2345.) 19. 2. Another impression. Proof.

[See under the same name in the Division "Tradesmen's Newspaper Cuts."]

(2346.) 20. 1. "J. Garnett, Chemist, Druggist, &c. Quay Side, Newcastle." Tyne-side scene, with rock and foliage, and the steeple of St. Nicholas in the distance. An impression taken before the block was split.

(2347.) 20. 2. Another impression. "Foot of the Side." Taken after the injury.

(2348.) 20. 3. Another. Given to me by Mr. Garnett. "Jos. Garnett, Aug. 5, 1852. No. 1, Side, Newcastle."

(2349.) 20. 4. Another. A shop paper. From the same.

This was fastened with wafers in his shop-window, but, on my remarking the excellence of the impression, Mr. Garnett, with true Newcastle kindness, immediately removed and begged my acceptance of it.

(2350.) 20. 5. Another. A shop paper.

(2351.) 20. 6. Another. A shop paper.

I am indebted for the use of this beautiful cut to Mr. J. Dobson, the owner, and successor of Mr. Garnett, who died in December, 1861. It was finished and sent home by Bewick, as appears by a private memorandum, on the 19th of May, 1805.

(2352.) 21. 1. "W. Giles, Painter & Glazier, Opposite the Mansion House, Close, Newcastle." An angel holding a palette and brushes. Copperplate. Proof.

(2453.) 29. "Monkhouse, Wright & C^o Wine & Spirit Merchants." Scrip only. Copperplate. Dated 8th May, 1812.

(2454.) 30. "Northumberland and Durham Periodical Publication Warehouse, North-east Corner of St. Nicholas' Church Yard, Newcastle upon Tyne." An oval, with female figure leaning on a monument supporting a globe and inscribed "Literature."

(2455.) 31. "C. K. Reid, Goldsmith & Jeweller, No. 17, Dean Street, Newcastle." Scrip only.

(2456.) 32. 1. "C. K. Reid & Son, Jewellers & Silversmiths, Dean Street, Newcastle." A ring and riband. Copperplate.

Query if by T. Bewick.

(2458.) 33. "Ann Robertson, Manufacturer of Plate & Jewellery, No. 21, Dean Street, Newcastle." Ornamental device and scrip. Copperplate. Dated 1806.

(2459.) 34. "John Robertson, Goldsmith & Jeweller." An urn and scrip. Copperplate. Dated 1814.

(2460.) 35. 1. "Chris^t Seymour, Linen Draper, Mercer, Hosier, & Haberdasher, 22, South Side of Mosley Street." A harp with shamrock, and a phoenix with rose and thistle. Copperplate. Dated Aug. 2, 1815.

(2461.) 35. 2. Another impression.

(2462.) 36. "Spence & Foster, Raff Merchants, North Shields." A most beautiful engraving of an oak, which a man is represented in the act of felling, a timber-yard, and Tynemouth in the distance. Copperplate. Signed "Bewick." Dated May 10, 1819.

(2463.) 37. 1. "Hugh Spencer, Key Side, Newcastle." A rock by the seashore, with anchor and buoy, and a shield bearing the Holy Lamb and the inscription "Gentlemens Clothes made in the newest Taste." Copperplate. Signed "T. Bewick Sculpt." Dated Nov. 10, 1807.

(2464.) 37. 2. Another impression. Dated Jan^y. 20, 1808.

(2465.) 37. 3. Another. Dated Aug. 27, 1808.

(2466.) 38. "Walker & Featherston, Grocers and Ship-Chandlers, Newcastle." Two negroes, with sugar-hogshead. Dated Feb. 24, 1816.

(2467.) 39. 1. "James Watson, Wholesale and Retail Tea-Dealer, Head of the Middle Street, Newcastle upon Tyne." A tea-canister, on which is inscribed "Edinburgh Tea Warehouse." Copperplate. Dated 1801.

(2468.) 39. 2. Another impression. Dated 18 Dec. 1805.

(2469.) 40. "James Watson & Sons, Wholesale and Retail Tea Dealers, Head of the Old Flesh-Market and Middle Streets, Newcastle upon Tyne." A tea canister, very similar to, but not the same as, the former article. Copperplate. Dated 29 July, 1808.

(2470.) 41. 1. "Edw^d. Wilson, Spirit Merchant, Removed from the Head of the Side To St. John's Lane." A wine-butt, on the head of which is "Edw^d. Wilson," and on a paper pinned to the side, one corner of which has been torn from its fastening, where it has left a fragment, and hangs over, is inscribed "Spirit Merchant, Removed from the Head of the Side To St. John's Lane. Notice. Eye Ointment Gratis."

The word "Notice" is expressed by a hand, and "Eye" by a figure of that member. On one side of the butt are stone jars, one inscribed "Gin;" on the other are bottles; and at the foot is printed "Newcastle upon Tyne, July 7, 1797."

A most admirable example of Bewick's skill. It was used also for Wilson's newspaper advertisements.

(2471.) 41. 2. Another impression. Unfinished proof.

"In 1797 he cut a hogshhead or wine-butt for Edw^d Wilson, Spirit and Wine Merchant, when he removed to St. John's Lane, July, 1797, which was very much admired. It is standing on its end, and has type inserted in a paper nailed on its front. A hole was left for the type." Mr. John Bell.

(2472.) 42. "R. Wylam & C^o Wine & Spirit Merchants, Old Custom House Quay Side." Scrip only. Copperplate. Dated 18 Aug. 1819.

"The Linnet" of Davison's publications.

(2544.) 9. "T. Catterson, Cleveland Tontine Inn."
"Christopher & Jennett, Printers, Stockton." A house.

(2545.) 10. "Michael Coulter, House of Lords, Groat-Market, Newcastle." A spread-eagle, with "Honi soit," etc., barley, grapes, a punch-bowl, glasses, pipes, etc. Copperplate.

(2546.) 11. "Jacob Coulthard, Ship Inn, Allonby."
"Jollie, Typ. Carlisle." A ship.

(2547.) 12. 1. "T. Cuthbertson, Lambton Arms, Chester-le-Street." Lambton crest.

(2548.) 12. 2. Another impression.

(2549.) 13. 1. "Tho^s Cuthbertson, White Hart Inn, Chester-le-Street." A stag. Copperplate.

(2550.) 13. 2. Another impression.

(2551.) 13. 3. Another.

(2552.) 14. "R. Darling, Hardwick Inn, Sedge-field." An ornamental oval.

(2553.) 15. 1. "Ralph Darling, Bridge Inn, B^p Wearmouth." A view of the iron bridge, surmounting a "Plan of the Roads from Scarbro', Whitby, &c. to Sunderland, Shields, &c." Copperplate.

(2555.) 16. "Davison, New Inn, Temple-Sowerby."
"Soulby, Printer." An ornamental oval, with two pea-cock's feathers at the base.

(2556.) 17. "E. Dixon, White Hart Inn, Cloth-Market, Newcastle." "J. Marshall, Printer, Newcastle."
A stag.

(2557.) 18. 1. "Donkin, Rose & Crown, Barnard-Castle." An ornamental oval.

(2558.) 18. 2. Another impression.

(2559.) 19. 1. "P. Elliot, George Inn, Peirsebridge." St. George and the dragon.

(2560.) 19. 2. Another impression.

(2561.) 20. "T. Ferguson, George Inn, Catterick Bridge." "M. Bell, Printer." St. George and the dragon.

(2562.) 21. "John Grieveson, Groat Market, Newcastle." A crown and thistle in an oval, round which is a border, filling a square, of grapes, barley, lemons, cup, punch-bowl, ladle, wine-glass, etc. Copperplate.

It appears to be an early copperplate by Thomas Bewick.

(2563.) 22. "C. Grindred, White Swan Inn, Brough." "M. Branthwaite, Printer, Kendal." A swan.

Assuredly an early Bewick cut of great merit. It strikingly resembles in style the Fable cuts in Hastie's 'Reading Easy.'

Round the border inclosing the items of expenditure, which this, like most of the articles of the present Division, still retains, is written,—“The wood-cut of the Cock on this Bill was cut by Tho^s Bewick when a boy. Matthew Hall, who formerly kept the Cock Inn, died on Thursday, 30 August, 1804.” From Mr. John Bell.

(2565.) 23. 2. Another impression. With "T. B." in monogram, in the left lower corner.

(2566.) 23. 3. Another. At the head of an advertisement that he has left the Black Swan, and has purchased and entered upon the Cock Inn, Head of the Side, Newcastle, where he hopes to "merit the Approbation of his Friends and the Public. May 25, 1781." From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

"Bewick has more than once informed me it was the second cut he ever did." Mr. John Bell.

"The first wood-cut he did was the representation of a George and Dragon, for the bar-bill of a public-house. The second was of a similar nature for the Cock Inn, then one of the best in town, at the Head of the Side. These were executed in the early part of his apprenticeship, and, though considered wonderful productions at that time, they are rude and unfinished when compared with his later efforts." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 5.

Bewick mentions the former in his Memoir, p. 59.

(2567.) 24. "John Hill, Talbot Inn, Bishop Auckland." "J. Harrop, Printer, Alston." A talbot.

(2568.) 25. "Richard Hogg, White Hart, Hawes." "Printed by M. Branthwaite, Kendal." A house.

(2569.) 26. 1. "S. Horner, Hat and Feather Inn, Claypath, Durham." "Walker, Printer, Durham." Hat and feather. Dated Feb. 21, 1822.

(2570.) 26. 2. Another impression.

(2571.) 27. 1. "J. Husband, New Inn, Easingwold." "Gibson, Printer, Malton." An oval of palms and flowers.

(2572.) 27. 2. Another impression.

(2573.) 28. 1. "Johnson, Berwick." Hen and Chickens. Copperplate.

(2574.) 28. 2. Another impression.

(2575.) 29. "Tho^s Jowsey, Sunderland." St. George and the dragon in an oval, with grapes, barrels, etc. Copperplate.

Perhaps older than Bewick.

(2576.) 30. 1. "Thomas Jowsey, Bridge Inn, Bishopwearmouth." "Summers, Printer, Sunderland." Circular view of Sunderland Bridge.

(2577.) 30. 2. Another impression.

(2578.) 30. 3. Another.

(2579.) 31. 1. "E. Kirkley, Red Lion, Haltwhistle." "Newcastle: Printed by Edward Walker, Pilgrim Street." Crest of a lion rampant.

(2580.) 31. 2. Another impression.

(2581.) 32. "John Lawson, Shaw-House." "Printed by J. Thompson, Newcastle." An anchor.

(2582.) 33. 1. "G. Livingston, White Lion Inn, Houghton-le-Spring." "G. Summers, Printer, Sunderland." A lion.

(2583.) 33. 2. Another impression.

(2584.) 33. 3. Another.

(2585.) 34. "W^m Loftus, White Hart, Newcastle." A stag in a circle, round which are grapes, a flagon, cups, etc. Copperplate.

This is similar in style to No. 21 of this Division, and I have very little doubt is an early copperplate by Thomas Bewick.

(2586.) 35. "William Mann, White Hart, Hartlepool." A stag.

(2587.) 36. 1. "Charles M'Donald, Belford." A bell.

(2588.) 36. 2. Another impression.

(2589.) 37. 1. "Maxwell, Three Half Moons, Rothbury." "Davison, Printer, Alnwick." Grapes, decanter, punch-bowl, glasses, lemons, pipes, etc.

(2590.) 37. 2. Another impression. On white satin.

(2591.) 38. "George Nelson, Morpeth." Queen's

Head, the block of which is in my possession.

(2592.) 39. "R. Pape, Castle-Eden Inn." A house.

(2593.) 40. 1. "Mary Paxton, City Tavern, Durham." Arms of Durham.

(2595.) 41. "William Paxton, City Tavern, Durham." Arms of Durham.

(2596.) 42. 1. "J. Peverall, Black Lion, Stockton." Crest of a lion rampant.

(2597.) 42. 2. Another impression.

(2598.) 42. 3. Another.

(2599.) 43. 1. "Robeson, Angel Inn, Felton." "Printed by J. Catnach, Alnwick." An angel, blowing a trumpet, and holding in the left hand a palm.

(2601.) 44. "John Robinson, Cross Keys, Middleton." An ornamental oval.

Similar to No. 18 of this Division.

(2602.) 45. "R. Robinson, Black Bull Inn, Gateshead." "G. Angus, Printer." A bull.

Clearly another fine and early Bewick wood-cut.

(2603.) 46. "R. Robson, Star and Garter, North Shields." "W. Orange, Printer." A star and garter.

(2604.) 47. 1. "Blackett Sample, Angel Inn, Felton." An angel blowing a trumpet.

(2606.) 48. "Sewell, Talbot Inn, Bishop-Auckland." A talbot.

(2607.) 49. "P. Sewell, Talbot Inn, Bishop Auckland." A talbot.

Different from the former article.

(2608.) 50. 1. "Smith, Star & Garter, Inn, Tyne-mouth." An oval border. Dated Nov. 18, 1809.

Similar to No. 27 of this Division.

(2609.) 50. 2. Another impression. Dated Sep. 10, 1810.

(2610.) 51. 1. "Jno. Smith, Star & Garter, Tyne-mouth." A star and garter.

(2611.) 51. 2. Another impression.

(2612.) 51. 3. Another.

(2613.) 52. "William Smith, Monk-Wearmouth-shore Hotel." A house. Dated March 28, 1826.

(2614.) 53. 1. "Francis Staples, George Inn, Yarm." "Christopher & Jennett, Printers, Stockton." St. George and the dragon.

(2615.) 53. 2. Another impression.

(2616.) 54. "Henry Sunderland, Bigg Market, Newcastle." A Saracen's head, with barley, grapes, punch-bowl, etc. Copperplate. Dated in MS. 18th Feb. 1802.

Exactly similar in style to Nos. 21 and 34.

(2617.) 55. "Cuthbert Swenne, Greyhound Inn, Stockton-on-Tees." A greyhound.

(2618.) 56. "Teasdale, Talbot Inn, Bishop-Auckland." "Fair, Printer, Bishop Auckland." A talbot.

(2619.) 57. "Robert Tennant, King's Head Inn, Leyburn." "Langdale, Printer, North-Allerton." Oval portrait of George III.

(2620.) 58. "R. Turner, Tontine Inn." A house.

(2621.) 59. "W. Ward, Star and Garter, North Shields." A star and garter.

(2622.) 60. "Will^m Ward, Framwellgate, Durham." A wheatsheaf. Copperplate.

(2623.) 61. 1. "William West, Chester-le-Street." A white hart, with collar and chain, in an oval.

(2625.) 61. 3. Another. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

(2626.) 62. "Dorothy Whitfield, Mosley Street, Newcastle." A new moon among clouds.

(2627.) 63. 1. "Wilson. Alnwick." A swan swimming. Copperplate.

(2628.) 63. 2. Another impression.

(2629.) 63. 3. Another.

(2630.) 64. 1. "Wilson, Alnwick." A swan on the ground. Copperplate.

(2632.) 65. 1. "E. Wilson, White Swan, Alnwick." "Catnach, Printer, Stationer, &c." A swan.

Beyond all doubt an early and very clever Bewick cut. Very similar to, but not the same as, No. 22 of this Division.

(2633.) 65. 2. Another impression. "Printed by J. Catnach, Printer & Bookbinder, &c."

(2634.) 66. 1. "George Wilson, White Swan, Alnwick." A swan. Dated 22 Oct. 1791.

Doubtless an early Bewick cut.

(2636.) 67. "Tho^s Wilson, Bush Inn, Carlisle."
A bush. Copperplate.

(2637.) 68. "Wood, King's Head, Barnard-Castle."
"Crampton, Printer, Barnard-Castle." Round portrait of K. George III.

COAL CERTIFICATES.

THE following Coal Certificates were warranties that the Coals which they accompanied were of the quantity indicated, and the actual produce of the Mine whose name they bore. They are almost invariably engraved on copper, and are usually about five inches in depth by about nine or ten in breadth. Many of them are extremely beautiful, and all exhibit, in their handsome size and careful workmanship, the importance of the great trade in which they were employed.

(2638.) 1. 1. "Allans Main Coals." Arms of W. H. Lambton, Esq. Copperplate.

PLANS.

(2983.) 1. 1. "A Plan of the first part of the Canal Navigation from the East to the West Sea by way of Newcastle & Carlisle, projected and surveyed by R. Dodd, Civil Engineer, with the Continuation of the River Navigation into the North Sea. 1795. N.B. 103 Feet fall. Engraved by Beilby & Bewick, Newcastle."

(2984.) 1. 2. Another impression.

(2985.) 1. 3. Another.

This and the plans which follow, except the last, were executed to oppose the making of an intended canal. "They were mostly engraved by Bewick's own hand. The views of the buildings on them were done by him, and at the time were thought very clever." Mr. W. Garret.

"My partner and self were busily employed in engraving, about the year 1796, the plan of the proposed canal from Newcastle to Carlisle, as projected by Mr. Chapman, engineer, and plans of the estates and views of the mansion-houses of a few gentlemen who opposed the canal, on the north side of the Tyne." Bewick's Memoir, p. 142.

(2986.) 2. "A Plan of part of Beaufront Demesne the Seat of John Errington Esq." With "A South East View of Beaufront House. Engraved by Beilby & Bewick."

It is stated that the canal would go through the garden, lawn, and shrubbery, and would "totally disfigure the place." On the back is written "Rowland Burdon, Esq., M.P., Harley Street London."

(2987.) 3. "Plan of part of Elswick Estate, the Property & Seat of John Hodgson, Esq^r. Engraved by Beilby & Bewick." With "Elevation of the Intended New Mansion House at Elswick." With line, coloured red, of the proposed canal.

(2988.) 4. 1. "Plan of part of Close House Estate the Property & Seat of Calverly Bewicke, Esq^r. Engraved by Beilby & Bewick." With "View of the Mansion House." With line, coloured red, of the proposed canal.

(2989.) 4. 2. Another impression.

(2990.) 5. "Plan of the Hermitage (near Hexham, the Seat of John Hunter, Esq^r. Engraved by Beilby & Bewick." With "View of the Mansion House and Stables." With line, coloured red, of the proposed canal.

. Very similar to those used in the Stewards' Accounts, No. (496 etc.

(3010.) 7. Arms of Newcastle. In a circular border of laurel. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

[For other examples of the Arms of Newcastle, see Nos. (441 (496.), the Division "Newspaper Cuts," etc. etc.]

NEWSPAPER CUTS.

THE Newspaper Cuts of Bewick are second to none in the ability which they evince. While most of his other works were necessarily intended for more or less limited circulation, the scope of these was commensurate with society at large. To men of all classes, degrees, and conditions were addressed the newspapers, then issued weekly, of his great commercial and manufacturing town; and eyes that rarely saw most other productions of his graver were familiar with these spirited delineations, of which the close fidelity of some is only equalled by the grace and humour of others. The newspaper of his day was a coarse and badly printed sheet, and the cuts depended for much of their beauty on their intrinsic merit alone. But the wonderful artist that produced them was equal to all requirements, and nothing came amiss to a hand which knew not how to fail.

HEADINGS OF NEWSPAPERS.

(3011.) 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant Newspaper. An oak, against the trunk of which is a pennon charged with a cross, supporting three shields, the Northumberland, Newcastle, and Durham Arms; on either side of the tree, a courier riding at full speed; in the left distance the steeple of St. Nicholas, and in the foreground "HIC ET UBIQUE." Dated 1803.

"This and the following articles are successive variations, engraved as each of the series was injured or considered to be worn out. The cut underwent many alterations in redrawing at each of the many times that it was recut, but all of them have St. Nicholas steeple and the Old Castle in the background." Mr. John Bell.

(3012.) 2. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant. Generally similar to the last, but the steeple of St. Nicholas in the right distance. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3013.) 2. 2. Another impression.

(3014.) 2. 3. Another.

(3015.) 2. 4. Another. On a page on which three other impressions are mounted.

(3016.) 3. Heading of the Newcastle Courant. Generally similar to the last, but with the steeple of St. Nicholas in the left distance, and, as a base to the foreground, "ENGLAND EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY." From Mr. John Bell.

(3017.) 4. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant. Smaller. No pennon; the motto is placed on a rock, above which appear the branches of the tree; the steeple of St. Nicholas and the Castle in the left distance. No windmills.

(3018.) 4. 2. Another impression.

(3019.) 4. 3. Another.

(3020.) 4. 4. Another. On a page on which four other impressions are mounted. From Mr. John Bell.

(3021.) 5. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant.

Very similar to the last. The motto is placed on the rock; foreground without letters; steeple of St. Nicholas and the Castle, which are more prominent than in the last, in the left distance; three windmills in the right distance. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3022.) 5. 2. Another impression. From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

(3023.) 5. 3. Another.

(3024.) 5. 4. Another. On a page on which five other impressions are mounted. From Mr. John Bell.

(3025.) 6. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant. Very similar to the last. Two windmills in the right distance. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3026.) 6. 2. Another impression. On the Newcastle Courant of Aug. 6, 1825.

(3027.) 6. 3. Another.

By the kindness of John Blackwell, Esq., the proprietor of the Courant, the original Block, which is the last that Bewick executed for that newspaper, has been added to my collection. It retains in its present state more than enough to warrant the reputation which it once possessed.

(3028.) 7. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Courant. Somewhat resembling the last, but very inferior. In the left distance the steeple of St. Nicholas and the Castle, and in the foreground "O R." From Mr. W. Garret.

(3029.) 7. 2. Another impression.

(3030.) 7. 3. Another.

(3031.) 7. 4. Another. On a page on which several other impressions are mounted. From Mr. John Bewick. Query if by Bewick. I possess several others in papers and notices of subsequent date, but none of them are by him.

[See under Mr. Blackwell's name in the Division "Invoice Heads."]

(3033.) 8. 2. Another impression. On the Newcastle Journal of Aug. 9, 1788.

(3034.) 8. 3. Another.

(3035.) 9. Heading of the Newcastle Chronicle "The Newcastle Chronicle" in old text-hand, solid letters. On the Newcastle Chronicle of Aug. 3, 1793.

(3036.) 10. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Chronicle "The Newcastle Chronicle" in old text-hand, outlined letters. On the Newcastle Chronicle of Sep. 5, 1795.

(3037.) 10. 2. Another impression. On the Newcastle Chronicle of Jan. 9, 1808.

(3038.) 11. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Advertiser. The arms of Newcastle. "T. Bewick Scult." On the Newcastle Advertiser of Feb. 28, 1789.

(3039.) 11. 2. Another impression. On the Newcastle Advertiser of June 13, 1789.

(3040.) 11. 3. Another. On the Newcastle Advertiser of July 4, 1789.

(3041.) 11. 4. Another. On the Newcastle Advertiser of Aug. 1, 1789.

(3042.) 11. 5. Another. On a page on which five other impressions are mounted.

Very similar to, if not from the same block as, the engraving at page 291 of this volume.

(3043.) 12. Heading of the Newcastle Advertiser. The arms of Newcastle. On the Newcastle Advertiser of April 20, 1799.

(3044.) 13. 1. Heading of the Newcastle Advertiser. The arms of Newcastle. On the Newcastle Advertiser of January 12, 1811.

(3045.) 13. 2. Another impression.

(3046.) 13. 3. Another.

(3047.) 14. Heading of the Newcastle Advertiser. Arms of Newcastle. On the Newcastle Advertiser of Sep. 16, 1813.

(3048.) 15. 1. Heading of the Durham Chronicle. Arms of the Bishoprick in the centre, and of the City in each corner. On the Durham Chronicle of April 28, 1827.

(3049.) 15. 2. Another impression.

VIEW OF NEWCASTLE.

(3050.) 1. View of Newcastle. Used in the Newcastle Chronicle for a number of years, for containing an initial letter at the commencement of the Local News. Dated June 18, 1796.

(3051.) 2. Another impression. Dated March, 1797.

(3052.) 3. Another. Dated April 14, 1798.

The early articles of the foregoing series may be considered some of Bewick's first productions, but Nos. 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20, though extremely minute, are wonderfully spirited and clever.

“LOST, STOLEN, OR STRAYED.”

“There were several well-executed little cuts of a man on horseback at full gallop, with the devil sitting behind him, which was always put at the head of an advertisement of a ‘Horse Lost, Stolen, or Strayed.’” Mr. John Bell.

(3294.) 48. A large broadside of Songs, showing the last uses to which some of Bewick's Cuts have been applied. "Printed at John Ross's Steam Machine, Royal Arcade, Newcastle."

Purchased at the place in 1852. The cuts are Boy and Dog, and Witches riding on Broomsticks, and three not by Bewick.

THE CHILLINGHAM WILD BULL.

IN our progress along the Bewick gallery I have at length conducted my reader through the Illustrations of Books and Pamphlets, and the numerous Divisions of Cuts executed both for private purposes and for the various requirements of business and amusement. A large class of Miscellaneous Cuts yet remains for our examination, comprising many of very diversified character, among which are some of his most valued and interesting productions.

The work which by right claims among these the first place of honour is the engraving of the Chillingham Bull, considered by Thomas Bewick to be his masterpiece; and I am very happy to be able to furnish a far more minute account of the early history of this famous Cut than any which has hitherto been committed to the press.

The Chillingham Bull was engraved in the year 1789, at the request and by the direction of Marmaduke Tunstall, Esq., of Wycliffe, near Greta Bridge. It had in the first instance an ornamental border, and measures with it $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches by $7\frac{1}{4}$. Its many and great excellencies have been the theme of all writers on the subject of wood-engraving in England, and more than justify the admiration of the Bewick Collector. "The grass and the foliage of the trees," says Mr. Chatto, "are most beautifully expressed; but there is a want of variety in the more distant trees, and the bark of that in the foreground is too rough. . . . The style in which the bull is engraved is admirably adapted to express the texture of the short white hair of the animal; the dewlap, however, is not well represented; it appears to be stiff instead of flaccid and pendulous, and the lines intended for the hairs on its margin are too wiry." This, it must be admitted, is rather hypercritical, and by far the most unfavourable sentence that could be quoted, but is valuable as such, and satisfactory as proceeding from a most able but most unsparing and fastidious judge.

Several states of the engraving occur, in each of which, as it will be seen, my Collection is superlatively rich. My first example may, without injustice, be said to be the finest known, and of really historical importance. Many of my readers may remember it, as—the admired of all admirers, and surrounded by a splendid assemblage of other works by the same artist—it occupied the middle of a large frame, in the Woodcut Gallery in the Great Exhibition of 1862. Before I obtained it, it was in the possession of the late Mr. John Bell, of Gateshead, and in a MS. note appended to it that gentleman thus records its pedigree:—

“ Mr. Tunstall, of Wycliffe, for whom the cut of the Chillingham Bull was done, had given Bewick an invitation that, when the cut was finished, he was to come over to Wycliffe and spend a day or two, bringing some impressions with him. The cut was finished in the middle of a week, and the next day Bewick took it to Hodgson’s shop, in Union Street, to have some impressions taken off; but the presses were then engaged with the newspaper (the ‘ Newcastle Chronicle ’), and they could not do them. It was laid into the shop desk until the Saturday afternoon, when he came again, and, with my father, went to the printing-office, then at the foot of an entry on the West Side of the Groat Market. My father having a very fine small skin of vellum, which he had got for a plan, but which had not been used, he would try how the impressions would look on it, and took it with him to the printing-office, where it was divided into four, and four impressions taken off, which were all of them as good as possible; but my father, as he had found the vellum, picked that which he thought the best, which is that I have. The other three were given to Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. Beilby, and Mr. Bewick to take to Mr. Tunstall. There were also some few impressions taken off on paper, a strong but coarse sort of wove paper, but I could never learn how they were distributed, as Bewick took most of them with him the following day to Mr. Tunstall. When the printing of these impressions was finished, the cut was cleaned off and brought from the press-room to Mr. Bewick, who laid it upon the office-window as the safest place; but on Monday morning, when the office was opened, the cut was found split in two from the heat of the sun, the window facing the south-west. Putting the wet cut upon the window was altogether the act of Mr. Bewick, or there would have been some misunderstanding about it, which there was not. Jn^o Bell.”

This, which, it is important to add, was written in the year 1850, is by far the most particular account of the occurrence which has yet been published, and furnishes, in connection with some letters which will be quoted presently, a clear explanation of the various states in which the woodcut appears.

A great difference of opinion has existed with respect to the exact number of the impressions which were taken off during the Saturday, especially of those on parchment or vellum. In his Memoir, Bewick is silent on the subject. Mr. Atkinson, however, who may be considered to have obtained his information from him, says:—

“The first impressions taken from this block were four on thin vellum and a few on paper before he affixed his name. One of these four Bewick kept himself; Mr. John Bell got one; Mr. Beilby one, which was sold in London for £20; and the late Mr. Solomon Hodgson another, which was sold to Earl Spencer.” Atkinson’s Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 7.

Mr. Chatto tells us,—

“When only a few impressions of the Chillingham Bull had been taken, and before he had added his name, the block split. The pressmen, it is said, got tipsy over their work, and left the block lying on the window-sill exposed to the rays of the sun, which caused it to warp and split. About six impressions were taken on thin vellum before the accident occurred.” Hist. of Wood Engraving, p. 570.

In the proof of that portion of his work which refers to Bewick, which was given by Mr. Chatto to Mr. John Bell, and is now in my possession, the latter has written on the margin “Not the fact,” and, in reference to the impressions being “about six,” he adds “Only four.”

It is certain, however, that this statement of Mr. Bell is erroneous. My own collection will be found to contain three impressions on fine parchment, with the border and without the name. Lord Spencer has another, and I have seen two copies in private hands. To add to the confusion, Mr. John Bell himself, in a very interesting letter to Mr. Chatto, dated High Street, Gateshead, May 20, 1840, ten years previous to the date of his note already given,—which, with Mr. Chatto's reply, in the autograph of each of the writers, is now in my possession,—again and again asserts that six impressions were taken, and that they were on parchment and not on vellum. He says:—

“I have a collection of woodcut impressions in which there are many curious specimens of Bewick's work; among others, the best impression of the six which were taken from Bewick's large cut of the Cullingham Bull on parchment, not vellum, as is published to the world. By the bye, the writer of the account of this cut in line 13 page 570 of the Treatise on Wood-engraving is incorrect in saying that ‘the pressmen got tipsy over their work,’ as at the hour when the impressions were printed most of the men of the office had left. You, I dare say, well know the delays which take place with job-work in an office where a newspaper is printed. Bewick brought the cut to my father, in Hodgson's shop, on a Friday, to have some impressions taken off. My father conducted the concerns of the ‘Chronicle’ Newspaper, which was published in the afternoon of that day. The presses and the people were all engaged with the paper, and as it was clean it was laid for that day into his desk. On Saturday afternoon Bewick called, as he was going to Wycliffe on the Sunday, and my father mentioning some fine parchment which he had that day received from London to make some plans of estates on, he being also a land-surveyor, it was got out and a skin cut into six pieces; and he,

Bewick, and Hodgson, went to the printing-office, where the six impressions, afterwards said to be on vellum, were printed off, together with the same number on paper. My father picked out what he conceived the best impression, for having found the parchment, and Bewick and Hodgson each took one; and, on Bewick taking the remaining three to his workshop, Beilby, by taking another, reduced the parchment copies to two for Mr. Tunstall, which, with about half-a-dozen impressions on paper, Bewick took with him next morning to Wycliffe. When the impressions were taken off, Hodgson, from the size of the cut, wanted to know where it was to be put until Monday, when the quantity wanted was to be printed. Bewick, taking the cut, laid it upon the stone imposing-table, and the parties left the office. On Monday morning, when the office was opened, the cut was found to have split, the sun for the most part of Sunday having acted upon it through the window. Had it not been altogether in Bewick's hands in placing it where it was, there is not the least doubt but he would have made Hodgson answerable for it. Of the four parchment impressions mentioned as being kept in Newcastle, Bewick, after the dissolution of partnership with Beilby, sold his. Mrs. Hodgson, I believe, gave that which her late husband got to some friend of his. Mrs. Beilby sold her late husband's, through the medium of a third person, to the late Earl Spencer, for a large sum of money. This will be that noticed at line 18, page 570, but I have been told that the sum was more than what is mentioned there, even as much as fifty pounds!

To this Mr. Chatto replied in a letter, bearing date London, 23rd May, 1840. After some remarks on other matters, he proceeds:—

“I must now be permitted to make a few observations on your account of the printing of Bewick's famous Chillingham Bull, and I think that after reading them you will scarcely entertain a doubt of there having been more than six impressions taken on parchment. I have first to observe that you do not fairly quote what is stated about 'the pressmen getting tipsy over their work,' at page 570 of the Treatise. In writing that identical passage I was particularly guarded, in order that what I stated might not be supposed as proceeding from my own knowledge; and, on referring to the page, you will find that I merely mentioned the circumstance as a report. My words are 'it is said.' I am, however, strongly inclined to believe that the report was correct, and that there are circumstances connected with the taking of an additional number of parchment or vellum impressions, which in all probability your father neither heard of nor suspected. At present, be it sufficient for me to state that I had my information from Charlton Nesbit, Bewick's apprentice, and that I saw in his possession an impression of the Bull on parchment, which he obtained from a person in Newcastle previous to 1799. Another impression on thin parchment, not on vellum, as I have incorrectly stated, has been in my possession for the last eight years. Both these impressions bear the undeniable tokens of having been taken when the block was in its perfect state; they have the border, and not the slightest indication of the crack. Now I am firmly convinced that neither of these two impressions formed part of the six taken for Bewick in the presence of your father on the Saturday; therefore, as the block was discovered cracked on the Monday, they must have been taken at some intermediate time. My own copy formerly belonged to the late Thos. Stothard, R.A.; from whom he obtained it I have not been able to learn. I have heard of a third additional impression on parchment in London, but, as I have not seen it, I cannot say whether it was taken before the block was injured or not. In concluding this subject, I have further to observe that Nesbit told me that the person from whom he obtained his parchment impression had more than one left."

Notwithstanding Mr. Chatto's assumption of complete accuracy, and his self-satisfaction at having demolished his critic, it is perfectly clear that his argument is fallacious from his ignorance or forgetfulness of what really constitutes the first state of the cut. What he describes is the second state. Mr. Bell makes this evident in his rejoinder, dated "High Street, Gateshead, June 27, 1840." He says:—

"Reverting to Bewick's Chillingham Bull, the half-dozen impressions on fine parchment I mentioned in my letter are without his name, which he added at the left-hand corner of the cut, 'T. Bewick, Newcastle, 1789,' during an attempt of his own to close the crack after he got it back from the printing-office. He succeeded so far in closing it that he took it back to the printing-office to have it printed, and was able to print some impressions without any mark of the crack; but it soon, either by bad management or otherwise, got hove up on the edge of one side of the crack, which made a line along the side of the Bull, from below its eye to the tail, blacker on the under side than the part immediately above on the same line. When this did not succeed, he took the cut back to the shop, where it lay for many years, until Wilson, the whitesmith, undertook to screw it together and back it with iron. In this he succeeded, but was obliged to leave out the border, and all the impressions after it was in his hands are without it. I have made inquiries amongst the old printers and find that Jack Simpson, the pressman in the Chronicle office at the time of Bewick beginning to print the Quadrupeds, from having succeeded in pleasing Bewick in the manner he worked off the cuts of that work, got quite a large man, and when he chose has come on a Sunday to work at press, when he either wanted to work up lost time or otherwise; and Hannah, the housemaid at Hodgson's, who took in the keys each evening, and he were very thick, when he might have gone to the office and worked off as many as he liked. If he did do so or not is now lost, for every one of them then living and merry are gone."

It would appear, therefore, to be tolerably certain that six impressions on parchment and the same number on paper were all that were taken, with Bewick's knowledge, on the Saturday before the block was injured, but that Simpson may have clandestinely taken some other impressions on the Sunday, and that to his unauthorized use of the cut the lamentable injury may possibly be attributable. Allowing, however, that Simpson had the power, I do not believe that he exercised it in this particular instance. The parchment impressions referred to by Mr. Chatto are known to bear the name of the artist, and were accordingly taken after the first attempt at reparation, and not on the Sunday when the cut was at the office. And I very much doubt whether more than six impressions on parchment, with the border, and really without the name, can be found to exist. I say, "really without the name," as I discovered several years ago an impression on paper from which an endeavour had been made to obliterate the name by means of a thick coat of printers' ink. The same fraud may, of course, be attempted on a parchment impression.

Whether Bewick carried a parchment impression to Mr. Tunstall seems very doubtful. Possibly my second and third impressions are two of the three which he retained. It is, however, probable that he gave that gentleman all the impressions taken on paper, and that none found their way to any other quarter. I am not aware of the existence of a single impression on paper taken from the block before the addition of the name.

(3295.) 1. The Chillingham Wild Bull. On fine parchment. With the border. Without the engraver's name, and without the printed title at the foot. From Mr. John Bell. (See the previous Introduction.) This is known as the first state.

(3296.) 2. Another impression. On fine parchment. Similar to the former article. Obtained many years ago from Miss Bewick.

(3297.) 3. Another. On fine parchment. Similar to the two former articles. From Miss Bewick.

These impressions present no indication of the unhappy accident already described. Each of them is a most beautiful work of art, with the border, without the engraver's name, and without the printed title at the foot. I have never known an impression for public sale.

(3298.) 4. Another impression. On yellow China paper.

This is in the second state, and is the only impression of this state on China paper that I have ever heard of. In the left corner of the foreground is "T Bewick Newcastle 1789" The "T" and "B" are united in a monogram—a favourite practice, as we have often noticed, of the artist. It formerly possessed the border, of which it is remembered to have been deprived to accommodate it to the dimensions of a lady's album.

(3299.) 5. Another impression. On paper. In the second state. With the border, name, and title. Under the cut is printed "The Wild Bull, of the Ancient Caledonian Breed, now in the Park at Chillingham-Castle, Northumberland. 1789."

Obtained from Mr. Thomas Bell. Impressions of this kind, when occurring for sale, usually fetch from three to five guineas, and the price is gradually increasing.

(3300.) 6. Another impression. On paper. In the second state. With the border, name, and title.

Similar to the former. Obtained from Mr. William Garret, who says of it, "A very fine impression, and, upon the whole, in good condition when compared with most of the copies that have passed through my hands."

(3301.) 7. Another impression. On paper. In the second state. With the border, name, and title.

Similar to the former.

In all the foregoing no trace of the injury to the block is visible.

(3302.) 8. Another impression. On paper.

This bears unhappy evidence that the attempt at reparation was unsuccessful, and that the block is incurably split in all directions. It is without the border and the title, and has been spaced out by Bewick with a black-lead pencil, into squares, for re-engraving. It was obtained from Mr. W. Garret, who says, "The impression of the Bull which I have just sent you is a curious and valuable one, for when the block was cracked, Bewick despaired of its ever being repaired, and therefore set to work and squared out an impression, the one sent, for a new block, should he not succeed in clamping it together." The impressions, however, bear evidence immediately and ever afterwards of the unfortunate accident which the block had sustained.

(3303.) 9. Another impression. On paper.

This is similar in all respects to the last, except that it has not been spaced for re-engraving. It is evident, however, that each of these two rough impressions was taken for no other purpose than the reproduction of the cut on another block.

Obtained from Miss Bewick.

(3304.) 10. Another impression. On white India paper.

This is the third and present state, in which impressions are still occasionally taken. The cracks are very conspicuous. It has simply a double line border, and below the cut is printed "The Wild Bull, of the Ancient Caledonian Breed, now in the Park at Chillingham-Castle, Northumberland."

Obtained from Miss Bewick.

(3305.) 11. Another impression. On white India paper.

Exactly similar to the last. Obtained from Miss Bewick.

(3306.) 12. Another impression. On white India paper.
Exactly similar to the last. Obtained from Mr. J. G. Bell.

No certain rule can be given as to the price of impressions in this state. It has hitherto ranged from twenty to twenty-five shillings (one, indeed, has been sold for three guineas), but the increasing avidity with which genuine impressions are sought for has necessarily a tendency to make still higher prices common. The same remark may be made of every price-quotations in the present catalogue.

The collector of the works of Bewick should be earnestly cautioned against a number of engravings falsely represented by their vendors to be impressions of this famous Block. It is true that these can deceive none who have seen genuine specimens, but they serve the purpose of imposing on the ignorant. One of them, I am assured, was produced some years ago expressly in order to meet the constantly occurring demand, which it was manifestly impossible to supply. The cut of the Wild Bull in Richardson's Table Book, vol. vi. page 15, has also, when printed without the letter-press, been often exhibited as the genuine engraving. In this very indifferent specimen of the artist's skill, the animal is represented with its fore legs close to each other, without the tree on the left and without the name, with a few bad lines of foreground, and some unmeaning foliage in the rear. A friend has presented me with a set of impressions on paper, India paper, parchment, fine vellum, and white satin. Very large sums have been given for such worthless counterfeits, and I am doing the collector a service, for which he may have too great a reason to thank me, by softly whispering to him before he purchases—Caveto!

BEWICK'S LITHOGRAPH.

(3307.) "THE CADGER'S TROT." A LITHOGRAPH.
 "Sketched by T B at Edinburgh 21 Aug^t 1823" [reversed, and the T B in a monogram]. In the left corner is "Robertson & Ballantine's Lithog^y Edin^t."

This is Bewick's solitary specimen of lithography, and represents "the long plunging pace" of a cadger's horse.

A Newcastle gentleman furnished me many years ago with the following account :—

"In 1823 Bewick did his only specimen of lithography, a sketch to illustrate the long plunging pace of a horse, called the 'Cadger's Trot.' It was done for Ballantyne, of Edinburgh. When visiting Robertson's printing-office at that place, Bewick saw one of the men working at a lithographic stone, making what he thought a fine horse. Bewick told him that a horse at any speed could not throw its fore-feet forward beyond its nose, and took up the drawing pencil and gave him a sketch of a man on horseback, with which the printer was so delighted that he wanted to preserve it on the stone. Bewick, however, declined, and had it rubbed off after taking a few impressions."

Mr. John Bell, from whom my impression was obtained, writes as follows :—

“ When Bewick and his eldest daughter went down to Edinburgh, Ballantyne and some others invited him to breakfast, during which a stone was brought, and he was induced to sketch the Man and Horse, to which he added his favourite man hanging on a gibbet in the distance. There were not above twenty-five or so impressions taken, which were divided amongst the company present, he getting his share, one of which he brought to me on the Sunday morning after he returned home, and related the circumstances about it. I told Mr. G. C. Atkinson these particulars, which I expect he published in his Memoir of him.”

Mr. Atkinson says :—

“ The only specimen of lithography by Bewick is a sketch he made in Edinburgh for Ballantyne and Robertson, in 1823, to illustrate the long plunging pace of a horse, sometimes called Cadger's Trot. It is a highly spirited thing.” Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 15.

These remarks were written by Mr. Atkinson with the present impression lying before him. It was lent by Mr. Bell to him, as appears from a memorandum of the former in my possession, on the 7th of June, and returned on the 15th of September, 1830.

Bewick's own account of the matter, though less minute and interesting than that already given, does not essentially vary from its details. He says :—

“ I have almost forgotten to name my being introduced to Messrs. Ballantyne and Robertson, lithographic printers. Whilst I was in their office, the latter pressed me to make a sketch on the stone for him. I was then preparing to leave Edinburgh, and the only time left me was so short that I was obliged to draw this sketch before breakfast the next morning, and the proofs were taken from it on the same day. In doing this, though very slight, I could see what that manner of making prints was capable of. I left Edinburgh on the 23rd August, 1823." Bewick's Memoir, pp. 232, 233.

MISCELLANEOUS CUTS.

 VIEWS.

(3308.) I. 1. Cherry Burn, the Birthplace of Bewick. "Drawn by John Bewick. 1781" An engraver's proof. First state. On white India paper.

THIS BELONGED TO BEWICK HIMSELF, who has written at the foot of it, "Cherry Burn House—unfinished proof, 1819." From Mr. John Bell.

(3309.) I. 2. Another impression. On yellow China paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3310.) I. 3. Another impression. Second state. On paper.

With various minute additions, especially in the foreground at the left corner, where many of the black patches are removed and delicate herbage is introduced. From Miss Jane Bewick.

(3311.) I. 4. Another impression. On paper. Similar to the last.

(3312.) I. 5. Another impression. On paper. Third state. The finished state of the engraving.

It differs from the two last in the reduced height of the tree before the cottage. In the former states the roof and side of the cottage were almost concealed, in the present they are distinctly represented. Below the cut is printed "Cherry Burn. Birth-place of Thomas Bewick."

(3313.) 1. 6. Another similar impression. On paper.

On the right-hand corner is written "From William Bewick, Cherry Burn, August 5th, 1852." It was given to me by him on the day named.

(3318.) 2. "A View of the Exchange from the Sandhill." "Printed for & Sold by Beilby & Bewick Engravers Newcastle." Copperplate.

It also ornamented the head of "The Newcastle Almanack for the year 1786." See No. (28.).

(3319.) 3. 1. The Old Exchange, Newcastle. On white India paper.

(3320.) 3. 2. Another impression. On pink India paper.

This, which is a copy on wood of the previous article, is introduced below the portrait of Bewick by Charlton Nesbit. See among the "Portraits."

(3321.) 4. View of the Turf Hotel, Newcastle. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession, an impression of which is given at page 380.

(3322.) 5. View of the Turf Hotel, Newcastle. In a single line border. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3323.) 6. Ruins, near Newcastle, with the steeple of St. Nicholas in the distance. On white India paper.

From the original Block in my possession.

I am in great doubt of the authenticity of this cut, but add an impression that the reader may exercise his own judgment.

(3324.) 7. View of some manufactory, with a tall chimney. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

Perhaps done for the head of an invoice.

(3325.) 8. Large cut of an Oak, with the Tyne and Newcastle in the distance. On white India paper.

I am indebted for the loan of this exquisite cut to the kindness of the Rev. John F. Bigge, Vicar of Stamfordham, Northumberland. An impression is given at page 444.

(3326.) 9. The Lunatic Asylum, Newcastle. Large cut. Proof on paper.

“The Lunatic Asylum was engraved by Bewick; indeed, at the time it was done, there was no other that could have executed it. It is very scarce, and few collectors have an impression of it. Where the block is now I know not.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3327.) 10. 1. Hunmanby Church. Rev. Archdeacon Wrangham's. Proof on paper.

(3338.) 12. 5. Another. On yellow satin. From the same.

(3339.) 13. The Birthplace of Burns. On paper.

"This was engraved for John Mitchell, printer, Newcastle, by Thomas Bewick, somewhere about 1808 or 9." Mr. W. Garret.

(3340.) 14. 1. Hilton Castle. Proof on paper.

(3341.) 14. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

Not that in No. (485.).

(3342.) 15. Bywell Bay, on the Tyne. Copper-plate. On white India paper. From Miss Bewick.

At the foot is written "Proof. R. E. Bewick del^t & sculp^t:" apparently in the autograph of Thomas Bewick.

(3343.) 16. A Church with two Spires. On paper. A large square woodcut, in a double line border.

(3344.) 17. 1. View of Cottages, with a Post-chaise and Horses in front. Below are the figures "49."

I am informed that this was done about the year 1814, for Mozley, of Derby, to ornament the covers of copy-books. The number was merely for the sake of reference.

(3345.) 17. 2. Another impression.

(3346.) 18. Distant View of Cottages, from the road, on a bleak hill-side. On paper.

ANIMALS.

LARGE WOODCUTS OF ANIMALS.

(3348.) 1. 2. Another impression. Proof on paper.

This, together with Nos. 5, 7, and 9, was done in 1799 for Mr. Pidcock, the owner of a travelling menagerie then in Newcastle. Before they were used by him a few impressions from each block were taken off on drawing paper. Mr. G. C. Atkinson says that "Bewick had 150 impressions of the Lion, 200 of the Tiger, 250 of the Elephant, and 150 of the Zebra, struck off before the blocks were put into Mr. Pidcock's hands." (Sketch of Bewick, page 9.) It is most important to remark that they differ considerably from those for which they are generally mistaken, and are infinitely finer and more characteristic. From the late Mr. John Bell.

[See among the "Cuts for Exhibitions," Nos. (2262.), (2263.), for impressions of this cut on the show-bills of Mr. Pidcock, and of Mr. Howis his successor.]

(3349.) 2. A Lion. Exactly similar to the former, but reversed. Proof on paper.

"The Lion he engraved thrice afterwards; once a plain reverse in position to the one done for Mr. Pidcock, again in a different attitude, and one a little smaller, couchant." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 9.

"I believe this to be unique." Mr. W. Garret.

(3350.) 3. 1. A Lion. Head to the right. Unfinished proof. On vellum. Body of the animal very wavy. From Mr. W. Garret.

This is one of a series published subsequently, to which Bewick did no more than give some finishing touches. It is doubtful, indeed, whether he did even so much as that to more than one of them. The series consists of the Lion, Tiger, Elephant, and Zebra, Nos. 3, 6, 8, and 10, of this Division, and of a portrait of Bewick, by Nesbit, accompanied by a view of the Newcastle Old Exchange, by Bewick, underneath. A small number of this series was published in sets, and sold at 25s. the set. A very few impressions were taken on white India paper and on vellum, and what were called unique copies on tinted India paper.

“This cut of the Lion was engraved by Bewick’s pupil, William Temple, and when finished only three impressions were taken off, which have the wavy appearance on the sides of the animal, etc. The block was then returned to Bewick at his own request, when he altered the cut considerably with his own hand, which gave the animal a better appearance of hair. It took him a considerable time to restore the hairy appearance of the body of the animal and get rid of the cloudy appearance. The cut was finished by Bewick’s own hand under my own eye.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3351.) 3. 2. Another impression. Unfinished proof. On vellum. Body of the animal less wavy than the former. From Mr. W. Garret.

“Altered state, before it was finished.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3352.) 3. 3. Another. Unfinished proof. On vellum. From Mr. W. Garret.

“The unfinished state of the block.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3353.) 3. 4. Another. On paper. From the same.

(3354.) 3. 5. Another. On vellum. From the same.

(3355.) 3. 6. Another. Finished proof. On vellum. From the same.

“Finished state of the block. Very fine.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3356.) 3. 7. Another. On vellum. From Mr. John Bell.

(3357.) 3. 8. Another. On paper.

(3358.) 3. 9. Another. On paper.

(3359.) 3. 10. Another. On white India paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3360.) 3. 11. Another. On pink India paper.
From Mr. W. Garret.

(3361.) 3. 12. Another. On pink India paper.
From Mr. J. G. Bell.

The copies on tinted India paper have been said to be unique, but this is proved to be incorrect by the two impressions now described. They are, however, very nearly so.

(3362.) 4. 1. Lion. A very beautiful cut, the head of the animal, which is in a regarding attitude, to the right, with a little foliage for the background.

I am not aware that it was ever published, and have to thank a member of the artist's family for this and my other impressions. They are all proofs on paper.

(3363.) 4. 2. Another impression.

In the left corner is written, apparently in the autograph of Thomas Bewick, "Tho^s Bewick del^t & sculp^t."

(3364.) 4. 3. Another.

(3365.) 4. 4. Another.

(3366.) 4. 5. Another.

(3367.) 4. 6. Another.

(3368.) 4. 7. Another.

(3369.) 5. Tiger. Head to the left. No background.
Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

This was done for Mr. Pidcock in 1799.

[See among the "Cuts for Exhibitions," No. (2263).]

(3370.) 6. 1. Tiger. Head to the left. A background of a few distant trees. On white India paper.
From Mr. J. G. Bell.

This is another of the series described above. Like the rest, it was probably done by Temple, and received a few final touches from Bewick's hand. The differences in the body of the animal itself from the previous article, though minute, are easily discernible; and there is, as already stated, a background of trees, etc., which is not in that executed for Mr. Pidcock.

(3371.) 6. 2. Another impression. On pink India paper. From the same.

(3372.) 6. 3. Another. On vellum. From the same.
"A perfect gem." Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3373.) 6. 4. Another. On vellum.

(3374.) 7. Elephant. Head to the left. No background. Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

Done for Mr. Pidcock in 1799.

(3375.) 8. 1. Elephant. Head to the right. A background of a few distant trees. On white India paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

Another of the subsequent series. It has a slight background, and the animal is reversed.

(3376.) 8. 2. Another impression. On pink India paper.

(3377.) 8. 3. Another. On vellum.

(3378.) 8. 4. Another. On vellum.

(3379.) 9. 1. Zebra. Head to the right. Only a few lines of foreground. Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

Done for Mr. Pidcock in 1799.

(3380.) 9. 2. Another impression. From Mr. John Bell.

(3381.) 10. 1. Zebra. Head to the right. Foreground of herbage. On paper.

Another of the subsequent series. With differences in the animal, as well as in the back and foreground.

(3382.) 10. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3383.) 10. 3. Another. On pink India paper.

(3384.) 10. 4. Another. On vellum.

(3385.) 11. Zebra. On paper. Larger than the former. The animal looks to the right and has no background.

“Engraved about the year 1810, for Mozley, of Gainsborough.
Mr. W. Garret.

(3386.) 12. 1. “The Whitley Large Ox, belonging to M^r Edward Hall of Whitley in Northumberland,” “Drawn & engraved by T Bewick” “Published and sold by Beilby & Bewick Newcastle April 10 1789.”

A copperplate, measuring $10\frac{3}{4}$ inches by 7 inches. In the background is a view of Tynemouth Priory. The T and B are in monogram.

“The Whitley Ox is extremely rare, and I believe the copperplate is now destroyed. At least I can find no trace of it.”
Mr. W. Garret.

(3387.) 12. 2. Another impression.

(3388.) 13. 1. “The remarkable Kyloe Ox, bred in the Mull Argyleshire, by Donald Campbell Esq^r & fed by M^r Rob^t Spearman of Rothley Park Northumberland 6 Years Old Killed July 22^d 1790”
“Drawn & Engraved by T. Bewick Newcastle.”

A copperplate, measuring 13 inches by $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. In the background is a hedge, with trees and a five-barred gate.

“The Ox of Spearman is also very scarce, as few impressions were printed.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3389.) 13. 2. Another impression.

(3390.) 13. 3. Another.

(3391.) 13. 4. Another.

(3392.) 13. 5. Another. On white India paper.
From Mr. E. Pearson.

(3393.) 13. 6. Another. On vellum. From the same.

(3394.) 13. 7. Another. On white satin. From the same.

(3395.) 14. A Lion. Smaller than those of the "Large Woodcuts," but much larger than that of the "Quadrupeds." Head to the right. Proof on paper. Given me by Miss Bewick.

(3398.) 17. A Zebra. Smaller than that of the "Large Woodcuts," but much larger than that of the "Quadrupeds." Head to the left.

"Engraved about the year 1810, for Mozley, of Gainsborough."
Mr. W. Garret.

(3399.) 18. Striped Hyæna. Not of the "Quadrupeds." Small. Head to the right. In a border.

(3400.) 19. The Improved Cart-Horse. A reversed copy of that in the "Quadrupeds." On yellow China paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3401.) 20. 1. The Red Deer. Not of the "Quadrupeds." Proof on paper.

(3402.) 20. 2. Another impression.

(3403.) 20. 3. Another.

(3404.) 20. 4. Another. On white India paper.

(3405.) 20. 5. Another. On vellum.

(3406.) 21. "Unknown Animal." A reversed copy of that in the "Quadrupeds" (ed. 1820, p. 293), within a double line border. From Mr. John Bell.

A square engraving, size $4\frac{1}{2}$ by $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches, within a line border.

In the foreground, among foliage, is "JBwk"—the J and B in a monogram. From Mr. John Bell.

(3408.) 23. Stags Feeding. On yellow China paper.

Very similar to the cut in the 'Sportsman's Cabinet,' vol. ii. p. 127.

(3409.) 24. A Series of Twenty-six Quadrupeds. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

They consist of the Bull, the Hunter (2), the Mule (2), the Ass (3), the Zebra, the Stag, the Rein-deer, the Roe-Buck, the Common Goat, the Goat of Angora, the Cougar, the Shepherd's Dog, the Greyhound, the Beagle, the Springer, the English Setter (2), the Cat (2), the Fomart, the Agouti, and the Squirrel Opossum.

I doubt whether all of them are by Bewick, but, without exception, they are extremely clever. I give as a specimen the cut of the Stag.

(3410.) 25. 1. "Durham Cow. 5." A reversed copy of that in No. (247.).

(3411.) 25. 2. Another impression. "28."

(3412.) 25. 3. Another. In a square border.

(3413.) 26. "Wild Colt and Thunder Storm. 44." On paper.

(3414.) 27. "The Good Cow. 45." On paper.

(3415.) 28. Two Sheep. "48." On paper.

"These were engraved for Henry Mozley, printer, Derby, and used by him for the covers of copy-books. The numbers were merely inserted for arrangement." Mr. W. Garret.

(3416.) 29. A Series of Six Birds. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

They are Chaffinch, the Pied Wagtail, an impression of which is given on page 458, the Robin (2), of one of which also an impression follows, the Wren and the Toucan.

(3417.) 30. Foreign Bird. Not one of those in the "Birds." On white India paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

"Purchased from a relative of an early pupil of Bewick, and all parties awarded it to him. I have never seen another, and believe it to be unique." Mr. W. Garret.

(3419.) 32. Ringtailed Eagle. Copperplate. Without name.

(3420.) 33. A Fish. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3421.) 34. A Lobster. "Drawn & Engraved by Robert Elliot Bewick." Copperplate.

It was done for Mr. Cookson, to ornament a lobster-pot. Printed in ink to represent the colour of the animal.

(3422.) 35. A Dragon Fly. On white India paper.
From the original Block in my possession.

VARIOUS.

(3423.) I. 1. "The Alarm," or "the World Distracted." Proof on paper.

A suppressed cut, representing the world escaped from its orbit and surrounded by fiends. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3424.) I. 2. Another impression. Proof on paper.
From Mr. Sykes's Collection.

(3425.) I. 3. Another. Cutting from the Memoir, 1862.

The intention of this singular production has given rise to much and contradictory speculation. In an autograph note appended to my second impression Mr. Sykes describes it as "A very curious cut, never published. It was intended to illustrate memoirs of his acquaintances who had left this world during his lifetime, but which was never published. J. Sykes." According to Mr. W. A. Chatto, "one of the fables, written by Bewick, was objected to by the printer, the late Mr. E. Walker, and at his request it was omitted." In the cut "the world is represented as having lost its balance, and legions of his favourite devils are seen hurled about in a confused vortex. The fable, it is said, was intended as a satire on the ministerial politics of the time." History of Wood-Engraving, p. 596.

In Bewick's Memoir, page 325, the fable is given under the title of "The Alarm." It describes the re-election of King Ignorance by a great majority, and the fate of millions of fiends, which "in their fall through endless space, by the violence of their motion, ignited, were whirled into balls of fire, and gravitated to the sun."

(3427.) 3. Portrait of William III. Proof on paper.

Said to have been done for Crosby and Co., of London.

(3428.) 4. Portrait of George III., in an oval. Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

Said to have been done for the Messrs. Blackwood.

(3430.) 6. Portrait of John Knox, in a border of thistles. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3431.) 7. Portrait of Beaumont the Dramatist.

(3432.) 8. Portrait of the Rev. Christopher Gregson. A profile shade. Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

This was lent by Mr. Bell to Mr. Atkinson, for description in his 'Sketch of T. Bewick,' on the 7th of June, and returned on the 13th of September, 1830. Mr. Atkinson says:—"Such a feeling" of regard "it was which pervaded the bosom of Mr. Bewick towards his early preceptor," the Rev. Christopher Gregson, "and led him not only to speak of him at all times in terms of the sincerest gratitude and respect, but at a later period to engrave a profile shade of him for the illustration of a memoir of himself, intended to contain likenesses of his friends." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 5.

(3433.) 9. Portrait of "W. Markham School Ma:"
On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3434.) 10. Another. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3435.) 11. Another. "D^r. Markham" On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3436.) 12. Portrait of James Losh, Esq., Recorder of Newcastle. A profile shade. Proof on paper.

(3437.) 13. Portrait of Mr. I. F. M. Dovaston. A profile shade.

(3438.) 14. 1. Robertson's Shilling Token. On the obverse, "Payable by John Robertson, Newcastle on Tyne." On the reverse, "Northumberland & Durham 12^d Token. 1811." On white India paper.

(3439.) 14. 2. Another impression. On yellow China paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3440.) 14. 3. Another. On yellow China paper. From the same.

See Sykes's Local Records, vol. ii. p. 64.

(3441.) 15. 1. A Kneeling Negro. Round, within a border, bearing the sentence "Am I not a Man and a Brother?" Solitary figure. On yellow China paper.

(3442.) 15. 2. Another impression.

(3443.) 15. 3. Another.

(3444.) 15. 4. Another.

(3445.) 15. 5. Another. On yellow satin. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3446.) 16. 1. A Kneeling Negro. Differing from the last, among other particulars, in having figures of negroes in the distant background. Proof on paper.

(3447.) 16. 2. Another impression. On white India paper.

(3449.) 16. 4. Another. On yellow China paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3450.) 16. 5. Another.

(3451.) 17. The Three Doctors in Consultation. A large oval cut, in a border. Underneath, in the autograph of Miss Bewick, is written "J. Bewick." From Mr. John Bell.

(3452.) 18. A clever Vignette of Two Boys, English and Scotch, engaged in a very natural, but not very delicate, contest.

This was ONE OF BEWICK'S OWN PROOFS, and at the foot he has written "The Border Wars of 1823." From Mr. John Bell.

(3454.) 20. Vignette. The Butcher of Bywell. Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

(3455.) 21. The Colliers' Dance. Five men dancing, adorned with ribands, etc. On the left is a fiddler. Proof on paper. From Miss Bewick.

(3456.) 22. The Ladies' Race. A racing cut, with lady judges and jockeys. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3457.) 23. An Assembly, apparently the drawing of tickets in a lottery. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

“Originally engraved by Bewick for John Mitchell, the proprietor and publisher of the Tyne Mercury Newspaper.” MS. note.

(3459.) 25. The Collier going to his Work. Proof on paper.

(3460.) 26. A Tomb. Without an inscription. Very much in the style of Mr. Hodgson's cut given at p. 314. From Mr. John Bell.

(3461.) 27. 1. Female Figure kneeling at a Tomb, on which is inscribed “This is the Victory even our Faith 1 John v. iv.” Behind is some clever foliage, and a distant view of St. Nicholas' steeple and the Old Castle. Proof on paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3462.) 27. 2. Another impression. Cut from a monody.

“This was engraved for Mrs. Angus, who used it for monodies and elegies when employed to print such matters.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3463.) 28. “James I. about to take Assay of the Deer.”

Facsimile of an old woodcut.

(3464.) 29. A Series of Five Scripture Cuts, illustrating the History of Moses in Egypt. Proofs on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

(3465.) 30. A Man, with a Bird caught in a Trap. On yellow China paper.

(3466.) 31. The Tiger and the Fox. On yellow China paper.

(3467.) 32. The Cock and the Jewel. On yellow China paper.

(3468.) 33. A Monk sitting by the seashore, a church on a cliff above him, and the sun rising in the distance. On yellow China paper.

This and the five previous articles have the appearance of having been done for book illustrations, but I am unable to assign them to their original places.

(3469.) 34. 1. Two Seals. Proof on paper.

“This was engraved for Sir Cuthbert Sharp, but not used up to the time of his death. It has been asserted that he did not get his cuts engraved by Bewick; but I was consulted as to several of them by my old and worthy friend the Knight, and saw them with my own eyes under the graver of Bewick. Besides, Sir Cuthbert, in his Introduction to the ‘History of Hartlepool,’ expressly states that some of the woodcuts are by Bewick.”
Mr. W. Garret.

(3470.) 34. 2. Another impression. Proof on paper.

(3471.) 34. 3. Another. Proof on paper.

(3472.) 35. “Annulus Antiquus. In Museo Imolensi Julii Caesaris Ginnasi.” “Engraved by Rob^t Elliot Bewick Newcastle upon Tyne April 12th 1815.” A figure of an ancient gold ring, with its devices. Copperplate.

This was the original proof sent to the owner. At the foot is written, in the autograph of Mr. Emerson Charnley, “Count Ginnasi, Bell’s Court, Pilgrim Street, at Mr. Coocking, Printer.”

(3473.) 36. 1. Waggon and Eight Horses, with mounted Driver. On paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3474.) 36. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

“Said to be one of the earliest productions of Thomas Bewick.”
Mr. W. Garret.

(3475.) 37. A Four-Horse Waggon descending a Hill, with a fifth horse carrying the driver's wallet.

A fine large cut, 7 inches by $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches. From Mr. John Bell.

It is probably the cut referred to by Mr. Atkinson, to whom it was lent by Mr. Bell, in the following passage:—"He engraved, on a large block, the design of a six(?)-horse waggon descending a hill, for some person at Leeds, who objected to the price when it was sent to him and returned it. In its passage to or from Leeds the block was injured, which irritated Bewick considerably." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, p. 9.

(3476.) 38. An Eight-Horse Waggon. Small. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3477.) 39. A Four-Horse Waggon. Small. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3478.) 40. Neptune, holding his trident and drawn by two sea-monsters. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3479.) 41. A Ship.

A fine large cut, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches by 6 inches. Done for notices of ship auctions, or announcements of voyages.

(3480.) 42. A Series of Four Ships. Much smaller. Done for the same purposes.

(3481.) 43. A Series of Ten Ships. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

(3482.) 44. The Northumberland Life Boat. With Tynemouth in the distance. Proof on paper.

A reverse of the cut in the 'Select Fables' of 1820, page 4.

(3483.) 45. "County of Northumberland." A round seal, with the figure of a castle in the centre, the arms of Northumberland, with the foregoing motto as a border. At the foot of the castle, "T. Davidson C. P." On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3484.) 46. "Amicitia, Amor et Veritas." Two men supporting an emblematical shield, with the foregoing motto. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3485.) 47. A parcel of Books, on the top of which is lying an open volume, with "Biblia Sacra Polyglotta a Car. Ximenes, Compluti, 1514." Proof on paper.

(3486.) 48. Arms of Trevelyan. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3487.) 49. Equestrian Figure, in white outline on a black ground. Signed "T B" in a monogram. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

Done for some circus exhibition.

(3488.) 50. Equestrian Figure. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

Done for some circus exhibition.

(3489.) 51. Equestrian Figure. Smaller. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

Done for some circus exhibition.

(3490.) 52. The Magician. A tall bearded figure in a long garment is touching, with a wand, a skeleton, which rises from smoke issuing from a three-legged caldron. A soldier is throwing up his arms in astonishment at the sight.

Possibly done for some conjuring exhibition.

(3491.) 53. A Series of Eleven Borders, for shop-cards, etc. The following is a specimen.

(3492.) 54. The Fleece. Figure of a Sheep suspended by the middle. On yellow China paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3493.) 55. "Teas Genuine as Imported." A company of ladies and gentlemen at tea. Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3494.) 56. A Chinaman, with porcelain jars, tea-chest, etc.; a ship and pagoda in the distance. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

This does not exhibit the usual character of Bewick's work, but I had the Block from a gentleman in whose family it had been for a number of years, and by whom it was much valued as one of his early efforts. An impression is given at page 365.

(3495.) 57. A Chinese Lady and Child, with tea-chests, etc. Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3496.) 58. A Tea-pot. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3497.) 59. Three Sugar-loaves. For a grocer. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3498.) 60. A Highlander, holding in his right hand a gun. In an ornamental border, Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3499.) 61. A Series of Five Figures of the Tobacco-Plant, with distant Landscape. Tradesmen's cuts. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

(3501.) 63. A Woman Mangling. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3502.) 64. Figures of Two Wig Maker's Blocks. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3503.) 65. Shrub growing in a pot. For a nurseryman. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3504.) 66. Auctioneer's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession. An impression is given at page 369.

(3505.) 67. The Fleece. For a woollen-draper. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3506.) 68. A Hat. Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3507.) 69. A Clog. Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3508.) 70. A Clog. Tradesman's cut. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3509.) 71. A Series of Three Cyphers.

(3511.) 73. King's Head. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3512.) 74. A Bell. In a square border. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3513.) 75. A Bush. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3514.) 76. A House. Of a similar kind to No. (2544.). On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3515.) 77. Green Dragon. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3517.) 79. Saracen's Head. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3518.) 80. A Stag. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3519.) 81. A W heatsheaf. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3520.) 82. "Yool's Arms." On white India paper.
From the original Block in my possession.

(3521.) 83. Star and Garter. On white India paper.
From the original Block in my possession.

(3522.) 84. St. George and the Dragon. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession. I give an impression.

(3523.) 85. St. George and the Dragon. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3524.) 86. A Thistle. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3525.) 87. Plume, etc., of the Prince of Wales. "Ich Dien." Proof on paper.

(3526.) 88. 1. "Aelfredus . Magnus . Rex . Angl." Portrait of King Alfred, surrounded by a charter, banner, arms, etc. Proof on paper.

(3527.) 88. 2. Another impression. Proof on paper.

(3528.) 88. 3. Another. Proof on paper.

(3529.) 88. 4. Another. On yellow China paper.

(3530.) 88. 5. Another. On yellow China paper.

(3531.) 89. Three Groups. Horse and Groom.

On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

(3532.) 90. Horse and Jockey.

Etched on silver by Thomas Bewick.

(3533.) 91. A Series of Seven Cuts of Fighting Cocks. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession. An impression from one of them is annexed.

“Like Roger Ascham, Bewick ‘dearly loved a main of cocks.’”
Mr. W. A. Chatto.

(3534.) 92. 1. The Mounted Dragoon.

“It was engraved by Thomas Bewick about the year 1804, and headed a song, which was written and sung by one of the officers of the South Tyne Legion.” MS. note.

(3535.) 92. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3536.) 93. Three cuts, to illustrate directions for carving. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession.

(3537.) 94. “Man in the Stocks. 52.”

One of the same series as No. (3413.), etc.

(3538.) 95. An Execution. Used for last dying speeches, etc. Proof on paper.

Not one of those mentioned among the “Broad-sides.”

(3539.) 96. The Hangman, the Pope, and the Devil.

A very indifferent production, apparently earlier than the time of Bewick.

“This cut was executed in the shop when Bewick commenced serving his time, and he never denied engraving it when charged with having done so.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3540.) 97. The Devil leading towards a gibbet in the distance a man with a wallet on his back. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3541.) 98. 1. The Devil pursuing a man on horseback. Proof on paper.

(3542.) 98. 2. Another impression. On white India paper. From the original Block in my possession.

(3543.) 99. A volume containing the following miscellaneous cuts. On white India paper. From the original Blocks in my possession. A Series of Twenty-four Kings and Queens of England. Figures of full length, in octagonal borders.

(3544.) 100. A Series of Twenty-three London Cries. In square borders.

(3545.) 101. A Series of Twenty-eight London Cries. Without Borders.

(3546.) 102. A Series of Five Illustrated Alphabets. One hundred and thirteen cuts. (See also No. (1616).)

Many of these little cuts are by no means deficient in ability. The following are specimens.

(3547.) 103. Part of an Illustrated Alphabet. One cut.

(3548.) 104. A Series of Twelve Fable Cuts.

[See, for specimens of this and the following groups, the Division "Wood-Blocks."]

WAITING FOR DEATH.

(3573.) 1. "Waiting for Death: Bewick's Last Work, left unfinished, and intended to have been completed by a Series of Impressions from Separate Blocks printed over each other."

With a folio page of letterpress.

(3574.) 2. Another impression.

With a folio page of letterpress.

The history of this engraving is singularly interesting. It is of large size, nearly 12 inches by 9 inches, and its execution occupied Bewick during the last days of his life.

"Bewick, in his Memoir," says the editor of that volume, "in stating what he believes may be done by the printing of large woodcuts from two or more blocks, intimates his intention of making the attempt, to show that it is not a visionary theory. With this view he executed a large woodcut, the subject being an Old Horse 'Waiting for Death.' A first proof was taken a few days before his death. An impression at the same time was transferred to a second block, the exact size of the first, and was intended to have been engraved to heighten and improve the effect of the print; and a third was prepared to be used if necessary. A few impressions of the first of the series were printed in London in 1832, and were accompanied by a descriptive history of the Horse, written so far back as 1785. The print (in a finished state) was intended to have been dedicated to the 'Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,' and was also meant to serve as one of a set of cheap embellishments for the walls of cottages." Appendix to Bewick's Memoir, p. 329.

See the note to No. (1477).

"At the time of his death," says Mr. Atkinson, "he was engaged in a beautiful style of wood-cutting, on large blocks, which had for its object to effect a humane improvement in the condition of the Horse, an animal so essentially useful to us, yet, in many cases, so inconsiderately neglected and abused. It occurred to him that any cheap representation of this animal, in a state of evident suffering from want of care and ill-treatment, executed with sufficient force to strike the recollection, and awaken the better feelings of those to whom he is usually intrusted, would tend more than anything to ameliorate his condition. The model he followed in the execution of this plan was 'The Old Horse waiting for Death,' introduced in the 'Fables' as a vignette. He employed for it four blocks joined together, and backed with two transverse layers of mahogany, to prevent them from warping, forming a large block of about ten inches by eight. On this he designed, in his happiest style, a wretched old horse, in view of all the comforts of the farmyard, but without the power of attaining them: an old stone wall, quite a new subject, as he remarked, intervening. In this print he intended to adopt the use of at least two blocks. On the first, which was almost finished when he died, he cut the subject in a crude unfinished manner, omitting the effects of shade, so that the impression conveyed the idea of an unfinished engraving. An impression of this he intended, while damp, to apply to another block of similar dimensions, which was to be devoted to shade and dark effect alone. On the Saturday previous to his death, he took the first block to Walker's and had four impressions struck." Atkinson's Sketch of T. Bewick, pp. 9, 10.

"This cut," says Mr. Chatto, "with the head said to have been finished by another person, was published by Bewick's son, Mr. Robert Elliott Bewick, in 1832. It is the largest cut that Bewick ever engraved, but, having been left by him in an unfinished state, it would be impossible to say what he might have effected had he lived to work out his ideas, and unfair to judge of it as if it were a finished performance. It is, however, but just to remark that the miserable appearance of the poor, worn-out, neglected animal is represented with great feeling and truth,—excepting the head, which is disproportionately large and heavy,—and that the landscape displays Bewick's usual fidelity in copying nature." History of Wood-Engraving, p. 599.

Each of my impressions is accompanied, as stated above, by a folio page of letterpress. It was the composition of Bewick himself, and does honour at once to his head and heart.

“ WAITING FOR DEATH.

“In the morning of his days he was handsome, sleek as a raven, sprightly and spirited, and was then much caressed and happy. When he grew to perfection, in his performances, even on the turf, and afterwards in the chase, and in the field, he was equalled by few of his kind. At one time of his life he saved that of his master, whom he bore, in safety, across the rapid flood; but having, in climbing the opposite rocky shore, received a blemish, it was thought prudent to dispose of him: after which he fell into the hands of different masters, but from none of them did he ever eat the bread of idleness; and, as he grew in years, his cup of misery was still augmented with bitterness.

“It was once his hard lot to fall into the hands of Skinflint, a horse-keeper, an authorized wholesale and retail dealer in cruelty, who employed him alternately, but closely, as a hack, both in the chaise and for the saddle; for when the traces and trappings, used in the former, had peeled the skin from off his breast, shoulders, and sides, he was then, as his back was whole, thought fit for the latter; indeed, his exertions, in this service of unfeeling avarice and folly, were great beyond belief. He was always, late and early, made ready for action; he was never allowed to rest, even on the Sabbath day, because he could trot well, had a good bottom, and was the best hack in town; and, it being a day of pleasure and pastime, he was much sought after by beings, in appearance, something like gentlemen; in whose hands his sufferings were greater than his nature could bear. Has not the compassionate eye beheld him, whipped, spurred, and galloped beyond his strength, in order to accomplish double the length of the journey that he was engaged to perform; till, by the inward grief expressed in his countenance, he seemed to plead for mercy, one would have thought most powerfully, but, alas! in vain. In the whole load which he bore, (as was often the case,) not an ounce of humanity could be found; and, [his rider] being determined to have pennyworths for his money, the ribs of this silent slave, where not a hair had, for long, been suffered to grow, were still ripped up: he was pushed forward through a stony rivulet, then on hard road against the hill, and having lost a shoe, split his hoof, and being quite spent with hunger and fatigue, he fell, broke his nose and his knees, and was unable to proceed;—and becoming greased, spavined, ringboned, blind of an eye, and the skin, by repeated friction, being worn off all the large prominences of his body, he was judged to be only fit for the dogs:—however, one shilling and sixpence beyond the dog-horse price saved his life, and he became the property of a poor dealer and horse doctor.

“ It is amazing to think upon the vicissitudes of his life; he had often been burnished up, his teeth defaced by art, peppered under his tail; then became the property of a general, a gentleman, a farmer, a miller, a butcher, a higgler, and a maker of brooms. A hard winter coming on, a want of money, and a want of meat, obliged his poor owner to turn him out to shift for himself: his former fame and great value are now, to him, not worth a handful of oats. But his days and nights of misery are now drawing to an end. So that, after having faithfully dedicated the whole of his powers and his time to the service of unfeeling man, he is at last turned out, unsheltered and unprotected, to starve of hunger and of cold.”

DRAWINGS.

(3575.) 1. SCENE IN THE FERN ISLANDS.

A large water-colour drawing, admirably executed.

“Truly interesting and valuable, as taken by Thomas Bewick on the spot, when engaged in his early studies which produced the ‘History of British Birds.’” J. B.

See Bewick’s Memoir, pp. 87-91.

(3576.) 2. VIEW OF BAMBOROUGH CASTLE.

A large and very clever water-colour drawing. Bewick has written the date “July 13th” on the top. On the back is a faint pencil sketch of a landscape with figures. Obtained from Mr. W. Garret.

(3577.) 3. MUD COTTAGE IN THE FERN ISLANDS.

A large water-colour drawing. From the same. On the back is a pencil sketch of the interior of a boat, with two men rowing—evidently from nature. See Bewick’s Memoir, pp. 87-91.

(3578.) 4. SIDE OF A STONE QUARRY.

A very beautiful drawing in sepia.

“A precious morsel, intended as an illustration for Somerville’s Chase, but not used and never engraved.” “A perfect gem.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3579.) 5. A LIONESS.

A very clever sketch in pencil, taken, it is said, on the top of his hat, in a travelling menagerie. Bewick has written on it “Jan^y 24. 1795. Lioness. Newcastle upon Tyne.”

(3580.) 6. PACK HORSES.

A clever drawing in Indian ink.

“A design made by Thomas Bewick for John Straker, Esq., a prominent member of our Typographical Society, for a woodcut which was never engraved.” “The pedigree of ‘Pack Horses’ is very good. It only passed through one party between Bewick and myself.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3581.) 7. THE GREATER SPOTTED WOODPECKER.

Of the natural size and colours. Obtained from Mr. W. Garret, who had it from James P. Church, Esq., formerly House-Surgeon of the Newcastle Infirmary, to whom it was given by Mrs. Beilby, widow of Bewick’s partner.

“The Woodpecker is a perfect gem.” “Mr. Beilby took great credit to himself as the teacher and director of the genius of Thomas Bewick. He had a scrap-book, in which he placed, from time to time, some of the best specimens of Bewick’s abilities. His widow gave away many of these to friends, and others were lent to parties that never returned them.” Mr. W. Garret.

(3582.) 8. THE PARSON, THE DOG, AND THE BEGGAR.

A sketch, in Indian ink, for the vignette at pp. 69 and 175 in the edition of Gay’s Fables, 12mo, York, 1806; No. (215.) of this catalogue. It is repeated in the Select Fables of 1820, p. 248; No. (428.). The background in the drawing differs from that in the engraving, especially in the figure of the church tower, which in the former shows the well-known outline of St. Nicholas, Newcastle. Obtained from Mr. Robinson, of Newcastle.

(3583.) 9. THE CAPTURED SNAKE.

A clever sketch in pencil, afterwards slightly altered for the cut which appears on the title of ‘the Life and Adventures of David Dobbinson.’ No. (454.) of this Catalogue.

WOOD-BLOCKS.

A DIVISION of this Collection second to none, if indeed it be not first of all, is the incomparable assemblage of Wood-Blocks. These are upwards of twelve hundred in number, and include not only the Cuts of many of the best and most important books illustrated by Thomas and John Bewick, but also a multitude of others executed by the former for various purposes, and holding the foremost place among his most popular and valued productions. In their acquisition the older printing-offices of London and the Northern Counties have been ransacked of their contents; and from among the numbers which have doubtless perished through the combined influences of time, use, neglect, and accident, it is a matter of no little congratulation that so many have been rescued and preserved. The family of the artist still retains the Cuts of the 'Quadrupeds,' 'Birds,' and 'Æsop;' but those of a far greater number of works, and of equal celebrity, including Somerville's Chase, Goldsmith and Parnell's Poems, the Hive, the Hermit of Warkworth, the Poems of Burns, of Ferguson, and of Adams, and other productions of the Alnwick press, the Sportsman's Cabinet, British Field Sports, etc. etc., are here assembled in one matchless series. For the most part they are in admirable condition, and able to furnish impressions of a far more brilliant kind than those which are ordinarily found in the various publications in which they originally appeared.

Reference has frequently been made in the previous pages to the fact that the original Block also is in my possession, though, as the following list will show, such notice was in very many instances omitted for the sake of brevity.

The same remark may be made with regard to the localities from whence the contents of this and the other Divisions have been obtained. Some only of the more noted of the multitude of widely spread sources have been recorded. I have also been specially careful to omit the name of the former possessor in all cases where I imagine that its mention might be productive of pain.

About fifty cuts exclusive of the number above stated are by the pupils of Thomas Bewick. They can easily be distinguished by instructed eyes, for rarely, if ever, did the great Master handle his graver without leaving sufficient evidence of his presence for such to recognize and detect him. Copies of his cuts, and those in many cases of considerable ability, abound in multitudes of printing-offices, and are constantly exhibited as genuine specimens of his skill. It is, indeed, most interesting and wonderful to notice the influence of Bewick in the world of wood-engraving, and to mark how completely the guidance of this first of teachers has been followed by all subsequent students of his exquisite art.

I have done my best to present the reader, as well in the pages which precede as in those which follow, with impressions of characteristic specimens of the various groups. But as little, after all, can be effected by the offering of single examples, however beautiful, of many of the sections, I have it in contemplation to prepare and issue a volume of the Cuts alone, in which the impressions will be all the more brilliant from the exclusive attention devoted to them through the absence of letter-press, and by which this insurmountable deficiency in the present work will be abundantly supplied.

APPENDIX.

I HAVE reserved for a short Appendix a complete Collection of the various Portraits of Thomas Bewick, a most interesting series of autograph letters and other documents of him and his family, some curious and unique memorials of various kinds of himself, his family, and business connections, and the rarest and choicest of the works of his pupils. The former departments are invaluable as illustrations of his personal history, while the last exhibits his success in the creation of a school of wood-engravers, who, if not equal to their great master, are after him the best of which English art can boast.

 PORTRAITS OF THOMAS BEWICK.

(3848.) I. 1. "M^r. Tho^s. Bewick." On copper. Kidd after Miss Kirkley. Original impression, Jan^y. 4. 1798. Proof on paper.

Considered by many the best likeness ever produced. The plate is in my possession, and an impression forms the frontispiece to the large-paper copies of this volume.

(3879.) 13. 1. "Thomas Bewick." On steel. Meyer after Ramsay. On India paper. One of "only 25 copies printed before letters."

"The Rev. Thomas Hugo, with Edwin Pearson's respectful compliments."

(3880.) 13. 2. Another impression. On India paper. With the letters. From the same. Published by E. Pearson, 64, St. Martin's Lane, 1865.

Said by the family of the artist to be "a most excellent likeness, and a complete success."

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS, ETC., OF THOMAS BEWICK, AND HIS FAMILY.

(3881.) 1. Letter of Thomas Bewick to Mr. Scott, engraver, Clerkenwell, dated Newcastle, 8 Aug^t 1804.

Apologizes for delay in sending some cuts, on account of his being "bewildered with the sale of his Books, & the consequent correspondence with friends;" and wishes to treat with him for the copyright of his "Birds."

(3882.) 2. Letter of Thomas Bewick to Messrs. Vernor, Hood and Sharpe, dated Newcastle, 1 June, 1807, concerning the price of his "Quadrupeds" and "Birds."

(3883.) 3. 1. Letter of Thomas Bewick to a London firm, dated Newcastle, 22 July, 1811, relative to the delivery of some subscribed-for copies of the "Quadrupeds." 1 page 4to. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

This is the original of the lithographed facsimile, published in 1851.

(3884.) 3. 2. The lithographed facsimile. Large paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(3885.) 3. 3. Another impression. On yellow satin. From the same.

(3886.) 4. Letter of Thomas Bewick to Mr. Scott, dated Newcastle, 29 Dec^r 1814.

Inquires whether he will take a young man, named Robt. Acon, or Aikin, cartwright, of Collill, Northumberland, whose drawings have attracted the notice of some gentlemen in his neighbourhood, to learn engraving, and, if so, upon what terms, etc.

(3887.) 5. Letter of Thomas Bewick to a gentleman at Durham, written in July, 1816, requesting payment of an account.

(3888.) 6. Letter in the handwriting of Miss Bewick, but signed by Thomas Bewick, to R. E. Croker, Esq^{re} dated Newcastle Tyne, June 26, 1822.

Acknowledges the receipt of £5 for engraving his arms, and his gratification that the work had met with his approbation. Promises to apprise him of the completion of his work on Fishes. "I have already made some progress in the business, particularly with the vignettes."

For an impression of the cut to which this letter refers see No. (1993.).

(3889.) 7. Letter of Thomas Bewick to Mr. Charnley, dated Gateshead, 22 May, 1826. Obtained from Mr. W. Garret.

Begins with an account of his ill-health, and intended visit to Buxton. Laments the inconvenient expense which this will bring upon him, and solicits payment of his Christmas account. Concludes with an attack on Mr. Charnley, whom he had fondly considered as his friend, for the copying of one of his cuts to embellish Mr. Roxby's pretty little Fisher's Garland [see Nos. (376.), (3812.)]. States the law of copyright, and the punishment for its violation. "I trust you will see this in its proper light, & in future not attempt to act so improperly." Supposes that Mr. Nicholson was the artist employed in this unfriendly business. "If so, I shall be obliged to convince him of the impropriety of his conduct. He knows perfectly well how easy it is to make a facsimile of any design on wood, & that an impression from any woodcut can, line by line, be transferred to a plain block, so that there is no difficulty in cutting the lines so distinctly thus burnished on," etc.

A multitude of publications during the last forty years furnish positive proof that Bewick and his family have had abundant reason to complain of the practices here condemned.

(3890.) 8. Letter of Thomas Bewick to some bookseller, dated Gateshead, 4 Aug.^t 1826.

Delays answering a question relative to the price of the "Birds" until he has heard from Messrs. Longman and Co. "As in all probability the present edition will meet with an increased sale, from its containing nearly a hundred cuts new to the work, and its having been a considerable time out of print, I flatter myself you may be induced to accede to the terms I shall offer you." Obtained from Mr. W. Garret.

(3891.) 9. Conclusion of a letter, with signature, in the handwriting of Thomas Bewick. From Mr. W. Garret.

[See also Nos. (3938.), art. 32, and (3990.).]

(3892.) 10. Autograph signature of Thomas Bewick. Given me by Miss Bewick.

(3968.) 26. Portrait of Dr. John Trusler, Author of Hogarth Moralized, &c. Published by Rodd. On white India paper.

BEWICK.

ROBERT JOHNSON.

(3969.) 1. View of St. Nicholas' Church, Newcastle.

A copperplate, measuring $4\frac{1}{8}$ inches by $3\frac{2}{8}$ inches, for an annual memorandum Book, published in Newcastle by Jos. Whitfield, bookseller, of Newcastle.

(3970.) 2. "The Asses in Danger." Caricature of Whitfield.

(3971.) 3. "A Real Friend to His Country Begg." Another caricature of Whitfield.

(3972.) 4. "The Overthrow, or The Crisis is Awful and Momentous." Another caricature of Whitfield.

(3973.) 5. MS. Copy of some verses on an Extraordinary Phenomenon—

"Perceivable at a distance, Exceeding large, of tough consistence," etc.

(3974.) 6. MS. copy of his Epitaph in Ovingham Churchyard.

CHARLTON NESBIT.

(3975.) 1. 1. View of St. Nicholas' Church, Newcastle, from a drawing by Robert Johnson. "R. Johnson Del." "C. Nesbit Scul."

An exquisite impression. Obtained from Mr. W. J. Bell, who has annexed the following note:—

"The accompanying woodcut by Charlton Nesbit was bought of Mr. Nicholson, the engraver, of Newcastle on Tyne, who had a few copies from Nesbit's widow, which were first impressions that had belonged to Nesbit's self. W. J. Bell."

(3976.) 1. 2. Another impression.

(3977.) 1. 3. Another. On vellum.

"One of the largest cuts ever engraved in England. For it, which was first published about 1799, Mr. Nesbit received a medal from the Society for the Encouragement of Arts and Manufactures." Jackson and Chatto, Hist. Wood Engraving, pp. 612, 613.

(3978.) 2. 1. Cut to the Memory of Robert Johnson. A moonlight scene in a churchyard, with female figure and monument, on which is inscribed "In Memory of R Johnson 1796." Proof on paper. From Mr. John Bell.

(3979.) 2. 2. Another impression. On yellow China paper. From Mr. W. Garret.

(3980.) 3. Proof Illustrations to Northcote's Fables; and of the Ornamental Letters and Vignettes, By William Harvey.

London: Geo: Lawford, Saville Passage. Printed by J. Johnson. 1828.

Royal 8vo. Printed entirely on India paper. It contains admirable specimens of the work of Nesbit, Jackson, Branston, White, and others.

(3981.) 4. Religious Emblems, being a Series of Engravings on Wood, Executed by the First Artists in that Line, from Designs drawn on the Blocks themselves by J. Thurston, Esq. [etc.]

London: Printed by T. Bensley, Bolt Court, Fleet Street; And sold by R. Ackermann, Repository of Arts, N^o 101, Strand. 1809.

4to. With twenty-one engravings of great beauty by Nesbit, Clennell, Hole, and Branston.

(3982.) 5. Ten very beautiful proofs, on white India paper, from the engravings for Somerville's "Hobbinol," "Bowling Green," and "Field Sports." Bulmer, 1813.

(3983.) 6. Practical Hints on Decorative Printing. [etc.] By William Savage.

London: Published for the Proprietor, [etc.] 1822.

4to. It contains some very fine specimens of Nesbit, Branston, and others.

(3984.) 7. Caricature of Stephen Kemble. "Oh, that this too—too solid flesh would melt." Hamlet.

[See also among the Portraits of Thomas Bewick an excellent one by Nesbit. Nos.(3863.)-(3867.).]

LUKE CLENNELL.

(3985.) 1. The Diploma of the Highland Society of London. "B. West, Esq. P. R. A. Pinx^t L. Clennell, Sculp^t." "T. Bensley, Bolt Court, Fleet Street, London, Printer." On white India paper.

A splendid impression of this, the largest of Clennell's wood-engravings. Exceedingly rare. The block and nearly all the impressions were burnt in the fire of Bensley's printing-office. The artist received a gold medal from the Society of Arts for his very beautiful work. See the History of Wood Engraving, pp. 617, 618.

(3986.) 2. 1. The Shipwreck, A Poem, by William Falconer: [etc.]

London: Printed for Cadell and Davies; [etc.]
1808.

8vo. Pp. xiv, 135. With some exquisite specimens of Clennell's powers.

"An admirable specimen of Clennell's engraving is to be found in an octavo edition of Falconer's Shipwreck, printed for Cadell and Davies, 1808. It occurs as a vignette to the second canto at page 43, and the subject is a ship running before the wind in a gale. The motion of the waves, and the gloomy appearance of the sky, are represented with admirable truth and feeling. The dark shadow on the waters to the right gives wonderful effect to the white crest of the wave in front; and the whole appearance of the cut is indicative of a gloomy and tempestuous day, and of an increasing storm. Perhaps no engraving of the same kind, either on copper or wood, conveys the idea of a storm at sea with greater fidelity. The drawing was made on the block by Thurston; but the spirit and effect,—the lights and shadows, the apparent seething of the waves, and the troubled appearance of the sky,—were introduced by Clennell." W. A. Chatto, in Jackson's History of Wood Engraving, pp. 616, 617.

(3987.) 2. 2. Another copy.

(3988.) 2. 3. Another copy.

(3989.) 3. The Life Boat off Tynemouth. Proof on white India paper. From the Hive. No. (209.).

(3990.) 4. "Proposals For publishing by subscription a Print Representing the Decisive Charge of the Life Guards at Waterloo. To be engraved by W. Bromley, From a Picture by Luke Clennell, Which was rewarded by the British Institution, in 1816." "Newcastle: Printed by Edward Walker."

Three pages, 4to, the third of which contains a recommendatory letter by Thomas Bewick, dated Newcastle, January 15, 1819.

(3991.) 5. Pen and ink view of a church, with “Luke. Macford. Entombed.” and LC in a monogram, in Clennell’s handwriting. Mounted on a piece of coarse brown paper.

This formerly belonged to Mr. W. A. Chatto, who has written on the back the following explanation:—“Drawn by Clennell when insane, and mounted by himself on this paper. The church is an imaginary one. The Luke Mackford, whose entombment he commemorates, was his cousin. W. A. C.”

(3992.) 6. Two cuts and two poems, “A Floweret” and “Ballad,” by Clennell when insane. Printed on one page. Horribly curious.

(3993.) 7. Copy of another of his poems when insane. From Mr. R. Robinson.

(3994.) 8. The Gleaners. A large water-colour drawing, signed with his monogram. “The Drawing was poor Clennell’s last effort.” Obtained from Mr. Robinson, of Newcastle.

[See also “Religious Emblems,” described above, for some most beautiful examples by him.]

JOHN JACKSON.

(3995.) 1. A Treatise on Wood Engraving, Historical and Practical. With upwards of Three Hundred Illustrations, Engraved on Wood, By John Jackson.

London: Charles Knight and Co. Ludgate Street.
1839.

Imp. 8vo. Pp. xvi, 749. The historical portion of the work was by Mr. W. A. Chatto.

HENRY F. P. W. HOLE.

(3996.) 1. Book-plate, “C. L.” A pyramid with trees, etc. Done by H. Hole, in 1798.

(3997.) 2. Six Views in the Neighbourhood of Liverpool, including those of Wavertree Well and Lydiat Abbey, in Gregson's Portfolio of Fragments relative to the Duchy of Lancaster; fol. Liverpool, 1817.

[See also "Religious Emblems." No. (3981.).]

ISAAC NICHOLSON.

(3998.) 1. Bothal Castle, Willymoteswick, The Bolt House, and Fossil Fern. Proofs on paper. From Hodgson's Northumberland.

(3999.) 2. View of Newgate, Newcastle. On white India paper.

(4000.) 3. Landscape vignette. On white India paper.

(4001.) 4. Fishing scene. On white India paper.

(4004.) 7. 1. The Lunatic Asylum, Newcastle. On white India paper.

(4005.) 7. 2. Another impression. On vellum.

(4006.) 8. 1. Card of Robert Spencer, Turner & Carver, Groat Market, Newcastle. Copperplate.

(4007.) 8. 2. Another impression.

(4008.) 9. Wild Bull. On yellow China paper.

(4009.) 10. 1. Prowling Lion. A similar proof.

(4010.) 10. 2. Another impression.

(4011.) 11. Tiger. A similar proof.

(4012.) 12. 1. Zebra. A similar proof.

(4013.) 12. 2. Another impression.

(4014.) 13. Horseman in a storm of rain. “The Cadger’s Trot.” A similar proof.

(4015.) 14. Stags Feeding. A similar proof.

(4017.) 16. The Hunter. A similar proof.

(4019.) 18. Horses Racing. A similar proof.

(4020.) 19. Fallow Deer. A similar proof.

These little cuts are wonderfully clever. The figures of the animals are copied from those of Bewick; but they are admirably executed, and the accompanying backgrounds are beyond all praise.

WILLIAM HARVEY.

(4021.) 1. Large cut of the Death of Dentatus.

(4022.) 2. 1. A fragment of the same cut. On white India paper. From Mr. J. G. Bell.

(4023.) 2. 2. Another impression. On yellow satin. From the same.

(4024.) 3. Autograph letter of Mr. Harvey, with autograph memoranda of his works. 1851.

EBENEZER SPENCER.

The last Apprentice of Isaac Nicholson.

(4025.) Twelve cuts—Gar Fish, Spotted Blenny, Golden Carp, John Dory, Pilchard, Salmon, Haddock, Common Weever, Carp, Oyster, Humble Bee, and Hornet. Proofs on yellow China paper.

“Very good for so young a lad.” Mr. Garret.

TO THE BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS, AND THEIR ILLUSTRATIONS.

[The long series of Books and Pamphlets being arranged in Chronological Order, an Index is absolutely necessary to facilitate reference. As, however, the contents of most of the other Divisions, including the Book-Plates, Cuts for Societies, Companies and Exhibitions, and Trade and Commercial Cuts of various descriptions—a complete List of which, together with their places in the Volume, will be found in the Table of Contents—are placed Alphabetically, an Index to these, which would necessarily be very voluminous, is less essential.]
